Parks Canada Guiding Principles And Operational Policies:

Parks Canada Guiding Principles and Operational Policies Parks Canada,1994 This document is a comprehensive statement of broad principles that give direction both to present programs and future initiatives of Parks Canada It provides a framework for the delivery of heritage programs and for responsible management decisions that reflect the national interest while being sensitive to local considerations It explains how the federal government within the context of Parliamentary approvals carries out its national programs of natural and cultural heritage recognition and protection as assigned to the Minister responsible for Parks Canada Parks Canada: Guiding Principles and Operational Policies.

1994 Canada. Canadian Heritage,1994 Guiding Principles and Operational Policies [electronic Resource] Parks Canada,1994 Parks Canada Guiding Principles and Operational Policies Canadian Parks Service,1994 Past Meets

Present John H. Jameson,Sherene Baugher,2007-04-17 In the face of an increasing public interest and demand for information archaeologists are starting to collaborate with historians educators interpreters museum curators exhibit designers landscape architects and other cultural resource specialists to devise the best strategies for translating an explosion of archaeological information for the public In turn some communities are partnering with archaeologists to become active players in the excavation interpretation and preservation of their heritage The last decade has witnessed numerous applications of public interpretation and outreach models and an increased interest in establishing partnerships between professional practitioners in public interpretation and educational institutions such as museums and schools These developments have occurred in the context of a realization that community based partnerships are the most effective mechanism for long term success It is clear that there is a need for a volume that addresses these latest trends and provides case studies of successful partnerships National Parks and Protected Areas James Gordon Nelson,Rafal

Serafin,2013-06-29 National parks and protected areas offer a wealth of ecological and social contributions or services to humans and life on earth This book describes the strengths of national parks and protected areas in different parts of Europe and North America and the challenges to the full realization of their goals It shows that they are useful not only in conserving rare species and biodiversity but also in protecting water supply and other resources necessary to tourism and to economic and social development generally Ideas and information on useful planning management and decision making arrangements are presented and research needs are identified Politics, Philosophy, Culture Michel Foucault,2013-07-04 Politics

Philosophy Culture contains a rich selection of interviews and other writings by the late Michel Foucault Drawing upon his revolutionary concept of power as well as his critique of the institutions that organize social life Foucault discusses literature music and the power of art while also examining concrete issues such as the Left in contemporary France the social security system the penal system homosexuality madness and the Iranian Revolution The Competitive Destination J. R. Brent Ritchie,Geoffrey Ian Crouch,2003 The purpose of this book is to provide a framework for understanding the complex and multifaceted nature of the factors that affect destination competitiveness. It provides guidance on how to create successful destinations by developing and presenting a conceptual model of destination competitiveness that recognizes the importance of sustainability for long term success. The book is both theoretically sound and managerially useful. It is intended to appeal to both academic researchers and industry professionals and practitioners. Anyone with an interest in the enhancement of a destination's competitiveness from nations to small towns or regions will find this book invaluable. Heritage Values in Site Management Marta De la Torre, 2005. The four case studies included are Grosjean and the Irish National Memorial site in Canada, the Chaco Culture National Historical Park in the USA, the Port Arthur historic site in Australia and Hadrian's Wall.

Towards Principled Oceans Governance Donald R. Rothwell, David L. VanderZwaag, 2006-09-27. Australia and Canada have been at the forefront of efforts to operationalize integrated oceans and coastal management. Throughout the 1990s both countries devoted considerable effort to developing strategies to give effect to international ocean management obligations. This key book focuses on principles of marine environmental conservation and management, maritime regulation and enforcement and regional maritime planning and implementation. With contributions from respected scholars, this informative book collectively assesses the obligations, compliance, implementation and trends in international ocean law, particularly in giving effect to an Oceans Policy, regional maritime planning, international oceans governance and maritime security. This book will be of interest to all academics involved with maritime studies and international law. Virtualism, Governance and Practice James G. Carrier, Paige West, 2009. Many scholars who examine large scale environmentalist organisations highlight the knowledge power and governance that underlie organisations' policies and projects as virtualising efforts to bring the world into conformity with their environmentalist thought and vision. This important collection reveals how the concerns of those critics are justified on one level but not on another. The contributors not only examine how environmental organisations seek this world of conformity but also show how these organisations are constrained in their ability to achieve their goals. The collection argues that the critics' concern with knowledge power, governance and virtualism seems justified when we look at those organisations' environmentalist visions, policies and programs. However, they are much less justified when we look at the practical operation of such organisations and their ability to generate and carry out projects intended to reshape the world. Book Jacket. Preserving Public Lands for the Future William R. Lowry, 1998-10-01. Comparing national efforts to preserve public lands, William R. Lowry investigates how effectively and under what conditions governments can provide goods for future generations. Providing intergenerational goods ranging from balanced budgets to space programs and natural environments is particularly challenging because most political incentives reward short term behavior. Lowry examines the effect of institutional structure on the public delivery of these goods. He offers a theoretical framework accounting for both the necessary conditions: public demand, political stability and official commitment to long term delivery and constraining factors: the tensions between public agencies and politicians as well as between different levels of government that determine the ability of a nation to achieve long term goals In support of this argument Lowry evaluates data on park systems from more than one hundred countries and provides in depth case studies of four he United States Australia Canada and Costa Rica to show how and why the delivery of intergenerational goods can vary For each of the cases he reviews background information discusses constraints on agency behavior and assesses expansion of the park systems and restoration of natural conditions at specific locations This extensive comparative analysis of the preservation of public lands offers new insights into the capability of nations to pursue long term goals

