Parents Speak Out Views From The Other Side Of The Two Way Mirror:

The Effects of Autism on the Family Eric Schopler, Gary B. Mesibov, 2013-06-29 As the oldest statewide program serving autistic people in the United States North Carolina's Division TEACCH Treatment and Education of Autistic and related Communication handicapped Children has had a major impact on services for these people and their families As we move into our second decade we are frequently questioned about all aspects of our procedures techniques and program Of all the questions that are asked however the one that comes up most frequently and seems to set our program apart from others concerns the ways in which we work with families To help answer this question we identified what we have found to be the major components in our parent professional relationships and we elaborate on these with the most current research information clinical insights and community knowledge available through the expertise of our distinguished contributors Our purpose was to collect the most recent information and to organize the resulting volume along the outlines of the parent professional relationship found most important in the TEACCH program Thus the four main sections of the book include these four major ways professionals work with parents as their advocates their trainers their trainees and their reciprocal emotional support source To the extent this effort was successful we acknowledge that it is easier to organize book chapters along these dimensions than it is to provide their implementation in the field

Parent Concerns and Advice Robinsue Frohboese, 1985

Meeting Families Where They Are Beth Harry, Lydia Ocasio-Stoutenburg, 2020 This book presents an in depth discussion of how human disability and parental advocacy have been constructed in American society including recommendations for a more authentically inclusive vision of parental advocacy The authors provide a cultural historical view of the conflation of racism classism and ableism that have left a deeply entrenched stigma one that positions children with disabilities and children of color as less valuable than others To redress these inequities the authors offer a working model of co constructed advocacy designed to benefit all families Because advocacy is not a one size fits all endeavor the authors propose meeting families where they are and learning their strengths and needs while preparing and repositioning families to empower themselves The authors intend to challenge us and they do They engage us in a secular liberation ethic That is why this book is important Rud Turnbull distinguished professor emeritus University of Kansas Of value to educators doctors parents and parent advocates this text purposefully centers the experiences of parents of color who have children with disabilities David J Connor professor emeritus City University of New York An enlightening and stimulating read for those committed to better understanding the complexity of the plight of parents of color as they attempt to advocate for the educational needs of their child with a disability Wanda J Blanchett dean Rutgers University Graduate School of Education

Culture and Retardation L.L. Langness, Harold G. Levine, 2012-12-06 Mental retardation in the United States is currently defined as significantly subaverage general intellectual functioning existing concurrently with deficits in adaptive behavior and manifested during the development period Grossman 1977 Of the estimated six million plus mentally retarded individuals in this country fully 75 to 85% are considered to be functionally retarded Edgerton 1984 That is they are mildly retarded persons with no evident organic etiology or demonstrable brain pathology Despite the relatively recent addition of adaptive behavior as a factor in the definition of retardation 1 0 still remains as the essential diagnostic criterion Edgerton 1984 26 An 1 0 below 70 indicates subaverage functioning However even such an objective measure as 1 0 is problematic since a variety of data indicate quite clearly that cultural and social factors are at play in decisions about who is to be considered retarded Edgerton 1968 Kamin 1974 Langness 1982 Thus it has been known for quite some time that there is a close relationship between socio economic status and the prevalence of mild mental retardation higher socio economic groups have fewer mildly retarded persons than lower groups Hurley 1969 Similarly it is clear that ethnic minorities in the United States Blacks Mexican Americans American Indians Puerto Ricans Hawaiians and others are disproportionately represented in the retarded population Mercer 1968 Ramey et al 1978

Education Unlimited, 1980 Understanding Mental Retardation Edward Zigler, Robert M. Hodapp, 1986-08-29 Understanding Mental Retardation draws on our knowledge of normal development to inform their discussion of various aspects of retardation The Best of AAMR Jan Blacher, Bruce L. Baker, 2002 A historical reference that chronicles parental involvement or the surprising lack of in mental retardation services from 1876 to 2000 in America New Voices from Iceland Dóra S. Bjarnason, 2004 This book presents a study of the perspectives and experiences of 36 disabled young adults some of their parents teachers and friends on coming of age as a disabled person in Iceland The young people of the study belong to the first generation of disabled children and youth to grow up with normalisation and inclusion in school and society as the law of the land The aim is to describe explore and interpret the social construction of disabled adulthood within culture and society and to describe how inclusive and exclusionary processes within families school and society impact young disabled persons claims to adulthood The study is located within disability studies and within a social constructivist interpretative framework involving interviews and document analysis This volume focuses on the emergence of young disabled adulthood and on how families general or segregated special education and special or generic support systems and relationships impact that process The lesson learned from this book apply to the disabled everywhere Enhancing the Quality of Life of People with Intellectual Disabilities Ralph Kober, 2010-09-24 This book contains a series of articles written by international experts in the fields of intellectual disability and quality of life that explore a broad range of issues that impact on the quality of life of people with intellectual disabilities and their families The book commences with a general discussion on defining quality of life and family quality of life and the appropriateness of using these constructs in the field of intellectual disability and is followed by an analysis on the effects of living arrangements and employment on quality of life The book concludes with discussions on the unique issues facing children with intellectual disabilities and people living in developing countries and the effect these issues have upon their quality of life Home-school Partnerships Judy H. Lombana, 1983 Stigma and Mental Illness

