Dailey, 2015-04-14 Gregory of Tours hoped to inspire the believers in sixth century Gaul with examples of righteous and wicked deeds and their consequences Critiquing his own society Gregory contrasted vengeful queens rebellious nuns and conniving witches with pious widows humble abbesses and tearful saints By examining his thematic treatment of topics including widowhood marriage sanctity authority and political agency Queens Consorts Concubines reassesses the material shaped by such concerns including e g Gregory s accounts of Brunhild Fredegund Radegund and other important elite women Merovingian political policies marital alliances ecclesiastical intrigue even assassinations and seemingly unrelated topics such as Hermenegild s rebellion and the career of Empress

Making Early Medieval Societies Kate Cooper, Conrad Leyser, 2016-01-21 Making Early Medieval Societies explores a fundamental question what held the small and large scale communities of the late Roman and early medieval West together at a time when the world seemed to be falling apart Historians and anthropologists have traditionally asked parallel questions about the rise and fall of empires and how societies create a sense of belonging and social order in the absence of strong governmental institutions This book draws on classic and more recent anthropologists work to consider dispute settlement and conflict management during and after the end of the Roman Empire Contributions range across the internecine rivalries of late Roman bishops the marital disputes of warrior kings and the tension between religious leaders and the unruly crowds in western Europe after the first millennium all considering the mechanisms through which conflict could be harnessed as a force for social stability or an engine for social change
