popular culture to write pieces that were passionate and often personal changing the landscape of architectural criticism in the process These columns made architecture a subject accessible to everyone at a moment when because of the heated debate between modernists and postmodernists architecture had become part of a larger public dialogue One of the most courageous and engaged voices in his field he devoted many columns at the Times to the lack of serious new architecture in this country and particularly in New York and spoke out against the agenda of developers He departed from the usual dry didactic style of much architectural writing to playfully for example compare Frank Gehry's Guggenheim Bilbao to the body of Marilyn Monroe or to wax poetic about a new design for Manhattan's manhole covers One sees in this collection that Muschamp championed early on the work of Frank Gehry Rem Koolhaas Zaha Hadid Thom Payne Frank Israel Jean Nouvel and Santiago Calatrava among others and was drawn to the theoretical writings of such architects as Peter Eisenman Published here for the first time is the uncut version of his brilliant and poignant essay about gay culture and Edward Durrell Stone's museum at 2 Columbus Circle Fragments from the book he left unfinished whose title we took for this collection A Dozen Years Metroscope and Atomic Secrets are also included Hearts of the City is dazzling writing from a humanistic thinker whose work changed forever the way we think about our cities and the buildings in them New York Magazine, 1984-07-16 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea
