Sensor Management for Target Tracking Applications Per Boström-Rost, 2021-04-12 Many practical applications such as search and rescue operations and environmental monitoring involve the use of mobile sensor platforms The workload of the sensor operators is becoming overwhelming as both the number of sensors and their complexity are increasing This thesis addresses the problem of automating sensor systems to support the operators This is often referred to as sensor management By planning trajectories for the sensor platforms and exploiting sensor characteristics the accuracy of the resulting state estimates can be improved The considered sensor management problems are formulated in the framework of stochastic optimal control where prior knowledge sensor models and environment models can be incorporated The core challenge lies in making decisions based on the predicted utility of future measurements In the special case of linear Gaussian measurement and motion models the estimation performance is independent of the actual measurements This reduces the problem of computing sensing trajectories to a deterministic optimal control problem for which standard numerical optimization techniques can be applied A theorem is formulated that makes it possible to reformulate a class of nonconvex optimization problems with matrix valued variables as convex optimization problems This theorem is then used to prove that globally optimal sensing trajectories can be computed using off the shelf optimization tools As in many other fields nonlinearities make sensor management problems more complicated Two approaches are derived to handle the randomness inherent in the nonlinear problem of tracking a maneuvering target using a mobile range bearing sensor with limited field of view The first approach uses deterministic sampling to predict several candidates of future target trajectories that are taken into account when planning the sensing trajectory This significantly increases the tracking performance compared to a conventional approach that neglects the uncertainty in the future target trajectory The second approach is a method to find the optimal range between the sensor and the target Given the size of the sensor's field of view and an assumption of the maximum acceleration of the target the optimal range is determined as the one that minimizes the tracking error while satisfying a user defined constraint on the probability of losing track of the target While optimization for tracking of a single target may be difficult planning for jointly maintaining track of discovered targets and searching for yet undetected targets is even more challenging. Conventional approaches are typically based on a traditional tracking method with separate handling of undetected targets. Here it is shown that the Poisson multi-Bernoulli mixture PMBM filter provides a theoretical foundation for a unified search and track method as it not only provides state estimates of discovered targets but also maintains an explicit representation of where undetected targets may be located. Furthermore, in an effort to decrease the computational complexity, a version of the PMBM filter which uses a grid-based intensity to represent undetected targets is derived.

The Paradox of Self-consciousness José Luis Bermúdez, 2000. In this book José Luis Bermúdez addresses two fundamental problems in the philosophy and psychology of self-consciousness: 1. Can we provide a noncircular account of fully fledged self-conscious thought and language in terms of more fundamental capacities? 2. Can we explain how fully fledged self-conscious thought and language can arise in the normal course of human development? Bermúdez argues that a paradox, the paradox of self-consciousness, arises from the apparent strict interdependence between self-conscious thought and linguistic self-reference. The paradox renders circular all theories that define self-consciousness in terms of linguistic mastery of the first person pronoun. It seems to follow from the paradox of self-consciousness that no such account or explanation can be given. Drawing on recent work in empirical psychology and philosophy, the author argues that any explanation of fully fledged self-consciousness that answers these two questions requires attention to primitive forms of self-consciousness that are prelinguistic and preconceptual. Such primitive forms of self-consciousness are to be found in somatic proprioception, the structure of exteroceptive perception, and prelinguistic forms of social interaction. The author uses these primitive forms of self-consciousness to dissolve the paradox of self-consciousness and to show how the two questions can be given an affirmative answer.

The Unsung Song Scott Alisauskas, 2020-12-22. It's a good thing you found this book when you did. As it is written for you, the person who loves music and lyrics and putting the two together to create beautiful works of art. The book you are holding in your hands right now is one of the most dynamic expressions of the modern-day poet, otherwise known as a lyricist. Herein lies not just words but words that captivate your senses, catapult your imagination, and palpitate sensations you never knew you had. These lyrical twists and turns tell stories that make you laugh, pull at your heartstrings, push your imagination to the brim of existence, and take you on a journey to the center of your mind. Listen as a whirlwind of characters come to life before your ears and eyes. It's just another hungry day in our hometown of thieves begging the blind for some sweet sunshine. All is lost if nothing's found. She was a butterfly by day and a firefly by night. Take me to your island before all my passion drowns. I've been waiting for your lonely tides to capture seasons out of time. Fold your gentle majesty into lone soliloquies. There are also eighty songs inspired by Jim Morrison and fifty songs worth of lyrics inspired by Emily Dickinson, and a tribute to others section. Let these musical lyrical rhymes be your guiding light on your way toward shining your own light.

Temporal Experience Giuliano Torrenco,2024-09-19 Many physical theories suggest that time does not pass yet temporality deeply permeates our experience We perceive change and movement we are aware of living in the present of the constant flux of our sensations and thoughts and of time itself flowing In Temporal Experience Torrenco considers the core facts of temporal experience and their interconnections ultimately defending the atomist dynamic model of temporal experience The book critically examines prevalent theories of experience of change succession and passage of time both in philosophy and psychology Each chapter contributes to the construction of the atomist dynamic model Experience of change and movement are explained through mental events that present virtually instantaneous movement and change Torrenco challenges the common belief in the perception of presentness and proposes an error theory based on narrative cognition The experience of succession is elucidated through the concept of an overarching phenomenology arguing against the tendency to overstate the phenomenal continuity of experience Finally the experience of the passage of time is approached through the non representationalist theory of the phenomenal modifier and the book concludes by discussing the surprising consequences of applying the experiential model defended to the scientific image of our existence in time as a sequence of physical events
