Questions of Identity in Detective Fiction Anita Higgie, Linda Martz, 2009-03-26 With essays by an international group of scholars Questions of Identity in Detective Fiction delves into the ways in which this genre given its status as popular yet marginalized literature allows for the exploration of a wide range of

meanings Contributors examine how the genre both mirrors and focuses the personal sexual ethnic spiritual how it interfaces with national literatures and histories and how the generic identity of detective fiction has evolved over time Chapters include discussions of novels and short stories from American Argentine British Canadian French German and Japanese national literatures ranging from the mid 19th century to the early 21st century Shades of Noir Joan Copjec,1993 For this was the summer when after the hiatus of the Second World War French critics were again given the opportunity to view films from Hollywood The films they saw including The Maltese Falcon Double Indemnity Laura Murder My Sweet and The Woman in the Window prompted the naming and theorization of a new phenomenon film noir Much of what has been written about the genre since has remained within the orbit of this preliminary assessment While sympathetic towards the early French critics this collection of original essays attempts to move beyond their first fascinated look Beginning with an autonomy of that look of the poujadist climate that nourished it and the imminent collapse of the Hollywood studio system that gave it its mournful inflection Shades of Noir re explores and calls into question the object first constructed by it The impetus for this shift in perspective comes from the films themselves viewed in the light of contemporary social and political concerns and from new theoretical insights Several contributions analyze the re emergence of noir in recent years most notably in the hybrid forms produced in the 1980s by the merging of noir with science fiction and horror for example Blade Runner and Angel Heart and in films by black directors such as Deep Cover Straight out of Brooklyn A Rage in Harlem and One False Move Other essays focus on the open urban territory in which the noir hero hides out the office spaces in Chandler and the palpable sense of waiting that fills empty warehouses corridors and hotel rooms Finally Shades of Noir pays renewed attention to the lethal relation between the sexes to the femme fatale and the other women in noir As the role of women expands the femme fatale remains deadly but her deadliness takes on new meanings Contributors Janet Bergstrom Joan Copjec Elizabeth Cowie Manthia Diawara Frederic Jameson Dean MacCannel Fred Pfeil David Reid and Jayne L Walker Marc Vernet Slavoj Zizek The American Negro Theatre and the Long Civil Rights Era Jonathan Shandell,2018-08-10 Jonathan Shandell provides the first in depth study of the historic American Negro Theatre ANT and its lasting influence on American popular culture Founded in 1940 in Harlem the ANT successfully balanced expressions of African American consciousness with efforts to gain white support for the burgeoning civil rights movement The theatre company featured innovative productions with emerging artists Sidney Poitier Harry Belafonte Ruby Dee and many others who would become giants of stage film and television In 1944 the ANT made theatrical history by creating the smash hit Anna Lucasta the most popular play with an African American cast ever to perform on Broadway Starting from a shoestring budget the ANT grew into one of the most important companies in the history of African American theatre Though the group folded in 1949 it continued to shape American popular culture through the creative work of its many talented artists Examining oral histories playbills scripts production stills and journalistic accounts Shandell gives us the most complete picture to date of the theatre company by analyzing well known productions alongside groundbreaking and now forgotten efforts Shedding light on this often overlooked chapter of African American history which fell between the New Negro Renaissance and the Black Arts Movement Shandell reveals how the ANT became a valued community institution for Harlem an important platform for African American artists to speak to racial issues and a trailblazer in promoting integration and interracial artistic collaboration in the U S In doing so Shandell also demonstrates how a small amateur ensemble of the 1940s succeeded in challenging expanding and transforming how African Americans were portrayed in the ensuing decades The result is a fascinating and entertaining examination that will be of interest to scholars and students of African American and American studies and theatre history as well as popular culture enthusiasts Crimes Against the State, Crimes Against Persons Persephone Braham,2004
