My History, Not Yours Genaro M. Padilla, 1993 I am willing to relate all I can remember but I wish it clearly understood that it must be in my own way and at my own time I will not be hurried or dictated to It is my history and not yours I propose to tell Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo on Recuerdos históricos y personales 1875 My History Not Yours is a landmark study of the autobiographical writings of Mexican Americans in the century following the US Mexican War of 1846 1848 Some 75 000 inhabitants of what is now Texas New Mexico Arizona Nevada and California were suddenly foreigners on their own lands Faced with the deliberate obliteration of their history culture language and personal experiences these women and men set down the stories of their lives and their communities as a means of both remembering and resisting Genaro M Padilla and other scholars have begun to uncover the huge store of literary materials forgotten in manuscript archives memoirs long out of print others unpublished and unread diaries family histories poetry correspondence and texts of corridos ballads Padilla writes Lives are scattered on broken pages faded partially lost at the margins suspended in language unread until there is a reader who opens the file and begins It is my intention to initiate a recovery of that autobiographical formation that emerged after a war of conquest In providing an overview of this rich literature Padilla also points out the power relations embedded in the narratives showing that the reconstruction of the Mexican past was not merely nostalgic idealization but often an angry and deeply politicized recovery of a world ruptured by American domination

Migrant Daughter Frances Esquibel Tywoniak, Mario T. García, 2000-01-17 Taking us from the open spaces of rural New Mexico and the fields of California's Great Central Valley to the intellectual milieu of student life in Berkeley during the 1950s this memoir based on an oral history by Mario T García is the powerful and moving testimonio of a young Mexican American woman's struggle to rise out of poverty Migrant Daughter is the coming of age story of Frances Esquibel Tywoniak who was born in Spanish speaking New Mexico moved with her family to California during the Depression to attend school and work as a farm laborer and subsequently won a university scholarship becoming one of the few Mexican Americans to attend the University of California Berkeley at that time Giving a personal perspective on the conflicts of living in and between cultures this eloquent story provides a rare glimpse into the life of a young Mexican American woman who achieved her dreams of obtaining a university education In addition to the many fascinating details of everyday life the narrative provides Mario T Garc a s introduction contextualizes the place and importance of Tywoniak s life Both introduction and narrative illustrate the process by which Tywoniak negotiated her relation to ethnic identity and cultural allegiances the ways in which she came to find education as a channel for breaking with fieldwork patterns of life and the effect of migration on family and culture This deeply personal memoir portrays a courageous Mexican American woman moving between many cultural worlds a life story that at times parallels and at times diverges from the real life experiences of thousands of other unnamed women
