Research Methods for Education in the Digital Age Maggi Savin-Baden, Gemma Tombs, 2017-01-12. What is research in education? And what is it for in a digital age? Reflecting upon these questions, this engaging introduction provides critical discussion about the dilemmas of researching education in the digital age and ways forward for research in this complex area. Research Methods for Education in the Digital Age begins by outlining forms of education that are seen as digital such as virtual, blended, immersive learning and examining the extent to which these are different or just adapted versions of earlier methods and approaches to education. Maggi Savin-Baden and Gemma Tombs explore current practices in research, identifying the successful adoption and adaptation of theories and present practical guidance on new and emerging methodologies, methods and analytical practices for undertaking educational research. New methodologies discussed include digital arts-based inquiry and digital visual methodologies as well as adaptations of widely used methodologies such as ethnography for the specific needs of researching digital teaching and learning. The book outlines the major challenges faced by today's digital researchers, exploring approaches to digital ethics, the relationship between qualitative and quantitative data in the digital age, digital data representations and portrayal and suggests helpful ways of dealing with the complexities and ethical challenges of undertaking research in and for digital spaces. Using case studies, research tips, a glossary and annotated further reading, the authors take a step-by-step approach from conceptualizing the research ideas, selecting the
