Parameters in Old French Syntax: Infinitival Complements E.H. Pearce, 2012-12-06 1 1 AIMS AND ASSUMPTIONS This book presents an analysis of infinitival complement constructions in Old French OF from the perspective of the Government Binding GB framework It aims therefore to establish within the terms of the GB framework just how the OF constructions are to be characterized and in just what sense they can or cannot be compared with the corresponding constructions in other Romance languages The GB framework is an articulated theory about the structure of language which is based on the view that the aim of research into language is to construct a description of language which accurately reflects its essential nature Whilst we know that individual languages may appear to be superficially very different we also know that all languages are capable of expressing complex concepts and that all children acquire mastery of the language or languages to which they are exposed The task therefore is to determine both the properties which languages have in common and the bounds within which they may differ In the pursuit of these aims the study of various languages of the Romance family has provided a rich source of material for the development of the descriptive apparatus Evidence of the contribution supplied by such work is apparent in references to Romance material in Chomsky 1981 1982 in volumes such as Jaeggli 1982 Rizzi 1982a Kayne 1984b Burzio 1986 and in numerous papers devoted to particular constructions in a variety of Romance languages

Parameters in Old French Syntax: Infinitival Complements E.H. Pearce, 1990-02-28 1 1 AIMS AND ASSUMPTIONS This book presents an analysis of infinitival complement constructions in Old French OF from the perspective of the Government Binding GB framework It aims therefore to establish within the terms of the GB framework just how the OF constructions are to be characterized and in just what sense they can or cannot be compared with the corresponding constructions in other Romance languages The GB framework is an articulated theory about the structure of language which is based on the view that the aim of research into language is to construct a description of language which accurately reflects its essential nature Whilst we know that individual languages may appear to be superficially very different we also know that all languages are capable of expressing complex concepts and that all children acquire mastery of the language or languages to which they are exposed The task therefore is to determine both the properties which languages have in common and the bounds within which they may differ In the pursuit of these aims the study of various languages of the Romance family has provided a rich source of material for the development of the descriptive apparatus Evidence of the contribution supplied by such work is apparent in references to Romance material in Chomsky 1981 1982 in volumes such as Jaeggli 1982 Rizzi 1982a Kayne 1984b Burzio 1986 and in numerous papers devoted to particular constructions in a variety of Romance languages

Infinitives at the Syntax-Semantics Interface Lukasz Jedrzejowski, Ulrike Demske, 2017-06-26 The major aim of this volume is to investigate infinitival structures from a diachronic point of view and simultaneously to embed the diachronic findings into the ongoing theoretical discussion on non finite clauses in general All contributions subscribe to a dynamic approach to infinitival clauses by investigating their origin development and loss in miscellaneous patterns and across different languages

The Bantu-Romance Connection Cécile de Cat, Katherine Demuth, 2008-09-26 This landmark volume is the first work specifically designed to explore the extent to which striking surface morpho syntactic similarities between Bantu and Romance languages actually represent similar syntactic structures In particular it explores the timely and much debated issues of verbal morphology and agreement the structure of DPs and word order information structure with the goal of providing a better understanding of the structure of the different languages investigated and the implications this holds for syntactic theory more generally All of the papers draw on data from both Bantu and Romance languages providing a framework for much needed further comparative research on the nature of linguistic structure its diversity and constraints and the implications this has for learnability acquisition The volume also provides an important precedent for incorporating insights from Bantu linguistic structure into mainstream of syntax research

Functional Heads Laura Brugé, 2012-06-20 The cartographic project considers evidence for a functional head in one language as evidence for it in universal grammar In this volume some of the most influential linguists who have participated in this long lasting debate offer their recent work in short self contained case studies

Functional Heads, Volume 7 Laura Brugé, Anna Cardinaletti, Giuliana Giusti, Nicola Munaro, Cecilia Poletto, 2012-06-20 Over the last two decades functional heads have been one of the privileged objects of research in generative linguistics However within this line of inquiry two alternative approaches have developed while the cartographic project considers crosslinguistic evidence as crucial for a complete mapping of functional heads in universal grammar minimalist accounts tend to consider structural economy as literally involving a reduction in the number of available heads In this volume some of the most influential linguists who have participated in this long lasting debate offer their recent work in short self contained case studies The contributions cover all the main layers of recently studied syntactic structure including such major areas of empirical research as grammaticalization and language change standard and non standard varieties interface issues and morphosyntax Functional Heads attempts to map aspects of syntactic structure according to the cartographic approach and in doing so demonstrates that the differences between cartography and minimalism are perhaps more superficial than substantial

Stability and Divergence in Language Contact Kurt Braunmüller, Steffen Höder, Karoline Köhl, 2014-11-15 Convergence i e the increase of inter systemic similarities is usually considered the default development in language contact situations This volume focuses on the other logical possibilities of diachronic development namely stability and divergence two well attested but under researched phenomena The contributions investigate the sociolinguistic and structural factors and mechanisms that lead to or at least reinforce both types of non convergence despite of language contact The contributions cover a wide range of language contact situations including standard and non standard varieties

