Manchester Memories:

Manchester Memories Edith Jones Hillstrom, 1971 Manchester Mary Hard Bort, 2005 Memories of Dress Alison Slater, Susan Atkin, Elizabeth Kealy-Morris, 2023-04-06 Memories of clothing feature prominently in auto biographies yet traditionally they have not been subjected to the same level of academic scrutiny as other sources Memories of Dress redresses this imbalance by bringing auto biographical memories to the centre of a new methodology for understanding fashion history material culture and other disciplines Presenting a comprehensive overview of theoretical and practice based approaches the book invites readers to explore the relations between clothing and memory through diverse examples ranging from oral histories of Manchester men and Hungarian socialist sewing to a quilt making autoethnography into the complexities of American racial heritage and imagined memories within museum collections Chapters by leading and emerging experts consider the ways in which dress is remembered and the ways that memories and nostalgia in turn influence everyday dress practices unpicking the meanings and motivations both collective and public personal and private behind the clothes we wear in different times places and life stages and the impact of class gender ethnicity and disability on material identities Uniquely weaving personal recollection with theory this multidisciplinary book offers new ways of understanding clothing material culture and memory Manchester Memories, Manchester, N.H. Frank Oakman Spinney, 1949 Memories of Post-Imperial Nations Dietmar Rothermund, 2015-05-14 Memories of Post Imperial Nations presents the first transnational comparison of Great Britain the Netherlands Belgium France Portugal Italy and Japan all of whom lost or decolonized their overseas empires after 1945 Since the empires of the world crumbled the post imperial nations have been struggling to come to terms with the present and as recall sets in wars of memory have arisen leading to a process of collective editing As these nations rebuild themselves they shed old characteristics and acquire new ones looking at new orientations This book brings together varying perspectives with historians and political scientists of these nations attempting to bind memory and its experience of different post imperial nations British Sport: Local histories Richard William Cox, 2003 Volume three of a bibliography documenting all that has been written in the English language on the history of sport and physical education in Britain It lists all secondary source material including reference works in a classified order to meet the needs of the sports historian Urban Memory Mark Crinson, 2005 Nine previously unpublished essays form an interdisciplinary assessment of urban memory in the modern city analysing this burgeoning area of interest from the perspectives of sociology architectural and art history psychoanalysis culture and critical theory Featuring a wealth of illustrations images maps and specially commissioned artwork this work applies a critical and creative approach to existing theories of urban memory and examines how these ideas are actualised in the forms of the built environment in the modernist and post industrial city A particular area of focus is post industrial Manchester but the book also includes studies of current day Singapore New York after 9 11 modern museums in industrial gallery spaces the writings of Paul Auster and

W G Sebald memorials built in concrete and contemporary art Changing Face of Manchester Manchester Evening News Staff,2003 The Manchester Evening News has teamed up with the city s Central Library to produce this volume which contains a selection of photographs chronicling the ever changing face of life in and around Manchester Manchester Memories True North Holdings,2002-07-01 Memories for the Million, or, how to teach students to remember by a new invention of word-power, anything ... which they wish to bear in mind, etc William HILL (Lecturer.),1875

Transactions ... Lancashire and Cheshire Antiquarian Society,1895 Memories and Silences Haunted by Fascism Daniela Baratieri,2010 Fascist and colonial legacies have been determinant in shaping how Italian colonialism has been narrated in Italy till the late 1960s This book deals with the complex problem of public memory and discursive amnesia The detailed research that underpins this book makes it no longer possible to claim that after 1945 there was an absolute and traumatic silence concerning Italy s colonial occupation of North and East Africa However the abiding public use of this history confirms the existence of an extremely selective and codified memory of that past The author shows that colonial discourse persisted in historiography newspapers newsreels and film Popular culture appears intertwined with political and economic interests and the power inscribed in elite and scientific knowledge While readdressing the often mistaken historical time line that ignores that actual Italian colonial ties did not end with the fall of Fascism but in 1960 with Somalia becoming independent this book suggests that a new post Fascist Italian identity was the crucial issue in reappraisals of a national colonial past Directory of Museums, Galleries and Buildings of Historic Interest in the UK Keith W. Reynard,2004-03-01 This unique and important directory incorporates some 3 200 entries It covers all types and sizes of museums galleries of paintings sculpture and photography and buildings and sites of particular historic interest It also provides an extensive index listing over 3 200 subjects The directory covers national collections and major buildings but also the more unusual less well known and local exhibits and sites The Directory of Museums Galleries and Buildings of Historic Interest in the United Kingdom is an indispensable reference source for any library an ideal companion for researcher and enthusiast alike and an essential purchase for anyone with an interest in the cultural and historical collections of the UK Features include Alphabetically listed entries which are also indexed by subject for ease of reference Entries include the name and address of the organization telephone and fax numbers email and internet addresses a point of contact times of opening and facilities for visitors A breakdown of the collections held by each organization giving a broad overview of the main collection as a whole Details of special collections are provided and include the period covered as well as the number of items held The Cambridge Urban History of Britain Peter Clark,David Michael Palliser,Martin J. Daunton,2000 The process of urbanisation and suburbanisation in Britain from the Victorian period to the twentieth century After the Shock City Tom Hulme,2019 A comparative and trans national study of urban culture in Britain and the United States from the late nineteenth to the twentieth century Using the industrial cities of Manchester and Chicago as case studies this book traces the idea of citizenship across different areas of local life in the first half of the twentieth century from philosophy and festivals to historical re enactment and public housing Coalitions of voluntary associations municipal government and local elites lambasted modern urban culture as the cause of social disintegration But rather than simply decanting the population to new and smaller settlements they tried to re imagine a reformed city as a place that could foster loyal and healthy communities Celebrating civic progress in the period since the shock city of the nineteenth century they sought to create a sense of local pride that could bracket growing class and racial tensions The diverse individuals groups and communities of the city reacted in different ways to this message Some were happy to gather under the identity of one civic banner Others held back by discriminatory structures of society chose to shape their own idea of citizenship one that looked far beyond the city for a sense of belonging and rights Historians have tended to emphasise the rise of national identity state centralisation and popular patriotism at the expense of distinctive local identities municipal autonomy and expressions of civic pride This book aims to redress the imbalance demonstrating how local ideas of belonging could still exert a powerful hold on the making of modern citizenship TOM HULME is a lecturer in the School of History Anthropology Philosophy and Politics Queen's University Belfast

