The Cambridge Companion to the African American Novel Maryemma Graham, 2004-04-15 The Cambridge Companion to the African American Novel presents new essays covering the one hundred and fifty year history of the African American novel Experts in the field from the US and Europe address some of the major issues in the genre passing the Protest novel the Blues novel and womanism among others The essays are full of fresh insights for students into the symbolic aesthetic and political function of canonical and non canonical fiction Chapters examine works by Ralph Ellison Leon Forrest Toni Morrison Ishmael Reed Alice Walker John Edgar Wideman and many others They reflect a range of critical methods intended to prompt new and experienced readers to consider the African American novel as a cultural and literary act of extraordinary significance This volume including a chronology and guide to further reading is an important resource for students and teachers alike

African American Authors, 1745-1945 Emmanuel S. Nelson, 2000-01-30 There has been a dramatic resurgence of interest in early African American writing Since the accidental rediscovery and republication of Harriet Wilson s Our Nig in 1983 the works of dozens of 19th and early 20th century black writers have been recovered and reprinted There is now a significant revival of interest in the Harlem Renaissance of the 1920s and in the last decade alone several major assessments of 18th and 19th century African American literature have been published Early African American literature builds on a strong oral tradition of songs folktales and sermons Slave narratives began to appear during the late 18th and early 19th century and later writers began to engage a variety of themes in diverse genres A central objective of this reference book is to provide a wide ranging introduction to the first 200 years of African American literature Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 78 black writers active between 1745 and 1945 Among these writers are essayists novelists short story writers poets playwrights and autobiographers Each entry is written by an expert contributor and provides a biography a discussion of major works and themes an overview of the author s critical reception and primary and secondary bibliographies The volume concludes with a selected general bibliography

Research in African Literatures, 2000 Vol 1 spring 1970 include A Bibliography of American doctoral dissertations on African literature compiled by Nancy J Schmidt

The Identity Question Robert Philipson, 2010-02-11 Despite the Enlightenment s promise of utopian belonging among all citizens blacks and Jews were excluded from the life of their host countries In their diasporic exile both groups were marginalized as slaves aliens unbelievers and frequently not fully human The Identity Question Blacks and Jews in Europe and America explores the effects of diaspora upon black and Jewish consciousness demonstrating similar histories of marginality and oppression Casting off the fixed social categories of an earlier age Enlightenment thinkers argued that all men in their capacity as citizens of a secular state had the right to full civic participation and equal protection under the law. In theory such an ideology did not recognize classes or races of men automatically excluded from citizenship. In fact negative images of blacks and Jews continued to inform European thought and policy providing a rationale for a thriving slave trade abroad and continued oppression of Jews at home. Thus blacks and Jews were forced to define themselves in accordance with or in opposition to European ideas about who they were. Of necessity blacks struggled against the stereotypes of black barbarism and bestiality. Jewish intellectuals protested their alleged moral unfitness to participate in society while proclaiming primary allegiance to their host country rather than to other Jews. Central to this examination are four key autobiographies: two from the late 1700s and two from recent history. The autobiographies of Richard Wright and Alfred Kazin taken as prime twentieth century American expressions of racial and ethnic identity reveal striking similarities to their Enlightenment counterparts in Europe: the black Olaude Equiano and the Jewish Salomon Maimon. Equiano, Maimon, Kazin, and Wright all accept the ultimate desirability of Western culture. All believe in the Enlightenment promise. All were ostracized by the larger political cultures of Great Britain, Germany, and America but each made an arduous journey from the ethnic margins of language, culture, and tribal loyalty to the cosmopolitan center of London, Berlin, Chicago, or New York. These modern European conceptions of black and Jewish identity as well as the modern forms of racism that came to term in the eighteenth century entered America whole cloth. Consequently American intellectual and social history of the twentieth century mirrors the same movements toward acceptance and ostracism that had existed in Enlightenment Europe.

The Concise Oxford Companion to African American Literature William L. Andrews, Frances Smith Foster, Trudier Harris, 2001-02-15. A breathtaking achievement, this Concise Companion is a suitable crown to the astonishing production in African American literature and criticism that has swept over American literary studies in the last two decades. It offers an enormous range of writers from Sojourner Truth to Frederick Douglass, from Zora Neale Hurston to Ralph Ellison, and from Toni Morrison to August Wilson. It contains entries on major works including synopses of novels such as Harriet Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl, Richard Wright's Native Son, and Lorraine Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun. It also incorporates information on literary characters such as Big Boy, Thomas Coffin, Ed Johnson, Kunta Kinte, Sula, Peace, as well as on character types such as Aunt Jemima, Brer Rabbit, John Henry, Stackolee, and the trickster. Icons of black culture are addressed including vivid details about the lives of Muhammad Ali, John Coltrane, Marcus Garvey, Jackie Robinson, John Brown, and Harriet Tubman. Here too are general articles on poetry, fiction, and drama; on autobiography, slave narratives, Sunday School literature, and oratory; as well as on a wide spectrum of related topics. Compact yet thorough, this handy volume gathers works from a vast array of sources from the black periodical press to women's clubs, making it one of the most substantial guides available on the growing, exciting world of African American literature.

