Seafaring Saint Sources And Analogues Of The Twelfth Century Voyage Of Saint Brendan:

The Seafaring Saint Clara Strijbosch, 2000 Navigatio Sancti Brendani Abbatis written in Latin around 800 AD tells the story of 6th century Irish Saint Brendan's departure for an island paradise across the ocean Three and a half centuries later in Germany another account of Saint Brendan was written called Reis van Sint Brandaan While the two share the theme of an abbot on the sea there are many conflicting differences that have given rise to some of the most baffling problems of Brendan scholarship This book compares the two eventually concluding that the Voyage is rooted in an agglomeration of Irish stories the same which eventually gave rise to the Navigatio Illustrated with period woodcuts and maps Distributed by ISBS c Book News Inc The Legend of St. Brendan Jude S. Mackley, 2008 The Legend of St Brendan is a study of two accounts of a voyage undertaken by Brendan a sixth century Irish saint The immense popularity of the Latin version encouraged many vernacular translations including a twelfth century Anglo Norman reworking of the narrative which excises much of the devotional material seen in the ninth century Navigatio Sancti Brendani abbatis and changes the emphasis leaving a recognisably secular narrative The vernacular version focuses on marvellous imagery and the trials and tribulations of a long sea voyage Together the two versions demonstrate a movement away from hagiography towards adventure Studies of the two versions rarely discuss the elements of the fantastic Following a summary of authorship audiences and sources this comparative study adopts a structural approach to the two versions of the Brendan narrative It considers what the fantastic imagery achieves and addresses issues raised with respect to theological parallels The Brendan Legend Glyn S.

Burgess, Clara Strijbosch, 2006-08-01 The Brendan Legend Texts and Versions deals with the vast textual tradition relating to the Irish Saint Brendan known as The Navigator Stories about Brendan have been popular in the whole of Western Europe from the seventh to the twentieth century The themes of the book are the interrelated problems of the textual and literary embedding of Brendan texts For the first time researchers in Celtic German Latin and Romance languages and literatures have co operated on the Brendan tradition and they have mapped the changes in textual traditions according to different circumstances and audiences This book will be important to those studying the influence of Celtic literature on the European Continent and more generally to those interested in the versatility of textual traditions in Western Europe The Marvellous and the Monstrous in the Sculpture of Twelfth-century Europe Kirk Ambrose, 2013 Richly illustrated consideration of the meaning of the carvings of non human beings from centaurs to eagles found in ecclesiastical settings Representations of monsters and the monstrous are common in medieval art and architecture from the grotesques in the borders of illuminated manuscripts to the symbol of the green man widespread in churches and cathedrals These mysterious depictions are frequently interpreted as embodying or mitigating the fears symptomatic of a dark age This book however considers an alternative scenario in what ways did monsters in twelfth century sculpture help audiences envision perhaps even achieve various ambitions Using examples of Romanesque sculpture from across Europe with a focus on France and northern Portugal the author suggests that medieval representations of monsters could service ideals whether intellectual political religious and social even as they could simultaneously articulate fears he argues that their material presence energizes works of art in paradoxical even contradictory ways In this way Romanesque monsters resist containment within modern interpretive categories and offer testimony to the density and nuance of the medieval imagination KIRK AMBROSE is Associate Professor Chair Department of Art and Art History University of Colorado Boulder

Hy Brasil: The Metamorphosis of an Island Barbara Freitag, 2013 Brasil Island better known as Hy Brasil is a phantom island In the fourteenth century Mediterranean mapmakers marked it on nautical charts to the west of Ireland and its continued presence on maps over the next six hundred years inspired enterprising seafarers to sail across the Atlantic in search of it Writers too fell for its lure While English writers envisioned the island as a place of commercial and colonial interest artists and poets in Ireland fashioned it into a fairyland of Celtic lore This pioneering study first traces the cartographic history of Brasil Island and examines its impact on English maritime exploration and literature It investigates the Gaelicization process that the island underwent in nineteenth century and how it became associated with St Brendan Finally it pursues the Brasil Island trope in modern literature the arts and popular culture

The Modern Afterlives of Old Irish Travel Narratives Natalia I. Petrovskaja, 2025-07-24 This book explores the reception of the medieval Irish tradition of fantastic journey tales in Jonathan Swift s Gulliver s Travels C S Lewis s The Voyage of the Dawn Treader Umberto Eco s Baudolino and the science fiction television franchises Star Trek and Stargate In doing so the book opens the door to a new history of literary reception using Old Irish genre categories to analyse post medieval texts It aims to show that there is a family of texts produced in the post medieval period that are heirs of the medieval Irish literary tradition of fantastic voyage narratives and that using Old Irish genre categories to analyse post medieval works can open up new perspectives in our understanding of these works

Crossing Boundaries at Medieval Universities , 2010-11-26 At medieval universities boundaries often served to reinforce divisions among competing groups and methods Yet the crossing of these boundaries could also provide the basis for fruitful exchanges The essays in this volume contributed by specialists from Europe and North America in the study of medieval history philosophy theology medicine and law explore various ways in which boundaries between disciplines faculties and between town and gown were both created and crossed at this new institutional form Originally presented at the 2008 conference held in Madison Wisconsin they demonstrate in particular the richness and vitality of intellectual life at European universities both before and after the mid thirteenth century Contributors are David Luscombe Marcia L Colish Chris Schabel Maarten J F M Hoenen Kent Emery Jr John E Murdoch Michael R McVaugh Danielle Jacquart Kenneth Pennington Karl Shoemaker Robert E Lerner