Memory, Place and Aboriginal-Settler History Skye Krichauff, 2017-09-27 Taking the absence of Aboriginal people in South Australian settler descendants historical consciousness as a starting point Memory Place and Aboriginal Settler History combines the methodologies and theories of historical enquiry anthropology and memory studies to investigate the multitudinous and intertwined ways the colonial past is known represented and made sense of by current generations Informed by interviews and fieldwork conducted with settler and Aboriginal descendants oral histories site visits and personal experience Skye Krichauff closely examines the diverse but interconnected processes through which the past is understood and narrated Memory Place and Aboriginal Settler History demonstrates how it is possible to unsettle settler descendants consciousness of the colonial past in ways that enable a tentative connection with Aboriginal people and their experiences

Return to the Far Side of Planet Moore! Martin Mobberley, 2015-03-20 The result of an exhaustive study of Sir Patrick Moore's observations of the Moon and planets for more than 60 years this book is a fantastic companion to the extremely popular It Came From Outer Space Wearing an RAF Blazer written by the same author Moore recorded his telescopic observations in his logbooks which are reproduced and described here in detail along with his sketches and notes In this light the author discusses the factors that caused Moore to switch from lunar observing to planetary and variable star observing He has also included personal recollections and humorous anecdotes from Moore's friends and acquaintances as well as a look at his best loved books Further chapters describe Moore's foreign travels and correspondence with those back home Lastly the author has not neglected a few of Moore's most memorable television and radio appearances which are examined along with a close up of what it was like to visit Moore's beloved home of Farthings in Selsey Essentially this is a book written by popular demand from the readers of the author's original biography who craved more of Moore Engaged

British Working Classes Jonathan Rose, 2008-10-01 Which books did the British working classes read and how did they read them How did they respond to canonical authors penny dreadfuls classical music school stories Shakespeare Marx Hollywood movies imperialist propaganda the Bible the BBC the Bloomsbury Group What was the quality of their classroom education How did they educate themselves What was their level of cultural literacy how much did they know about politics science history philosophy poetry and sexuality Who were the proletarian intellectuals and why did they pursue the life of the mind These intriguing questions which until recently historians considered unanswerable are addressed in this book Using innovative research techniques and a vast range of unexpected sources The Intellectual Life of the British Working Classes tracks the rise and decline of the British autodidact from the pre industrial era to the twentieth century It offers a new method for cultural historians an audience history that recovers the responses of readers students theatergoers filmgoers and radio listeners Jonathan Rose provides an intellectual history of people who were not expected to think for themselves told from their perspective He draws on workers memoirs oral history social surveys opinion polls school records library registers and newspapers Through its novel and challenging approach to literary history the book gains access to politics ideology popular culture and social relationships across two centuries of British working class experience Local Glories

Ann Satterthwaite, 2016-02-23 To most people the term opera house conjures up images of mink coated dowagers accompanied by tuxedo clad men in the gilded interiors of opulent buildings like the Met in New York or La Scala in Milan However the opera house in the United States has a far more varied and far more interesting history than that stereotype implies In Local Glories Ann Satterthwaite explores the creative social and communal roles of the thousands of opera houses that flourished in small towns across the country By 1900 opera houses were everywhere on second floors over hardware stores in grand independent buildings in the back rooms of New England town halls and even in the bowels of a Mississippi department store With travel made easier by the newly expanded rail lines Sarah Bernhardt Mark Twain and John Philip Sousa entertained thousands of townspeople as did countless actors theater and opera companies innumerable minor league magicians circuses and lecturers and even 500 troupes that performed nothing but Uncle Tom s Cabin Often the town s only large space for public assembly the local opera house served as a place for local activities such as school graduations recitations sports town meetings elections political rallies and even social dances and roller skating parties Considered local landmarks often in distinctive architect designed buildings they aroused considerable pride and reinforced town identity By considering states with distinctly different histories principally Maine Nebraska Vermont New York and Colorado Satterthwaite describes the diversity of opera houses programs audiences buildings promoters and supporters and their hopes dreams and ambitions In the twentieth century radio and movies and later television and changing tastes made these opera houses seem obsolete Some were demolished while others languished for decades until stalwart revivers discovered them again in the 1970s The resuscitation of these opera houses today an example of historic preservation and creative reuse reflects the timeless quest for cultural inspiration and for local engagement to counter the anonymity of the larger world These local glories are where art and community meet forging connections and making communities today just as they did in the nineteenth century
