emotions felt but not completely understood by children for the loss of a parent or sibling It offers welcome channels of response that can help survivors to not only understand their feelings but also come to grips with the loss and get on positively with their lives Barbara Snook offers insights into a range of people s experiences with the loss of a family member It normalizes the variety of experiences of grieving that it is not a linear process not something to get over rather the impacts are lifelong and require developing ways to live with the grief Pauline Brown registered psychologist This book is like a cocoon It is beautiful from start to finish The growth and transformation about such grief is anticipated and transparent yet mesmerising through its entire unfolding It holds the reader in the same way that siblings who have lost and actually anyone who has lost a loved one need to be held and need to be seen as they transit their own unique process Jenni van der Schoot psychotherapist I recognise myself in the pages written by the brave contributors to this book as will other readers who struggle with the complex and conflicting emotions of losing a loved sibling Realising that others also struggle with grief and have feelings of guilt is a repeated thread in the stories that weave readers together giving them the realisation that they are not the odd one out but that their reactions are normal in a heart rending situation Tilly Brasch author of No Middle Name
