Art New York March 14 June 1 1999      Robert Smithson Unearthed Eugenie Tsai, Robert Smithson, 1991 Robert Smithson Unearthed Drawings Collages Writings the first full survey of this artist's work reevaluates its larger resonance and its place in the historical development of recent art Eugenie Tsai's representation of the work of Smithson expands our understanding of his achievement Looking beyond the Minimalist structures and the earthworks for which she is best known she explores his intellectual and aesthetic roots his early imaginings and discovers a richer range of personal affect in Smithson's art than we had been led to expect      Mirror-travels Jennifer L. Roberts, 2004 Robert Smithson 1938 1973 an artist of paramount importance in postwar America created radical new perspectives for landscape architecture photography art criticism and site specific installation His Spiral Jetty a 1 500 foot long coil of rock built in 1970 at the edge of the Great Salt Lake is widely appreciated as one of the most significant art projects of the twentieth century Less well known is the connection between the Jetty and the nearby Golden Spike National Historic Site location of the completion of the first U S transcontinental railroad The link between these two monuments is but one facet of an entire complex of historical reference and reflection that structures Smithson's work close analysis of the artist's working model of history and featuring comprehensive case studies of three of his most influential works The Monuments of Passaic Incidents of Mirror Travel in the Yucatan and the Spiral Jetty Incorporating abundant new material from Smithson's personal papers and library Jennifer Roberts offers surprising new interpretations about the artist and his responses to the social ideological and material contradictions of his time Publisher's description      The Ethics of Earth Art Amanda Boetzkes, 2013-11-30 Since its inception in the 1960s the earth art movement has sought to make visible the elusive presence of nature Though most often associated with monumental land based sculptures earth art encompasses a wide range of media from sculpture body art performances and installations to photographic interventions public protest art and community projects In The Ethics of Earth Art Amanda Boetzkes analyzes the development of the earth art movement arguing that such diverse artists as Robert Smithson Ana Mendieta James Turrell Jackie Brookner Olafur Eliasson Basia Irland and Ichi Ikeda are connected through their elucidation of the earth as a domain of ethical concern Boetzkes contends that in basing their works relationship to the natural world on receptivity rather than representation earth artists take an ethical stance that counters both the instrumental view that seeks to master nature and the Romantic view that posits a return to a mythical state of unencumbered continuity with nature By incorporating receptive surfaces into their work film footage of glaring sunlight an aperture in a chamber that opens to the sky or a porous armature on which vegetation grows earth artists articulate the dilemma of representation that nature presents Revealing the fundamental difference between the human world and the earth Boetzkes shows that earth art mediates the sensations of nature while allowing nature itself to remain irreducible to human signification      The Practice of Public Art Cameron Cartiere, Shelly Willis, 2008-05-07 This exciting new collection of essays by practicing artists curators activists art writers administrators city planners and educators offers divergent perspectives on the numerous facets of the public art process The volume also includes a useful graphic timeline of public art history
