Natural law concerns the good by considering the God-given purpose of created things. However, it is marred by sin, natural law theory suggests that the good can still be known and recovered to some extent. Thomas Aquinas famously argues that natural law involves all intelligent creatures sharing in (ernal) which they tend toward their ends.² Natural law theory often focuses on how reason or conscience discerns the good. Natural law can often emphasize the doctrines of creation and natural revelation. The conclusion from natural law ethics is that humans have some natural ability to discern the good. Yet, natural law ethics faces the risk of absolutizing one's cultural perspective as that which is natural and obviously rational. For this reason, Christians do well to consider ethics from various cultural perspectives.³ In the twentieth century many Protestants