African-American Literature Paul Q. Tilden, 2003. Having its origins in the slave narratives and the folktales transmitted orally during that period, the literature of the African American has been rich and varied Beginning with the first published work of fiction Clotel Or the President s Daughter in 1853 continuing under the influence of W E B Du Bois during the first part of this century and reaching a flowering during the Harlem Renaissance major contributions have been made to American literature Today African American writers such as Toni Morrison Alex Haley and Maya Angelou are recognised as among the most significant and popular authors in this country This new book presents an important overview of African American literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography with easy access provided by title subject and author indexes

Expressions of Indigenous and Local Knowledge in Africa and its Diaspora Akinloye Ojo, Mobolanle Sotunsa, Karim Traore, 2016-06-22 Expressions of Indigenous and Local Knowledge in Africa and its Diaspora provides critical discourses on Africa and the various configurations of its reflections in folklore literature music languages and philosophy The collection through its selected works focuses on the African continent in terms of preserving the unique identity of African Indigenous and Local Knowledge In reality this preservation effort is confronted by a number of challenges within today s increasingly globalized and westernized world This book documents ongoing scholarly discussion on the paradoxical dynamics of preserving this identity and consequently enhancing the relevance of African Indigenous and Local Knowledge This volume articulates the representation of knowledge and values lodged in the diverse knowledge systems in Africa and its diaspora and which are constantly expressed in local and global spaces It highlights the prejudicial assessment of African Indigenous knowledge systems that has ensured that Western epistemological systems are internationally recognized and supported while African epistemological systems are denigrated discouraged or simply ignored even on the African continent Given that the term expressions entails making something known or manifest this edited collection is assembled to make known some of the elements of indigenous and local knowledge as well as the practices that these elements necessitate both historically and contemporarily in the African situation

The Black Press in the Middle West, 1865-1985 Henry Lewis Suggs, 1996 This is the first comprehensive examination of the Black press in the Middle West It rewrites the history of the Middle West and proves that Blacks were not only present but that they helped to shape the history character and political agenda of the region

Sonic Interventions Sylvia Mieszkowski, Joy Smith, Marijke de Valck, 2015-07-14 Sonic Interventions makes a compelling case for the importance of sound in theorizing literature subjectivity and culture Sound is usually understood as our second sense and as our belief in a visually dominated culture prevails remains of secondary interest Western cultures are considered to be predominantly visual while other societies are thought to place more importance on the acoustic dimension This volume questions these assumptions by examining how sound differs from and acts in relationship to the visual It moves beyond theoretical dichotomies between the visual and the sonic the oral and literature and instead investigates sonic interventions in their often multi faceted forms The case studies deal with political appropriations of music and sounds they explore the poetic use of the sonic in novels and plays they develop theoretical concepts out of sonic phenomena and pertain to identity formation and the practice of mixing in hip hop opera and dancehall sessions Ultimately the book brings to the fore what roles sound may play for the formation of gendered identity for the stabilization or questioning of race as a social category and the conception of place Their intricate interventions beckon critical attention and offer rich material for cultural analysis

Musicians' Migratory Patterns: The African Drum as Symbol in Early America Christopher Johnson, 2019-10-16 Musicians Migratory Patterns The African Drum as Symbol in Early America questions the ban that was placed on the African drum in early America It shows the functional use of the drum for celebrations weddings funerals religious ceremonies and nonviolent communication The assumption that drums and horns were used to communicate in slave revolts is undone in this study Rather this volume seeks to consider the social place of the drum for both blacks and whites of the time using the writings of Europeans and colonial era Americans the accounts of African American free persons and slaves the period instruments and numerous illustrations of paintings and sculpture The image of the drum was effectively appropriated by Europeans and Americans who wrote about African American culture particularly in the nineteenth century and re appropriated by African American poets and painters in the early twentieth century who recreated a positive nationalist view of their African past Throughout human history cultural objects have been banned by one group to be used another objects that include books religious artifacts and ways of dress This study unlocks a metaphor that is at the root of racial bias the idea of what is primitive while offering a fresh approach by promoting the construct of multiple points of view for this social historical presentation

African Horizons Christine Loflin, 1998-01-26 As non African writers have created images of Africa that suit their own needs African writers have countered these images with African landscapes that emphasize the landmarks and horizons that are significant for Africans In this volume Loflin explores the importance of landscape description in African fiction arguing that discussion of landscape can reveal the geographic religious political and social boundaries of the text In her analysis Loflin examines themes of nationalism and ethnic identity showing how the question of landscape is further complicated when writers in forced or voluntary exile from their native countries reconfigure their relationship to the landscape of Africa

The Problem of Embodiment in Early African American Narrative Katherine Fishburn, 1997-06-30 Offering a revolutionary way of reading 19th century slave narratives Fishburn seeks to recover the philosophical foundations of African American literature Underlying slave narrative is an expression of the problem of physical embodiment that is the dualistic thinking of the mind body division Fishburn s work uncovers the tension between needing to acknowledge the fact of human embodiment and wishing to overcome its consequences in a racist society One of the strongest points made by this pioneering work is the controversial claim that these slave narratives offer one of the most telling if largely overlooked pre Heideggerian critiques of liberal humanism ever attempted in the West
