Singer, 1986 Masterpieces from the Los Angeles County Museum of Art Collection Los Angeles County Museum of Art, Lorna Price, 1988 International Bulletin for Photographic Documentation of the Visual Arts , 1986 New York School Irving Sandler, 2019-03-01 FROM 1947 TO 1951 more than a dozen Abstract Expressionists achieved breakthroughs to independent styles 1 During the following years these painters the first generation of the New York School received growing recognition nationally and globally to the extent that American vanguard art came to be considered the primary source of creative ideas and energies in the world and a few masters notably Pollock de Kooning and Rothko were elevated to art history s pantheon Younger artists who entered their circle in the early fifties the early wave of the second generation such as Larry Rivers Helen Frankenthaler Grace Hartigan Allan Kaprow Joan Mitchell Robert Rauschenberg and Richard Stankiewicz to list some of the better known were also acclaimed but with a few exceptions their reputations had gone into decline by the end of the fifties In the following decade the second generation was eclipsed by a third generation the innovators of Pop Op Minimal and Conceptual Art Any notion of a generation of artists is necessarily arbitrary of course The term generation as it is used here refers to a group of artists close in age who live in the same neighborhood at the same time and to a greater or lesser degree know each other and partake of a similar sensibility a shared outlook and aesthetic A Woman's Weapon Doris G. Bargin, Murasaki Shikibu, 1997-01-01 This text presents an examination of Murasaki Shikibu s 11th century classic The Tale of Genji The author explores the role of possessing spirits from a female viewpoint and considers how the male protagonist is central to determining the role of these spirits Daitokuji Gregory P. A. Levine, 2005 The Zen Buddhist monastery Daitokuji in Kyoto has long been revered as a cloistered meditation centre a repository of art treasures and a wellspring of the Zen aesthetic Gregory Levine s Daitokuji unsettles these conventional notions with groundbreaking inquiry into the significant and surprising visual and social identities of sculpture painting and calligraphy associated with this fourteenth century monastery and its enduring monastic and lay communities The book begins with a study of Zen portraiture at Daitokuji that reveals the precariousness of portrait likeness the face that gazes out from an abbot s painting or statue may not be who we expect it to be or submit quietly to interpretation By tracing the life of Daitokuji s famed statue of the chanoyu patriarch Sen no Rikyū 1522-91 which was all but destroyed by the ruler Toyotomi Hideyoshi 1537-98 but survived in Rashōmon like narratives and reconstituted sculptural forms Levine throws light upon the contested status of images and their mytho poetic potential

Levine then draws from the seventeenth century journal of K ogetsu S ogan Bokuseki no utsushi to explore practices of calligraphy connoisseurship at Daitokuji and the pivotal role played by the monastery's abbots within Kyoto art circles. The book's final section explores Daitokuji's annual airings of temple treasures not merely as a practice geared toward preservation but also as a space in which different communities vie for authority over the artistic past. An epilogue follows the peripatetic journey of the monastery's scrolls of the 500 Luohan from China to Japan to exhibition and partial sale in the West and back to Daitokuji. Illuminating canonical and heretofore ignored works and mining a trove of documents, diaries, and modern writings, Levine argues for the plurality of Daitokuji's visual arts and the breadth of social and ritual circumstances of art making and viewing within the monastery. This diversity encourages reconsideration of stereotyped notions of Zen art and offers specialists and general readers alike opportunity to explore the fertile and sometimes volatile nexus of the visual arts and religious sites in Japan.

International Perspectives on Translation, Education and Innovation in Japanese and Korean Societies David G. Hebert, 2018-03-08. This book studies the three concepts of translation, education, and innovation from a Nordic and international perspective on Japanese and Korean societies. It presents findings from pioneering research into cultural translation, Japanese and Korean linguistics, urban development, traditional arts, and related fields. Across recent decades, Northern European scholars have shown increasing interest in East Asia. Even though they are situated on opposite sides of the Eurasia landmass, the Nordic nations have a great deal in common with Japan and Korea, including vibrant cultural traditions, strong educational systems, and productive social, democratic economies. Taking a cross-cultural and interdisciplinary approach and in addition to the examination of the three key concepts, the book explores several additional intersecting themes, including sustainability, nature, humour, aesthetics, cultural survival, and social change, discourse, and representation.
