The Reincarnationist Papers D. Eric Maikranz, 2021-05-04 For fans of The Matrix and Memento a twisty exciting adventure Diana Gabaldon 1 New York Times bestselling author of the Outlander series The basis for the major motion picture Infinite discovered as three notebooks in an antique store in Rome at the turn of the millennium The Reincarnationist Papers offers a tantalizing glimpse into the Cognomina a secret society of people who possess total recall of their past lives Evan Michaels struggles with being different with having the complete memories of two other people who lived sequentially before him He fights loneliness and believes he is unique until he meets Poppy She recognizes his struggle because she is like him except that she is much older remembering seven consecutive lives But there is something else she must share with Evan she is a member of the secretive Cognomina They are in effect immortals compiling experiences and skills over lifetimes into near superhuman abilities that they have used to drive history over centuries Poppy invites Evan into the Cognomina but he must face their tests before entering this mysterious society as their equal The Guns of Normandy George Blackburn, 2012-03-26 In the weeks after D Day the level of artillery action in Normandy was unprecedented In what was a relatively small area both sides bombarded each other relentlessly for three months each trying to overwhelm the other by sheer fire power The Guns of Normandy puts the reader in the front lines of this horrific battle In the most graphic and authentic detail it brings to life every aspect of a soldier's existence from the mortal terror of impending destruction to the unending fatigue to the giddy exhilaration at finding oneself still inexplicably alive The story of this crucial battle opens in England as the 4th Field Regiment receives news that something big is happening in France and that after long years of training they are finally going into action The troop ships set out from besieged London and arrive at the D Day beaches in the appalling aftermath of the landing What follows is the most harrowing and realistic account of what it is like to be in action as the very lead man in the attack an artillery observer calling in fire on enemy positions The story unfolds in the present tense giving the uncomfortably real sense that You are here The conditions under which the troops had to exist were horrific There was near constant terror of being hit by incoming shells prolonged lack of sleep boredom weakness from dysentery sudden and gruesome deaths of close friends and severe physical privation and mental anguish And in the face of all this men were called upon to perform heroic acts of bravery and they did Blackburn provides genuine insight to the nature of military service for the average Canadian soldier in the Second World War something that is all too often lacking in the accounts of armchair historians and television journalists The result is a classic account of war at the sharp end From the automatic weapon design the world's recorded progress in this field of endeavor Vol II p v Guns of the Elite Forces John Walter, 2005-02-01 Guns of the Elite Forces provides a penetrating account of the weapons that elite fighting troops carry into combat. Such elites have always existed in the armies of the world. A History of the Small Arms Made by the Sterling Armament Company Peter Laidler, James Edmiston, David Howroyd, 2020-07-30 An in depth history of the small arms made by the Sterling Company of Dagenham Essex England from 1940 until the company closed in 1989. The Lanchester and the Patchett Machine Carbines were both developed at Sterling Engineering Co Ltd during World War II. With the appearance of the earliest Patchett prototypes the military began testing them in ever more rigorous trials wherein the Patchett kept proving its merits. This led to limited UK adoption of the MkII Patchett as the L2A1 in 1953 and the first Sterling the MkII as the L2A2 in 1955. Then came Sterling's Crown Jewel the superb Mk4 adopted as the general issue UK Gun Sub Machine L2A3 in September 1955. Manufactured briefly but intensively by ROF Fazakerley 1955-1959 and by Sterling for over 30 years nearly 4 000 000 were made. Unlike wraparound bolt designs like the UZI the Sterling was capable of being truly silenced with standard 9mm ball ammunition as opposed to being merely suppressed. The excellent silenced Sterling Patchett Mk5 adopted as the UK L34A1 in 1967 is the only Sterling remaining in British Service. All prototypes military Marks commercial and licensed production models of the Sterling are described including the Canadian C1 SMG and the Indian 1A Carbine. Contains notes on manufacturing methods and procedures as used at Sterling ROF Fazakerley Canadian Arsenal's Limited and the Indian Small Arms Factory Kanpur Cawnpore plus extensive notes on inter model interchangeability serial number ranges quantities produced client country purchases of the various Sterling Marks and accessories. Praise for A History of the Small Arms made by the Sterling Armament Company. If you have an interest in small arms then this is a book that belongs in your library or book shelf. The book does a great job of providing the reader with the story of the weapons that evolved into the Sterling sub machine gun and the changes in design that took place over that history. The result was a weapon that served in many fields of conflict and performed admirably.

An Edgy Realism Jerome Schaefer,2015-09-04 Similar to the way in which the new waves of the 1960s and 1970s had been characterized by new forms of cinematic realism cinema since the turn of the millennium has pointed into the direction of a new edgy realism Art film movements such as Dogma 95 and the New French Extremity as well as shaky cam horror films like The Blair Witch Project and Paranormal Activity provide evidence of the fact that the proliferation of the digital since the 1990s has profoundly changed not only contemporary media culture and the social role of film as seen for example in the case of amateur film and the phenomenon of mobile reporting and its distribution via YouTube and the like but also notions of realism and authenticity As modern film theory has struggled to keep pace with the developments of contemporary cinema this book draws on actor network theory and its material semiotic mindset to allow a thorough understanding of the innovative character of cinema at the turn of the millennium It is argued that the ongoing digitization has finally allowed cinema to return to a material semiotic mode of perception one side of this being the spectacle of the blockbuster while the other side might best be described as an edgy realism the realism of material semiotic relationality
