Hoffmeier, 2015-01-15 Pharaoh Akhenaten who reigned for seventeen years in the fourteenth century B C E is one of the most intriguing rulers of ancient Egypt His odd appearance and his preoccupation with worshipping the sun disc Aten have stimulated academic discussion and controversy for more than a century Despite the numerous books and articles about this enigmatic figure many questions about Akhenaten and the Atenism religion remain unanswered In Akhenaten and the Origins of Monotheism James K Hoffmeier argues that Akhenaten was not as is often said a radical advocating a new religion but rather a primitivist that is one who reaches back to a golden age and emulates it Akhenaten s inspiration was the Old Kingdom 2650 2400 B C E when the sun god Re Atum ruled as the unrivaled head of the Egyptian pantheon Hoffmeier finds that Akhenaten was a genuine convert to the worship of Aten the sole creator God based on the Pharaoh s own testimony of a theophany a divine encounter that launched his monotheistic religious odyssey The book also explores the Atenist religion s possible relationship to Israel s religion offering a close comparison of the hymn to the Aten to Psalm 104 which has been identified by scholars as influenced by the Egyptian hymn Through a careful reading of key texts artworks and archaeological studies Hoffmeier provides compelling new insights into a religion that predated Moses and Hebrew monotheism the impact of Atenism on Egyptian religion and politics and the aftermath of Akhenaten s reign Scanning the Pharaohs Zahi A. Veldmeijer,2011 The discovery of Tutankhamun's tomb by Howard Carter in 1922 is one of the most significant archaeological discoveries of all time. It took Carter and his team 10 years to clear the contents of the tomb and among the objects found was a large collection of shoes and sandals. The footwear is analysed here in detail for the first time since the discovery using Carter's records and Harry Burton's excellent photographs along with the author's analyses of the objects all of which are housed in the Egyptian Museum Cairo and the Luxor Museum. Several specialists contributed to the volume discussing the different materials: gold, vegetable fibre, birch bark, glass and faience, leather, gemstones that were used in the footwear. Tutankhamun's footwear is compared with other finds in order to be able to put it in a broader context. The footwear from the tomb of Yuya and Tjuiu the King's great grandparents are therefore analysed as well. In addition to the analysis of footwear in texts and two and three dimensional art is considered.

The Akhenaten Colossi of Karnak Lise Manniche, 2010. Some of the most fascinating sculptures to have survived from ancient Egypt are the colossal statues of Akhenaten erected at the beginning of his reign in his new temple to the Aten at Karnak. Fragments of more than thirty statues are now known showing the paradoxical features combining male and female, young and aged, characteristic of representations of this king. Did he look like this in real life? Or was his iconography skilfully devised to mirror his concept of his role in the universe? The author presents the history of the discovery of the statue fragments from 1925 to the present day, the profusion of opinions on the appearance of the king and his alleged medical conditions and the various suggestions for an interpretation of the perplexing evidence. A complete catalog of all major fragments is included as well as many pictures not previously published.

Offerings to the Discerning Eye Sue D'Auria, 2010. Egyptologist Jack A. Josephson, a writer and researcher in the tradition of the gentleman scholar, has achieved broad recognition as an authority in Egyptian art history. His lucid investigative analyses have probed and redefined the limits of inquiry, expanded research parameters and broadened perspectives, emphasizing the undeniable contributions of art history in an intra-disciplinary framework. This volume of collected essays is dedicated to Josephson by distinguished friends and colleagues, a select roster including eminent established scholars in the field of Egyptology and rising stars of the younger generation. Josephson views Egyptian art history as a critical but neglected area of study and is a strong proponent of its reinstatement in the academic curriculum as an essential component in the formation of new cadres The quality of the articles in this Egyptological medley is a tribute to the honoree and an affirmation of the esteem of his peers while the range of subjects and variety of themes addressed reflect the degree to which he has in his own scholarship undertaken to implement his ideal
