Geballe,Heino Falcke,2008-09-26 Our knowledge of the environment of the nucleus of our galaxy has been greatly enhanced by more extensive and sensitive observations at radio and infrared wavelengths the advent of high resolution x ray imaging and spectroscopy and considerable theoretical activity to understand the nucleus and its components and their activity The Galactic Center Workshop 2002 was organized to review recent research on the galactic center including the latest state of the art observations and important theoretical developments The workshop covered phenomena on scales ranging from the central several hundred parsecs to the central parsec and within Each topic was approached from both multi wavelength observational and theoretical perspectives New Perspectives on Stellar Pulsation and Pulsating Variable Stars James M. Nemec,Jaymie M. Matthews,1993-10-21 How can the interior of the Sun white dwarfs and other stars be studied by stellar seismology What can Doppler imaging tell us about high degree pulsations What impact are CCD and infrared observations having on extending the Cepheid and RR Lyrae distance scale And how are other classes of pulsators providing independent checks of the distance scale These and many other critical questions are answered in this timely review of the dramatic advances made in pulsating star research in the last decade This survey collects together more than thirty comprehensive reviews and over one hundred summaries of research papers from the 139th IAU Colloquium held in Victoria British Columbia Together these cover all aspects of recent developments in the field of variable star research and preview some of the exciting advances anticipated for the next decade This volume provides an essential review for graduate students and researchers Directory of Published Proceedings ,1968
