Dreams of Love and Fateful Encounters Ethel S. Person, 2007-04-02 This groundbreaking study has been widely hailed for its focus on a human emotion generally considered impervious to rational analysis romantic passionate love Ethel Person views romantic love as a powerful agent of change arguing that it is as central to human culture as it is to human existence This new edition of Dreams of Love and Fateful Encounters emphasizes the relevance of passion not only to lovers but also to mental health professionals whose patients often enter treatment because of love related issues from the inability to love or make a commitment to the perils of extramarital love to love sickness or loss of love She forthrightly addresses not only the power of love to unlock the soul but also its inherent paradoxes and conflicts Employing a philosophical perspective in order to understand the existential dilemmas posed by love and a cultural perspective in order to understand its cultural variability Dr Person breaks with contemporary intellectual and philosophical dismissive assumptions about romantic love She acknowledges love s vital importance and power proposing that passion serves an important function not only for the individual but also for the culture while charging psychoanalysis with a reductionist emphasis on sexuality and psychopathology that has narrowed the focus of inquiry into love Among the issues she discusses are romantic love's sources in our early lives its relationship to imagination and creativity and its capacity to enable the lover to transcend the self how romantic love often demands a reordering of values and promotes personal growth by exposing the self to new risks and possibilities the transformational potential of transference love in the therapy process flaws in the common misperception that women are more influenced by romantic love than men considerations of homosexual love love across generations and love triangles focusing on the individual growth that can result from such relationships Citing accounts of love drawn from literature film and real life Person focuses on the lover's internal soliloquy and external dialogue with the beloved that can develop over an individual's life An uplifting resource for people experiencing failing or unorthodox romances Dreams of Love and Fateful Encounters boldly takes on issues pertinent to lovers to professionals who encounter patients for whom key conflicts revolve around romantic love and to anyone who has struggled to understand the importance of romantic love in his or her own life

Love in Excess; or, the Fatal Enquiry Eliza Fowler Haywood, 2022-08-21 Eliza Fowler Haywood's Love in Excess or the Fatal Enquiry stands as a compelling narrative exploration of passion desire and the complexities of romantic entanglements in the early 18th century Through a rich descriptive prose style that intertwines elements of both tragedy and comedy Haywood engages the reader in a profound examination of the societal norms surrounding love and virtue The novel features intricate character dynamics particularly the struggles of its heroine showcasing how her pursuits often lead to morally ambiguous outcomes Notably the work reflects the transition in English literature from the rigid moralism of the earlier centuries to a more nuanced understanding of human emotions and relationships thereby situating itself within the emerging context of the novel as a form with psychological depth and emotional complexity Eliza Fowler Haywood a prolific writer and one of the first female novelists drew on her own experiences as a woman in a male dominated literary world to craft her narratives Born in 1693 Haywood's extensive oeuvre which includes plays essays and novels reveals her keen insights into human psychology and the social faux pas of her time Her literary innovations especially in the realm of female agency and desire have earned her a seminal place in the history of literature often overshadowed in her era by her male counterparts Love in Excess is highly recommended for readers intrigued by early feminist literature and the exploration of societal constraints on women Haywood's nuanced rendering of characters and their tumultuous journeys offers insights that resonate with contemporary themes of love and autonomy Engaging with this text will provide readers not only with an entertaining romance but also with a thoughtful commentary on love virtue and the human condition In this enriched edition we have carefully created added value for your reading experience A succinct Introduction situates the work's timeless appeal and themes The Synopsis outlines the central plot highlighting key developments without spoiling critical twists A detailed Historical Context immerses you in the era's events and influences that shaped the writing A thorough

From Life to Life John Wilbur Chapman, 1900

Sharing Care Robert Ziegler, Andrew Bush, 2013-05-13 A clinician faces a multitude of considerations when assessing a child patient Foremost among these is that caring for the child entails caring for the family members involved with that child The therapist must balance the competing needs and feelings of the child parents and family as a whole By forming an alliance with all members of the family the therapist is in a position to strengthen and enhance the ties between child parents and family during all phases of assessment and treatment leading to a more effective therapeutic intervention

Paving the Way for Children's Success offers a model that will help clinicians achieve this alliance The model presented in this book focuses on ways to integrate child assessment and treatment with that of their parents and families level of function It uses the authors unique concept of the Zones of Care to help clinicians assess this level of function In turn each of the four zones leads to a specific approach to treatment The authors present how these treatment approaches to current internalizing and externalizing disorders in children and adolescents allow clinicians to integrate a wide variety of techniques to address most DSM IV categories Their approach stresses both symptom reduction and the cultivation of coping skills It also integrates fiscal issues of treatment into the development of the alliance with the parents in resolving the presenting problem Dr Ziegler and Dr Bush present the reader with practical workable strategies for laying down strong diagnostic foundations for successful treatment making Paving the Way for Children s Success a valuable resource for any clinician working with children and adolescents When the Vow Breaks Joseph Warren

Wang,2015-11-05 The teenage years are a fascinating time in the life of any family but what happens when the challenges of parenting teenagers are combined with the desire to help your children build on their multilingual abilities In this follow up to Growing up with Three Languages Birth to Eleven Xiao lei Wang offers a unique insight into the dynamics of a multilingual family She combines practical evidence based advice with rich detail from observations of her own family to offer support and inspiration on an aspect of multilingual parenting that has received comparatively little attention By placing language within the wider context of teenagers cognitive and social development this book will enable parents everywhere to help and guide their children through the next step in their multilingual journey Thinking About Love Diane Enns, Antonio

Calcagno,2015-11-10 Does love command an ineffability that remains inaccessible to the philosopher Thinking About Love considers the nature and experience of love through the writing of well known Continental philosophers such as Hannah Arendt Simone de Beauvoir Jacques Derrida and Maurice Merleau Ponty Evolving forms of social organization rapid developments in the field of psychology and novel variations on relationships demand new approaches to and ways of talking about love Rather than offering prescriptive claims this volume explores how one might think about the concept philosophically without attempting to resolve or alleviate its ambiguities paradoxes and limitations The essays focus on the contradictions and limits of love manifested in such phenomena as trust abuse grief death violence politics and desire An erudite examination of the many facets of love this book fills a lacuna in the philosophy of this richly complicated topic Along with the editors the contributors are Sophie Bourgault John Caruana Christina M Gschwandtner Marguerite La Caze Alphonso Lingis Christian Lotz Todd May Dawne McCance Dorothea Olkowski Felix Murchadha Fiona Utley and M lanie Walton Accounting for Tastes Gary Stanley BECKER, Gary S Becker,2009-06-30 Economists generally accept as a given the old adage that there s no accounting for tastes Nobel Laureate Gary Becker disagrees and in this lively new collection he confronts the problem of preferences and values how they are formed and how they affect our behavior He argues that past experiences and social influences form two basic capital stocks personal and social He then applies these concepts to assessing the effects of advertising the power of peer pressure the nature of addiction and the function of habits This framework promises to illuminate many other realms of social life previously considered off limits by economists
