The Haunting of Hill House Shirley Jackson, 2023-11-19

Shirley Jackson's The Haunting of Hill House masterfully intertwines psychological horror and Gothic elements to explore the fragility of the human mind. Centered around a group of individuals investigating the mysterious and malevolent Hill House, Jackson utilizes a stream of consciousness narrative style which gives readers direct access to the characters' inner turmoil. The house itself acts as a living entity, amplifying the profound themes of isolation, fear, and the complexities of human relationships, thereby securing its status as a cornerstone of American horror literature during the mid-twentieth century. Shirley Jackson, a prominent figure in American literature, drew upon her own experiences with mental health and societal expectations to create deeply relatable yet unsettling narratives. Growing up in a rather unconventional household, Jackson's fascination with the macabre and the uncanny permeated her work. Her own struggles against societal norms and boundaries inform the psychological intricacies that populate The Haunting of Hill House, allowing readers to forge a personal connection with her themes of dread and alienation. For those who appreciate masterful storytelling that delves into the darker aspects of human experience, The Haunting of Hill House is an essential read. The Big House has been an element of tragedy in the course of Ireland's history, and it is considered such by contemporary novelists such as Aidan Higgins and Jennifer Johnson. It has been the crucible in which two civilizations failed to melt and yet became inseparably bound together. From the Introduction by Guy Fehlmann.

series Feeling Revolution Anna Toropova, 2020-05-20 Stalin era cinema was designed to promote emotional and affective education. The filmmakers of the period were called to help forge the emotions and affects that befitted the New Soviet Person ranging from happiness and victorious laughter to hatred for enemies. Feeling Revolution shows how the Soviet film industry's efforts to find an emotionally resonant language that could speak to a mass audience came to centre on the development of a distinctively Soviet cinema. Its case studies of specific film genres including production films, comedies, thrillers and melodramas explore how the genre rules established by Western and prerevolutionary Russian cinema were reoriented to new emotional settings. Sovietising audience emotions did not prove to be an easy feat. The tensions, frustrations and missteps of this process are outlined in Feeling Revolution with reference to a wide variety of primary sources including the artistic council discussions of the Mosfilm and Lenfilm studios and the Ministry of Cinematography. Bringing the limitations of the Stalinist ideological project to light, Anna Toropova reveals cinema's capacity to contest the very emotional norms that it was entrusted with crafting.
