The World Bank in Pakistan: Partners in Development World Bank, This publication provides a look at the World Bank Group's extensive ongoing activities in Pakistan written in an easy to understand manner for the reader to understand development prospects in the country and the WBG's role in it. This is followed by a quick glimpse at each ongoing World Bank project in Pakistan with background financing and disbursement details, key components, development objectives and results achieved so far. The 43 ongoing projects cover a wide variety of sectors including agriculture, governance, education, health and energy. The publication showcases the World Bank Group's commitment to Pakistan in helping end poverty and boost shared prosperity in the country. Partners in Development Richard Gerster, 2008. Swiss contribution to India's development programme dates back to 1958. Swiss Non-governmental Organizations (NGOs) were in the forefront of this endeavor followed by the Federal Department of Foreign Affairs in 1961. Since then India has been the most important partner of the Swiss Government in development cooperation and also for many Swiss NGOs. Making use of case histories drawn from 50 years of wide-ranging cooperation in areas like food and other basic needs, work and income training and education, rural finance, protection of the environment and participation in society, this book offers a wealth of data and thus contributes to a more informed debate on the merits and problems of development cooperation in Switzerland, India and elsewhere. Richard Gerster, Director of Gerster Consulting Switzerland, is former Executive Director of Alliance Sud, a Swiss Coalition of Development NGOs and former member of the Advisory Committee on Development Cooperation and Humanitarian Aid to the Swiss Government. Since 2000 he is member of the Development Cooperation Advisory Council to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Austria. Innocents Abroad Or Partners in Development? Geoffrey B. Hainsworth, 1986. A review of Canada-Indonesia trade aid and investment relations during the New Order era 1967-83. It is a case study of how two middle-ranking powers have sought to define a meaningful economic relationship that recognizes similarities and complementarities and the problems which they face in seeking to industrialize and find an expanding role in the rapidly changing and increasingly competitive Pacific basin economy. The twists and turns of Canadian foreign policy and the shifting requirements of Indonesia as a host country to foreign enterprise are outlined and analysed and a prognosis is offered of how Indonesia might reconcile its dilemmas of development and what this might imply for its would-be partners in development such as Canada. An extensive bibliography of related writings is included as an appendix. Religious Institutions As Partners in Community Based Development David M. Scheie, Jaimie Markham, Steven E. The University as a Partner in Regional and International Development: Ian McAllister, 2015-04-23 To be credible partners overseas universities must be credible partners for the well being of the peoples of their own regions Canadian universities have enjoyed long and productive histories of both regional and international cooperation Many were nurtured through early relationships with longer standing European and US institutions Especially since Canada became a serious aid donor in the early 1970s Canadian universities in their turn began to share experiences and resources overseas Initially this was with institutions in less prosperous nations then particularly since the fall of the Berlin Wall it was also with partners in the transition economies of Eastern Europe Most recently it has been with China and a resurgent India Often a university's regional and international linkages began with individual faculty or student commitments Some then evolved into projects frequently four or five year contractual arrangements supported by aid agencies A few such projects later expanded into more open ended network arrangements bridging disciplines sectors institutions and sometimes even continents The more complex some of these partnerships have become the more challenging have been the ethical academic and financial implications for the Canadian institutions themselves not to mention their counterparts Long term more visionary and more strategic approaches have become critical More entrepreneurial administrative structures and much heightened sensitivities to human rights cross cultural gender and inter disciplinary issues have been essential What it must ruthlessly be asked are the visions for post secondary education for 2020 not to mention 2050 that are empowering the more progressive of today's institutions How are they helping shape present regional and international development partnerships

The Religion-Gender Nexus in Development Nora Khalaf-Elledge, 2021-07-28 This book illuminates the intersection of religion and gender within the development sector exposing challenges in both policy and practice and suggesting implementable solutions This book argues that a better understanding of the religion gender nexus is needed by development sector practitioners especially at a time when religious arguments are being used around the world to justify gender inequality and violence against women The book draws on extensive qualitative research with senior gender personnel religion advisors and implementation partners from across the largest bilateral development agencies The nexus is considered from the grassroots level up to donor country politics and across key themes such as gender based violence reproductive rights unpaid care and domestic work and women's participation in leadership roles The book concludes by offering implementable solutions for practitioners to address the religion gender nexus in a more meaningful way Bridging the gap between academic theory and day to day development
