

Parenting Teenagers Top Ten Tips

Being a parent is not easy. The teenage years can be particularly difficult as teenagers may behave like adults one minute and children the next. Here are some tips which you may find helpful.

1. Conflict is Normal - your teenager is trying to establish independence, listen to your teenager's point of view, be prepared to compromise and recognise that sometimes they need to 'win'. Decide what's worth taking a stand on and what isn't.
2. Give Clear Guidelines - Set out clear guidelines about what is acceptable behaviour. Tell teenagers where you're going, who you're with and what time you will be back - expect them to do the same for you.
3. Respect Their Views - Don't expect teenagers to agree with everything you say. The teenage years are a time of testing out opinions and people. Your teenager is more likely to respect your views if you respect his/hers.
4. Show Interest - Let your teenager know that you are interested in what she/he does at home and at school. Offer support and guidance with school work and revision and keep an eye on whereabouts, friends and relationships but beware of turning interest into pressure.
