Benoit,2005-12 This historical novel describes the most shameful event of the 18th century North America It is the little known story of the first settlers on this continent deported by the English from their homeland of Acadia now Nova Scotia The author identifies one family surviving the misadventures of damnation as exiles The Acquisition of Referring Expressions Anne Salazar-Orvig,Geneviève de Weck,Rouba Hassan,Annie Rialland,2021-06-15 This book describes the repertoire and uses of referring expressions by French speaking children and their interlocutors in naturally occurring dialogues at home and at school in a wide range of communicative situations and activities Through the lens of an interactionist and dialogical perspective it highlights the interaction between the formal aspects of the acquisition of grammatical morphemes the discourse pragmatic dimension and socio discursive interactional and dialogical factors Drawing on this multidimensional theoretical and methodological framework the first part of the book deals with the relation between reference and grammar while the second part is devoted to the role of the communicative experience Progressively a set of arguments is brought out in favor of a dialogical and interactionist account of children's referential development This theoretical stance is further discussed in relation to other approaches of reference acquisition Thus this volume provides researchers and students with new perspectives and methods for the study of referring expressions in children

(Non)referentiality in Conversation Michael C. Ewing, Ritva Laury, 2024-08-01 Although there is a large literature on referentiality going back to at least the nineteenth and early twentieth century much of this early work is based on constructed data and most of it is on English The chapters in this volume contribute to a growing body of work that examines referentiality through naturalistic data in context Taking an interactional approach to non referentiality contributors to this volume ask how participants talk in real time about persons and things as individuals or as categories and what distinguishes referential from nonreferential specific from nonspecific and generic from nongeneric Crucially we ask whether these distinctions even matter to participants in conversation and if they do what the evidence for that would be Contributors investigate these issues using data from conversational interaction in a variety of social contexts including between close friends and family to more casual acquaintances in service encounters and between adults and children and in a range of languages English Finnish French Indonesian Japanese and Mandarin Collectively the chapters develop insights showing that reference is often fluid dynamic and indeterminate that referential indeterminacy is typically unproblematic for participants that shifts in referentiality tend to be tied to specific social goals and that reference and referentiality emerge dialogically and interactionally

Fe-Lines Norman R Shapiro, 2015-09-30 The French have long had a love affair with the cat expressed through centuries of poetry portraying the animal's wit and wonder Norman R Shapiro lionizes the feline's limitless allure in this one of a kind collection Spanning centuries and styles he draws on the cats and toms and an honor roll of French poets well known and lesser known who have served as their devoted champions He reveals the remarkable range of French cat poems with most works presented here for the first time in English translation Scrupulously devoted to evoking the meaning and music of the originals Shapiro also respects the works' formal structures Pairing Shapiro's translations with Olga Pastuchiv's elegant illustrations Fe Lines guides the reader through the marvels and inscrutabilities of the Mystique feline
