Contracting for Project Management J. Rodney Turner,2017-07-05 In all but the smallest of projects the project sponsor inevitably has to buy in the goods and services of other suppliers This requires people to make contracts so that they know the basis on which they are working with each other and to deal with any disagreements that subsequently arise So a knowledge of contracting specifically for project management is essential if a project is to avoid difficulties and reach a successful conclusion This book concentrates specifically on the contracting issues that surround projects of any size

Making Sense of Construction Improvement Stuart Green, 2023-12-15. Making Sense of Construction Improvement provides a critical evaluation of the construction improvement debate from the end of the Second World War through to the modern era. The book offers unique insights into the way the UK construction sector is continuously shaped and re-shaped in accordance with changes in the prevailing political economy. This second edition brings the book up to date by including coverage of key trends from 2010-2023. The book has been substantially revised and reworked to include new material relating to the age of austerity and the subsequent period of political uncertainty initiated by the Brexit referendum. Changes in the political economy are positioned alongside the rise of the sustainability agenda and the advent of zero carbon. Particular attention is paid to the ongoing skills crisis and the over-hyped advocacy of modern methods of construction (MMC) as the latest supposed panacea of industry improvement. Coverage includes the Farmer 2016 report 'Modernise or Die' and the Construction Playbook HM Government 2020. However, perhaps the most important addition is a focus on the Grenfell Disaster 2017 and the subsequent revelations from the public enquiry. Further intermediate milestones include Building a Safer Future Hackitt 2018 and the Construction Sector Deal HM Government 2018. The emerging consensus points towards a systemic failure involving not only the construction sector but also the entire system of regulation and compliance. Tracing the failings back over time and scrutinising the role played by previous generations of policymakers, Stuart Green ultimately argues that Grenfell was a disaster entirely foretold. The insightful and critical analysis of the industry contained within these pages is essential and timely reading for anyone who wants to understand how the construction sector arrived at where it is today and with that knowledge give further thought to where it might go next.

The Architect in Practice David Chappell, Michael H. Dunn, 2015-12-02. Throughout its many editions The Architect in Practice has remained a leading textbook used in the education of architects. While the content of the book has developed, the message and philosophy has remained constant to provide students of architecture and young practitioners with a readable guide to the profession, outlining an architect's duties to their client and contractor, the key aspects of running a building contract and the essentials of management, finance and drawing office procedure. The eleventh edition follows in that tradition. The text has been brought up to date to ensure it follows the new RIBA Plan of Work 2013 as the guide to the architect's workflow. In addition, a number of changes to standard forms of contract were made with the publication of the JCT 2011 suite of contracts and the RIBA Standard Form for the Appointment of an Architect 2010/2012 Revision. These new forms are fully covered. In addition, the opportunity has been taken to reorganise the layout so that the content flows in a way that is more consistent with current architectural practice and to deal with the increasing use of BIM The eleventh edition of The Architect in Practice continues to provide the guidance and advice all students and practising architects need in the course of their studies and in their profession Understanding Organisational Culture in the Construction Industry Vaughan Coffey,2010-01-28 Using the construction industry as the subject of his research Vaughan Coffey investigates the culture performance link using a new measure of company performance and an evaluation of organizational culture which is largely behaviourally based