Morphosyntax of Verb Movement J.-W. Zwart, 2012-12-06 Morphosyntax of Verb Movement discusses the phenomenon of Dutch present in many Germanic languages that the finite verb is fronted in main clauses but not in embedded clauses The theoretical framework adopted is the so called Minimalist Program of Chomsky 1995 the latest developmental stage of generative grammar Taking issue with previous analyses the author argues that phrase structure in Dutch is uniformly head initial and that the finite verb moves to different positions in subject initial main clauses and in inversion constructions The book contains lucid and detailed discussion of many theoretical issues in connection with the Minimalist Program such as the relation between syntax and morphology the nature of syntactic licensing and the structure of the functional domain At the same time it offers a survey of the properties of Dutch syntax a discussion of previous analyses of Dutch syntax and a wealth of material from dialects of Dutch and other Germanic languages

Balkan Sprachbund Morpho-Syntactic Features Olga M. Tomic, 2006-09-13 At the end of 1998 Professor Pieter Muysken was awarded the Spinoza prize of the Netherlands Organization of Scientific Research NOW and set up a research program entitled Lexicon and Syntax The implementation of the Program started in the autumn of 1999 with research on the lexicon and syntax in a number of areas where contacts between 1 different languages are intensive For the languages of many of the areas selected basic data had to be collected For most of the languages of the Balkan Sprachbund area however there are grammars and dictionaries Moreover quite a number of studies of the Balkan Sprachbund features have been published Accordingly when I joined the team of the Project I aimed at a description of the state of art in the field After several months of research I realized that Balkanists have mainly been concerned with compiling lists of similarities and making parallels between the lexical and grammatical forms of the Balkan languages while analyses of the interaction of the Balkan Sprachbund morpho syntactic features with other features in the structure of the DP or the sentence of a given language dialect are scarce This oriented me towards descriptions of Balkan Sprachbund morpho syntactic features in the context of individual sub systems in nine Balkan language to which they relate the Slavic languages Macedonian Bulgarian and Serbo Croatian the Romance languages Romanian Aromanian and Megleno Romanian Albanian Modern Greek and the Arli Balkan Romani dialect

Reduced Constructions in Spanish (RLE Linguistics E: Indo-European Linguistics) John C. Moore, 2014-01-10 This book discusses a class of Reduced Constructions which exhibit both mono and bi clausal characteristics In Spanish as well as other Romance languages the most salient mono clausal characteristic is the possibility of clitic climbing i e the possibility of an object clitic attaching to a verb that is higher in the appropriate sense than the verb which selects the object to which the clitic corresponds Reduced constructions come in essentially two varieties clause reduction or restructuring constructions and union or causative perception verb constructions There has been a good deal of work on a number of aspects of reduced constructions here the author discusses work in three areas the analysis of pronominal clitics the structure of clause reduction and union constructions and how these treatments interact with the analysis of clitics to yield an account of clitic climbing and the encoding of embedded subjects in union constructions

