

Parent Letters from your parish

Dear Parent,

It's time to celebrate! Your child is one year old. Can you believe it? Not too long ago, you were just getting to know your new baby. Now it's hard to imagine life without your child. During the last year, your baby has grown into a toddler and has filled your family's home with love. Both are important reasons to take the time to celebrate your toddler's first year.

Celebrate the First Year of Life

What a great time to remember and celebrate the first anniversary of your child's Baptism! Invite the godparents and grandparents to celebrate with you. Light the baptismal candle as you share a prayer of thanksgiving for your child.

Say or sing a blessing such as this one to the same melody as the traditional "Happy Birthday" song:

May God bless you today.

May God bless you today.

May God bless you, dear
(child's name).

May God bless you today.

As you sing, gently put your hand on your toddler's shoulder or head. End with a great big hug. Through the years your child will be reminded how very precious he is to you and to God.

Recall and talk about memorable and humorous events of the first year. Write some of these down in a note to your child that can be saved and added to every year. What is most important is that your child feels loved and appreciated from a very young age.

Use the enclosed growth chart to measure and record your child's height at six-month intervals. Both you and your toddler will enjoy watching the growth. Review photos and videos you and/or others have taken over the past year. Appreciate and talk about your toddler's growth in height, mental awareness, language development, and socialization. Be generous with your hugs and kisses.

THROUGH THE YEARS YOUR CHILD WILL BE REMINDED HOW VERY PRECIOUS HE IS TO YOU AND TO GOD.
