Participation The New Tyranny:

Participation Bill Cooke, Uma Kothari, 2001-02 This book shows how participatory government can lead to the unjust and illegitimate exercise of power It addresses the gulf between the almost universally fashionable rhetoric of participation promising empowerment and appropriate development Looking at what actually happens when consultants and activists promote and practice participatory development this book offers a sharp challenge to the advocates of participatory development Some contributors look at particular examples of failed participatory practice others present more conceptually oriented analyses Together they provide a new rigorous and provocative understanding of participatory development

Participation ,1980 Participation: the New Tyranny? Bill Cooke, Uma Kothari, 2001-06-23 This book shows how participatory government can lead to the unjust and illegitimate exercise of power It addresses the gulf between the almost universally fashionable rhetoric of participation promising empowerment and appropriate development Looking at what actually happens when consultants and activists promote and practice participatory development this book offers a sharp challenge to the advocates of participatory development Some contributors look at particular examples of failed participatory practice others present more conceptually oriented analyses Together they provide a new rigorous and provocative understanding of participatory development

Participation Samuel Hickey, 2004-10 Participatory techniques have established themselves in both project implementation in developing countries and community interventions in industrial countries Recently participation has been fashionably dismissed as more rhetoric than substance and subject to manipulation by agents pursuing their own agendas under cover of community consent In this important new volume development and other social policy scholars and practitioners seek to rebut this simplistic conclusion They show how participation can help produce genuine transformation for marginalized communities This volume is the first comprehensive attempt to evaluate the state of participatory approaches in the aftermath of the Tyranny critique It captures the recent convergence between participatory development and participatory governance It revisits the question of popular agency as well as spanning the range of institutional actors involved the state civil society and donor agencies The volume embeds participation within contemporary advances in development theory

Tourism and Responsibility Martin Mowforth, Clive Charlton, Ian Munt, 2008 This book discusses the responsibility or otherwise of tourism activities in Latin America and the Caribbean It considers issues such as the reduction of poverty through tourism and the conflict between increasing volumes of air travel spent in our continuing search for pleasure and the resulting contribution to global warming The authors believe that tourism can only be adequately assessed through a consideration of how it fits into the structure of power It is also argued that tourism cannot be analyzed without a consideration of its impacts on and links with development This relationship between tourism responsibility power and development is explored in chapters covering both the macro and the micro level of responsibility The authors look at methods of practising tourism responsibly or irresponsibly at the personal company national and international levels The questions and dilemmas of placing responsibility in the tourism industry are examined throughout Widely illustrating all these themes and issues with examples and case studies from throughout the sub continent this book will be of importance to students and academics and to the work of practitioners of development and tourism related projects run by both governmental and non governmental aid and development agencies