includes a selection of twenty one peer reviewed and revised papers from the 37th annual Linguistic Symposium on Romance Languages LSRL held at the University of Pittsburgh in 2007 The papers cover a range of topics in morphology syntax phonology and language acquisition A number of languages and varieties are also analyzed including Italian Spanish Judeo Spanish Old Spanish French Old French and Romanian Contributions include papers from three of the invited speakers Heles Contreras Javier Guti rrez Rexach and Julia Herschensohn This volume highlights theoretical issues under current debate in Romance linguistics Structures and Beyond Adriana Belletti,2004-07-15 Adriana Belletti here collects work by scholars presented at the University of Siena in connection with a visit by Noam Chomsky The book s eight articles touch on broader theoretical questions related to Chomsky s Minimalist Program in particular Contributors include Guglielmo Cinque Richard Kayne Luigi Rizzi Noam Chomsky and others Principles of Syntactic Reconstruction Gisella Ferraresi,Maria Goldbach,2008-12-03 This is a collection of state of the art papers in the field of syntactic reconstruction It treats a range of topics which are representative of current debates in historical syntax The novelty and merit of the present book is the editors believe that in contrast to most previous work on diachronic syntax it combines the perspectives of the traditional philological research on syntactic reconstruction with the insights of modern syntactic theory as it is emphasised in the Foreword by Giuseppe Longobardi The volume includes articles by well recognized researchers in historical linguistics with a focus on syntactic change In the present volume syntactic reconstruction is discussed from a variety of angles including historical linguistics phenomena of language contact generative approaches as well as typological and variationist research In the articles languages from a diverse range of families are discussed including Indo European North and South Caucasian Sino Tibetan and Turkic Event Structure and the Left Periphery Katalin É. Kiss,2007-11-07 Katalin Kiss of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences in Budapest has brought together in this volume substantial new results in a novel field of research The text analyzes the syntactic and semantic consequences of event structure The studies contained in this volume test the hypothesis that event structure correlates with a number of things including word order the presence or absence of the verbal particle and the specific feature of the internal argument Morphosemantic Number: Daniel Harbour,2007-03-11 Number is a major research domain in semantics syntax and morphology However no current theory of number is applicable to all three fields In this work the author argues that a unified theory is not only possible but necessary for the study of Universal Grammar Through insightful analysis of unfamiliar data the author shows that one and the same feature set is implicated in semantic and morphological number phenomena alike with syntax acting as the conduit between the two At the heart of the study is an original treatment of Kiowa a North American language with a remarkable constellation of characteristics including semantically based noun classification and complex agreement morphology This volume presents 1 the foundations of a unified morphosemantic theory of number 2 insight into the flow of information from the lexicon via syntax into the morphology 3 wide ranging topics nominal semantics noun classes DP syntax agreement suppletion complex morphology New Horizons in the Analysis of Control and Raising William D. Davies, STANLEY DUBINSKY, 2007-09-04 Raising and control have figured in every comprehensive model of syntax for forty years. Recent renewed attention to them makes this collection a timely one. The contributions representing some of the most exciting recent work address many fundamental research questions: What, besides the canonical constructions, might be subject to raising or control analyses? What constructions traditionally treated as raising or control might not actually be so? What classes of control must be recognized? How do tense agreement or clausal completeness figure in their distribution? The chapters address these and other relevant issues and bring new empirical data into focus. Copular Sentences in Russian Asya Pereltsvaig, 2007-05-11 This book provides a detailed study and a novel Minimalist account of copular sentences in Russian, focusing on case marking alternations: nominative vs. instrumental, and drawing a distinction between two types of copular sentences. On the assumption that Merge is defined in the simplest way possible, it is argued that not all syntactic structures are anti-symmetrical. One of the copular sentence types is analyzed as a poster child for symmetrical structures, while the other type is treated as asymmetrical. The originality of this study lies in treating the copula in the two types of copular sentences neither as completely identical nor as two distinct lexical items; instead, the two types of copula are derived through the process of semantic bleaching. Furthermore, it is argued that the two types of the copula need to combine with post-copular phrases of different categories. It is concluded that Russian draws a distinction between saturated DPs and unsaturated NPs in spite of its renowned lack of overt articles. The Linearization of Affixes: Evidence from Nuuchahnulth Rachel Wojdak, 2007-12-08 This book examines the problem of linearization from a new perspective: that of the linearization of affixes. The author's driving proposition is that affixation provides a means of satisfying the universal requirement to linearize linguistic outputs. This proposition is tested using original data from Nuuchahnulth (Nootka), Wakashan family, an endangered Amerindian language that is remarkable for its complex morphology. Differential Subject Marking Helen de Hoop, Peter de Swart, 2007-12-04 Although almost all sentences have subjects, not all sentences encode their subjects in the same way. Some languages overtly mark some subjects but not others, depending on certain features of the subject argument or the sentence in which the subject figures. This phenomenon is known as Differential Subject Marking (DSM). Languages differ in which conditions govern DSM. Some languages differentiate their subjects on the basis of semantic features of the argument, such as thematic role, volitionality, animacy, whereas others differentiate on the basis of clausal features, such as tense aspect and the main dependent clause distinction. DSM comes in different formal guises: case marking, agreement, inverse systems, and voice alternations. Relatively much is known about cross-linguistic variation in the marking of subjects, yet little attempt has been made to formalize the facts. This volume aims to unify formal approaches to language and presents both specific case studies of DSM and theoretical approaches. Verbs and Diachronic Syntax I.G. Roberts, 2012-12-06 This book combines several strands of my work, both individually and in collaboration with various people over the last couple of years To a very large extent I have been inspired by the many talks classes appointments and other interactions that took place in the exciting intellectual environment that grew up among the linguists working in Geneva in the period 1989-90 It is impossible to mention by name everyone who influenced the development of this material but I'd particularly like to thank the students in my class linguistique diachronique during that period who had to suffer through preliminary versions of much of this book and often seemed to understand what I was getting at better than I did Luigi Rizzi did more than anyone else to create the unique atmosphere here in the last couple of years and so he deserves our gratitude for that he was also my collaborator on the synchronic work on French inversion that inspired much of this book he also read the whole manuscript in draft form and gave detailed comments he is also as anyone working in current comparative syntax knows a wellspring of knowledge ideas and inspiration Maria Teresa Guasti also read the entire manuscript and gave me invaluable comments Sten Vikner was a great help for much more than just Danish data Special thanks also to Adriana Belletti Anna Cardinaletti Liliane Haegeman and Cecilia Poletto
