New Horizons of Tumor Immunotherapy Motomichi Torisu, Takeshi Yoshida, 1989 Papers of the Nov Dec 1988 meeting held as a follow up to that which took place in Fukuoka in 1983 The title has changed to therapy from immunobiology owing to our clearer grasp of the basic mechanisms of antitumor immunity through our increasing knowledge of various effector cells and their soluble mediators such as lymphokines and cytokines

The participants were largely Japanese and Americans The former have had the advantage of some ten years of use of many biological response modifiers BRM They have developed much data on the basic mechanisms of action through clinical trials The papers deal with tumor cell biology effector cells and molecules approaches to immunotherapy experiments with BRMs and their clinical use Lacks a subject index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Prostate Cancer: New Horizons in Research and Treatment Michael L. Resources in Education ,1985 Multichain Immune Recognition Receptor Signaling Alexander Sigalov,2008-12-16 This book shows how the structural similarity of MIRRs determines the general principles underlying MIRR mediated transmembrane signaling mechanisms In so doing it provides the basis for existing and future therapeutic strategies targeting MIRRs Small Molecule — Protein Interactions Herbert Waldmann,Marcus Koppitz,2003-03-07 Based on the international workshop on Small Molecule Protein Interactions held in Berlin April 24 26 2002 researchers from industry and academic laboratories describe novel and efficient ways selecting promising new drug targets and developing small molecule inhibitors against them The structure of the book corresponds to the different aspects of the drug discovery process All chapters are written by leading experts in the field who present and discuss the most recent state of the art tools and techniques for the development of novel drugs The value of the book lies in surveying and summarizing the approaches taken by different companies and institutions giving the reader a balanced view on the use of the latest techniques on the one hand and experience based assistance in selecting appropriate tools for their own work on the other hand Dietary Fats, Lipids, Hormones, and Tumorigenesis David Heber,David Kritchevsky,2012-12-06 This book was inspired by a gathering of scientists in Los Angeles in 1994 under the auspices of the UCLA Clinical Nutrition Research Unit which is funded by the National Cancer Institute to promote new research into nutrition and cancer prevention This unit supports research integrating basic and metabolic clinical investigations which examine observations from epidemiologic studies and their application to the prevention of common forms of cancer through nutritional intervention There is a great deal of information from epidemiologic experimental and metabolic studies implicating elements of the diet as important in the development and progression of common forms of cancer including breast cancer colon cancer prostate cancer and uterine cancer When these forms of cancer are examined carefully it is clear that they share a number of common etiologic factors related to dietary fat lipids and hormones A human cancer is usually discovered at a point where it has formed a detectable mass For many forms of cancer this may require 10 to 15 years from the time when the cancer is first initiated Nutritional efforts at prevention may delay the progression of cancer to a detectable mass resulting in reduced incidence and may retard the clinical progression and metastatic spread of cancer after its primary treatment