Participatory Arts in International Development Paul Cooke,Inés Soria-Donlan,2019-08-13 This book explores the practical delivery of participatory arts projects in international development Bringing together an interdisciplinary group of academics international development professionals and arts practitioners the book engages honestly with the competing challenges faced by the different groups of people involved Participatory arts are becoming increasingly popular in international development circles fuelled in part by the increased accessibility of audio visual media in the digital age and also by the move towards participatory discourses in the wake of the UN s Agenda 2030 The book asks What do participatory arts projects look like in practice and why are they used as an international development tool How can we develop practical and sustainable development projects on the ground localising best practice according to cultural economic and linguistic contexts What are the enablers of and barriers to successful participatory initiatives and how can we evaluate past projects to learn and feed into future projects Written to appeal to both academics and practitioners this book would also be suitable for teaching on courses related to participatory development community arts and culture and development Food Security and Food Safety for the Twenty-first Century Soraj Hongladarom, 2015-03-29 This book is a collection of selected papers that were presented at the First International Conference of the Asia Pacific Society for Agricultural and Food Ethics APSAFE 2013 which was held at Chulalongkorn University from November 28 30 2013 The papers are interdisciplinary containing insights into food security and food ethics from a variety of perspectives including but not limited to philosophy sociology law sociology economics as well as the natural sciences The theme of the conference was to consider the interplay and balance between food security and food ethics as the world approaches the middle part of the twenty first century Doing Children's Geographies Lorraine van Blerk, Mike Kesby, 2013-10-31 Doing Children s Geographies provides a useful resource for all those embarking on research with young people Drawing on reflections from original cutting edge research undertaken across three continents the book focuses on the challenges researchers face when working with children youth and their families The book is divided into three sections The first section provides alternatives to some of the difficulties researchers face and highlights methodological innovations as geographers uncover new and exciting ways of working The second part specifically addresses the issues surrounding children and youth s participation providing critiques of current practice and offering alternatives for increasing young people s involvement in research design Finally the book broadens to a consideration of wider areas of concern for those working with children and youth This section discusses the nature of childhood in relation to research the place of emotions in research with young people and the process of undertaking applied research This book was previously published as a special issue of Children s Geographies Community Quality-of-Life Indicators: Best Cases IV M. Joseph Sirgy, Rhonda Phillips, Don Rahtz, 2009-08-21 Community indicators projects are plentiful These projects capture the quality of life in towns cities counties metropolitan regions and larger geographic regions Community quality of life QOL indicators are increasingly being integrated into overall planning and other public policy activities The community indicators project reports are used not only in monitoring and evaluation applications but also in the context of increasing citizen participation in guiding communities towards achieving desired goals This is the fourth book in a series covering best practices in community QOL indicators Each volume presents individual cases chapters of communities at the local or regional levels that have designed and implemented community indicators programs In Volume IV we present nine chapters from a variety of contexts cities such as the City of Phoenix Arizona USA Jacksonville Florida USA and Bristol UK suburban communities areas such as Long Island New York USA and Sydney Australia larger regions such as Vancouver Canada and townships such as Sobantu South Africa Social and Community Development John Eversley,2018-11-02 Social and Community Development is an essential introduction to the subject for students potential practitioners and activists interested in community action and emancipatory social change It reflects on the underlying principles of development what development is why it is promoted and the implications for practice indicating potential strategies and goals State, Law, and Adivasi Linkenbach, Antje,Verma, Vidhu,2022-09-08 This volume presents an overview of the relationship between the state law and Adivasis that have experienced a profound political shift due to privatization of natural resources It discusses the role of the corporates and its impact on livelihoods of the Adivasis in India For the Indian state a significant challenge is to establish a new normative framework for indigenous autonomy based on the values of equality and sustainability This calls for recognition of the right to self determination and exercise of collective rights of the Adivasis The chapters in this volume examine Exclusion as a useful framework for analyzing the various axes of inequality that affect the Adivasi communities How state development and Adivasi politics play out in entangled ways in the social political and legal domains The interplay of and the deep tension between the promise of legal protection and the realities of inadequate implementation The Social Construction of Climate Change Mary E. Pettenger,2016-02-24 Individuals international organizations and states are calling for the world to confront climate change Efforts such as the Kyoto Protocol have produced intractable disputes and are deemed inadequate This volume adopts two constructivist perspectives norm centred and discourse to explore the social construction of climate change from a broad theoretical level to particular cases The contributors contend that climate change must be understood from the context of social settings and that we ignore at our peril how power and knowledge structures are generated They offer a greater understanding of why current efforts to mitigate climate change have failed and provide academics and policy makers with a new understanding of this important topic Delta Democracy Catherine E. Herrold,2020-03-18 The 2011 Arab Spring protests seemed to mark a turning point in Middle East politics away from authoritarianism and toward democracy Within a few years however most observers saw the protests as a failure given the outbreak of civil wars and re emergence of authoritarian strongmen in countries like Egypt But in Delta Democracy Catherine E Herrold argues that we should not overlook the ongoing mobilization taking place in grassroots civil society Drawing upon ethnographic research on Egypt's nongovernmental organizations NGOs in the wake of the uprisings Herrold uncovers the strategies that local NGOs used to build a more democratic and just society Departing from US based democracy advocates attempts to reform national political institutions local Egyptian organizations worked with communities to build a culture of democracy through public discussion debate and collective action At present these forms of participatory democracy are more attainable than establishing fair elections or parliaments and they are helping Egyptians regain a sense of freedom that they have been denied as the long time subjects of a dictator Delta Democracy advances our understanding of how civil society organizations maneuver under state repression in order to combat authoritarianism It also offers a concrete set of recommendations on how US policymakers can restructure foreign aid to better help local community organizations fighting to expand democracy Engineers and Communities Earthea Nance,2013-01-01 Engineers and Communities traces the evolution of a small but important innovation in Brazil from 1980 through 2005 Through a series of grand experiments with participatory water and sanitation coalitions of engineers planners public officials and residents revealed the essential elements of how urban services can be made to be more inclusive transformation of international development Stepping-stones to improve upon functioning of participatory agricultural extension programs Prossy Isubikalu, 2023-08-28 The Farmer Field School FFS originated in the 1980s in the context of integrated pest management in Indonesian rice farming With the hope that it is the remedy for agricultural extension system FFS has been promoted as a tool for participatory learning and experimentation all over the world This work results from a critical analysis of the introduction of the FFS concept into the agricultural innovation system in Uganda Ideally an FFS produces new technical knowledge in the context of application through the input of local human resources The analysis framed as a technography shows that implementation and operation of an FFS is hugely complex This detailed study of institutional factors from the level of international donor organizations down to the level of local leadership and gender relations and analysis of technical factors in different rural areas of Uganda makes clear that and FFS is more than a local tool for farmer participation in agricultural improvement Implementation of a FFS requires adjustment of the agricultural innovation system at all levels and an integrated tackling of agricultural problems in order to meet its objectives Isubikalu shows that it is imperative to demolish existing organizational structures and create new ones which align scientific with local structures to produce an appropriate people centered system that is more responsive to agricultural and rural development She provides stepping stones in redesigning FFS to fit the specific conditions in Uganda Science and Citizens Melissa Leach, Ian Scoones, Brian Wynne, 2005 This volume brings together authors from diverse experiences and analytical traditions encouraging a conversation between science and technology and development studies around issues of science citizenship and globalization The book reflects on the nature of expertise the framing of knowledge processes of public engagement and issues of rights justice and democracy Different case studies cover issues ranging from medical genetics agricultural biotechnology occupational health and HIV AIDS in settings including rural Sierra Leone urban Britain China South Africa India and Brazil