Tourism in National Parks and Protected Areas Paul F. J. Eagles, Stephen F. McCool, 2002 This book describes the state of the art of tourism planning and management in national parks and protected areas It also provides guidelines for best practice in tourism operations Other objectives are to Describe case studies and guidelines that contribute to conservation of biological diversity consider the role of local communities within or near these areas outline the development of tourism infrastructure and services discuss visitor management provide guidelines to enhance the quality of the tourism experience The focus is global and the book will appeal to both academics and practitioners

Manufacturing National Park Nature J. Keri Cronin, 2011-07-01 National parks occupy a prominent place in the Canadian imagination yet we are only beginning to understand how their visual representation has shaped and continues to inform our perceptions of ecological issues and the natural world J Keri Cronin draws on historical and modern postcards advertisements and other images of Jasper National Park to trace how various groups and the tourism industry have used photography to divorce the park from real environmental threats and instead package it as a series of breathtaking vistas and adorable looking animals Manufacturing National Park Nature demonstrates that popular forms of picturing nature can have ecological implications that extend far beyond the frame of the image

The Early Northwest Gregory P. Marchildon, 2008 This publication is the inaugural volume of the History of the Prairie West series Each volume in the series focuses on a particular topic and is composed of articles previously published in Prairie Forum and written by experts in the field The original articles are supplemented by additional photographs and other illustrative material

Boreal Forests and Global Change Michael J. Apps, David T. Price, Joe Wisniewski, 2013-03-14 Boreal forests form Earth's largest terrestrial biome They are rich in ecosystem and landscape diversity though characterized by relatively few plant species as compared to other forested regions The long term viability and sustainability of boreal forests is influenced by many factors They are subject to interruptions at intervals by large scale natural disturbances and increasingly by human activities Boreal ecosystem development is typically a slow process hence rapid changes in the global environment may invoke complex responses Many industrial nations border or lie within boreal regions deriving much of their economic wealth and culture from the forests The response of boreal forests to changes in the global environment whether caused by direct human activity or by indirect changes such as the anticipated changes in climate are therefore of considerable international interest both for their policy implications and their scientific challenges This book which contains almost 50 peer reviewed papers from a world wide group of experts assembled under the auspices of IBFRA the International Boreal Forest Research Association covers topics which will stimulate further research and the development of constructive policies for improved management and conservation of global boreal forest resources

Indigenous Peoples' Governance of Land and Protected Territories in the Arctic Thora Martina Herrmann, Thibault Martin, 2015-12-22 This book addresses critical questions and analyses key issues regarding Indigenous Aboriginal Peoples and governance of land and protected areas in the Arctic It brings together contributions from scientists indigenous and non indigenous researchers local leaders and members of the policy community that document Indigenous Aboriginal approaches to governance of land and protected areas at the local regional and international level explore new territorial governance models that are emerging as part of the Indigenous Aboriginal governance within Arctic States provinces territories and regions analyse the recognition or lack thereof concerning indigenous rights to self determination in the Arctic and examine how traditional decision making arrangements and practices can be linked with governments in the process of good governance The book highlights essential lessons learned success stories and remaining issues all of which are useful to address issues of Arctic governance of land and protected areas today and which could also be relevant for future governance arrangements

Changing Parks John S. Marsh, Bruce W. Hodgins, 1998-05-15 This important book is a must for everyone concerned with the heritage and future of Canada's parks Contributors include an impressive assembly of noted park experts ranging from academic authorities and government parks personnel to concerned nonpolitical park supporters Since the establishment of Banff National Park in 1885 and Algonquin Provincial Park in 1893 parklands have been part of Canada's heritage Where other protected areas such as forest reserves heritage rivers and greenways have also been created a more comprehensive view of the creation and management of conservation areas and marshland is discussed Cooperative approaches to park management recognize the regional context of parks with respect to local communities as well as the inclusion of more diverse groups of people particularly Aboriginals This work encourages the general public to take an interest in our priceless park heritage

Perspectives on Strategic Environmental Assessment Maria Rosario Partidario, 2024-11-01 An environmental assessment must be performed whenever a property transaction takes place Those who don't may find themselves responsible for the past misdeeds of others This book contains contributions by professionals from various locations who use Strategic Environmental Assessment SEA as a tool applied to water management issues SEA helps make decisions that increase sustainability Because of its procedural nature it necessarily becomes tailor made to different applications Easily understood and geographic in scope this book presents leading edge thinking and first hand knowledge on the applications of SEA in water management Perspectives on Strategic Environmental Assessment is a comprehensive guidebook for performing environmental assessments all over the world No other source provides you with as much information on the applications of SEA as a policy assessment and management tool This book provides a blueprint for environmental assessments that safeguards you from the oversights of others Implementing Ecological Integrity Philippe Crabbé, Alan J. Holland, Lech Ryszkowski, L. Westra, 2012-12-06 This book contains some of the papers which were presented at the NATO Science Environmental Security Advanced Research Workshop on Implementing Ecological Integrity Restoring Regional and Global Environmental and Human Health held in Budapest from June 26 to July 1 1999 All papers presented are summarized in the Introduction and in some cases shorter versions are published A multidisciplinary core of American and Western European participants had met over the preceding years to discuss the concept of ecological integrity The term ecological integrity is found in environmental policy documents but generally is not defined It competes with other recent terms or environmental narratives such as ecosystem health and sustainable development and also with older ones such as conservation Therefore it is deemed important not only to sort out the definitions of these concepts but also to find out whether their practical implications differ Moreover it was interesting to find out whether participants from Central and Eastern European Countries CEEC and more generally from NATO partner countries would be first responsive to this concept and second would hold different views of it This explains the broad albeit not always consistent range of topics which are covered in this book The core group learned that CEEC and other NATO partners participants were responsive to the concept but that they were less exclusive of human influence