Paul Jay Fink,1992 This book is a collection of writings on how society has stigmatized mentally ill persons their families and their caregivers First hand accounts poignantly portray what it is like to be the victim of stigma and mental illness Stigma and Mental Illness also presents historical societal and institutional viewpoints that underscore the devastating effects of stigma

Chronic Sorrow Susan Roos,2002 Grief and loss are burgeoning concerns for professional disciplines such as nursing social work family therapy psychology psychiatry law religion and medicine Although understanding has increased in virtually all other areas of grief and loss chronic sorrow has received scant attention Chronic sorrow is a natural grief reaction to losses that are not final but continue to be present in the life of the griever This book views chronic sorrow in a life span perspective and reveals the effect on the griever and the people close to them This book fills a void in the literature and attempts to develop a comprehensive analysis of chronic sorrow that will secure its position within the field of grief and loss

Re-educating Troubled Youth Larry K. Brendtro,Arlin E. Ness,2017-07-05 This book is about helping troubled young people who are searching separately for security identity and purpose in their lives Childhood and adolescence are pivotal stages in the quest to belong to become somebody and to be worth something Children need stimulation affection and guidance in order to develop their potentials but many are reared in environments that deprive them of these nutrients Adolescents approach the threshold of independence with only the experiences gained from childhood many lack the support of significant actions Those who encounter difficulty in navigating through these turbulent years are to be identified by society as troubled or troublesome These children and youth present challenges that do not yield to simple panaceas Although no simple approach holds all the answers bridging various concepts of education and treatment offers the best opportunity for creating positive changes The authors refer to this process as re education with full awareness that this term has been used in a variety of philosophical contexts including behavioral ecological and psychodynamic views

Mental Retardation and Sterilization Ruth Macklin,Willard Gaylin,2013-03-13 1 This book is the product of a one year project conducted by the Hastings Center Institute of Society Ethics and the Life Sciences during 1976 1977 The Behavior Control Research Group an ongoing interdisciplinary working group composed of philosophers psychiatrists psychologists social scientists and lawyers met four times over the course of the year with special consultants with expertise in the field of mental retardation At those meetings participants gave in formal presentations which were followed by group discussion As the project progressed formal papers were delivered and subjected to further critical commentary This volume in two related parts represents the deliberations of the group as a whole and then offers individual papers prepared by some scholars in order to give a sense of the kind of specific arguments on which the general conclusions were based We undertook the project to examine 1 questions of competence and consent and 2 the practical implications

The project entitled Ethical Issues in the Care and Treatment of the Mildly Mentally Retarded was supported by the EVI5T program of the National Science Foundation under Grant No 05576 14793 Any Opinions findings conclusions or recommendations expressed herein are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the National Science Foundation ix x PREFACE in terms of care and treatment that evolve from differing definitions and models applied to mental retardation Early Intervention Maurice A. Feldman,2008-04-15 This reader covers current theory research and practice in Early Intervention with young children bringing together the best recent papers by prominent researchers in the field A collection of the best recent papers on Early Intervention Brings together current theory research and practice in EI with young children Covers a range of topics in childhood development and intervention Each paper is introduced and contextualised by the editor In and Out of Books Burton Blatt,1984 Attitudes Toward Handicapped Students Marcia D. Horne,2012-12-06 Many handicapped children are now being treated and educated in the mainstream of society Therefore it is important for professionals to be knowledgeable about the attitudes of societal members toward these students This text is a thorough and invaluable sourcebook on how attitudes are formed measured and changed An extensive discussion about professional peer parental and sibling attitudes toward a class or family member and reviewing methodologies for change are provided Counseling Parents of Exceptional Children Jack C.
