Ideology and Organization in Communist China Franz Schurmann, 2023-11-10 In 1949 a powerful political military movement led by the Chinese Communist party gained control of war ravaged China inheriting a disorganized administration and a society eroded by decades of revolution Within a short time China was so radically transformed politically economically and socially that it appeared to have cut all links with the past The instruments of that transformation were ideology and organization Today seventeen years later the ideology and the organizational network despite changes remain as powerful as they were in 1949 They still hold that vast country together politically and determine its economic and social development This book after a discussion of ideology in its first part attempts to answer the question how Chinese Communist organization functions and why it is so successful The second part analyzes the organization of Party and government emphasizing methods of command and administration The third part looks at industrial organization the problems of management and control especially the continuing struggle between the professionals and the politicians The fourth part investigates the Chinese Communist methods of organizing their cities and villages tracing the history of village organization from traditional times through the Yen'an period the land reform of the late 1940 s and the collectivization of the mid 1950 s to communization in 1958 Although organization has been constantly changing in China basic patterns are apparent The book analyzes the most characteristic pattern in all aspects of organization the conflict between two incompatible elements or in the Chinese Communist terms contradictions The basic contradiction is that between professional expert and political red elements This contradiction dominates the two distinctive periods in the short history of Communist China the First Five Year Plan 1953-1957 and the so called Great Leap Forward 1958-1960 The book describes how the Chinese Communists attempted during the former period to emulate the Soviet organizational experience with stress on techniques and technology and during the latter period to use their own organizational methods to achieve economic progress The presentation of the contrast between these two models of organization sheds light on the significant differences between the Soviet Union and Communist China This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1966 Handbook of Mental Health Administration and Management William H. Knight, 2000-10-19 The United Nations is at a critical juncture It is faced with two distinct choices to remain a decision frozen in time or to develop a long term adaptation agenda and strategy that would allow it to be a relevant institution of global governance for the twenty first century Reform and reflexive institutional adjustments have failed to address underlying problems facing this organization After fifty five years of existence it is still considered an inefficient and ineffective world body Worse yet its relevance is being questioned This study offers a critique of existing UN change processes and then shifts focus to considerations of institutional learning strategies that would allow the UN to maintain relevance amidst the evolution of global governance arrangements The French Revolution in Russian Intellectual Life James O'Connor, 2017-07-12 Sandwiched between the East and West

Russian intellectuals have for centuries been divided geographically politically and culturally into two distinct groups the Slavophiles who rejected Western style democracy preferring a more holistic and abstract vision and the more rational and scientific minded Westernizers These two ideologies cut across the political spectrum of late nineteenth century Russia and competed for dominance in the country s intellectual life The tension created between these two opposing groups caused the feeling that violent upheaval was Russia s future In turn many began to think that Russia was possibly following the path of France and that a French style revolution might be possible on Russian soil In The French Revolution in Russian Intellectual Life Dmitry Shlapentokh describes the role that the French democratic revolution played in Russia s intellectual development by the end of the nineteenth century The revolutionary upheaval in Russia at the beginning of twentieth century and the continuous expansion of the West convinced most Russian intellectuals that the French Revolution in its democratic reading was indeed the pathway of history Yet the rise of totalitarian regimes and their expansion proved the validity of the sober vision of nineteenth century Russian intellectuals Some conservative Russian intellectuals believed that not only would Russia preserve its authoritarian regime but it would spread this regime all over the world In this context Shlapentokh argues the French Revolution with its democratic tradition was only a phenomenon of Western civilization and hence transitory The flirtation with Western ideology with its democratic polity and market economy that followed in the wake of the collapse of the communist regime culminated in an increasing push for corporate authoritarianism and nationalism This work helps explain why Russia turned away from democratic to autocratic styles¹
