Eden's Other Residents Michael Gilmour, 2014-06-20 The Bible teems with nonhuman life from its opening pages with God's creation of animals on the same day and out of the same earth as humans to its closing apocalyptic scenes of horses riding out of the sky Animals are Adam's companions Noah's shipmates and Elijah's saviors They are at the center of ancient Israel's religious life as sacrifices and yet as Job discovers beyond human dominion It is an animal that saves Balaam from certain death by an angel's hand and an animal that carries Jesus into Jerusalem The Creator declares all of them good at the beginning and since the Apostle Paul writes of God's eternal purposes for all things on earth they are somehow part of a hoped for eschatological restoration So why are animals so often ignored in Christian moral discourse In its theological thinking and faith motivated praxis human centeredness typically results in the complete erasure of the nonhuman This book argues that this exclusion of animals is problematic for those who see the Bible as authoritative for the religious life. Instead biblical literature bears witness to a more inclusive understanding of moral duty and faith motivated largesse that extends also to Eden's other residents. Lymphocyte Differentiation, Recognition, and Regulation David H. Katz, 2014-06-28

Lymphocyte Differentiation Recognition and Regulation provides an overview of the state of knowledge on cellular immunology. The focus is on animal work than on studies in man although in certain areas human lymphocyte biology has been discussed in some detail. The book attempts to integrate information from diverse areas of cellular immunology immunogenetics and immunochemistry to form some cohesive concepts that can be perhaps utilized as a working foundation for students and investigators in various areas of immunology. The book begins with a general description of some of techniques and principles underlying the systems frequently employed in cellular immunology. This is followed by detailed analyses of lymphocyte differentiation receptor function and regulatory processes. The main points that emerge from such analyses are that the immune system is an infinitely complex and finely tuned network of cells receptors and molecules which interact with one another in a genetically controlled manner that is manifested ultimately in the process known as differentiation. Inventing Stanley Park Sean Kheraj, 2013-05-15

In early December 2006 a powerful windstorm ripped through Vancouver's Stanley Park. The storm transformed the city's most treasured landmark into a tangle of splintered trees and shattered a decades old vision of the park as timeless virgin wilderness. In Inventing Stanley Park Sean Kheraj traces how the tension between popular expectations of idealized nature and the volatility of complex ecosystems helped transform the landscape of one of the world's most famous urban parks. This beautifully illustrated book not only depicts the natural and cultural forces that shaped the park's landscape it also examines the roots of our complex relationship with nature. Eden's Endemics Elizabeth Callaway, 2020-08-04

In the past thirty years biodiversity has become one of the central organizing principles through which we understand the nonhuman environment. Its deceptively simple definition as the variation among living organisms masks its status as a hotly contested term both within the sciences and more broadly. In Eden's Endemics Elizabeth Callaway looks to cultural objects novels memoirs databases visualizations and poetry that depict many species at once to consider the question of how we narrate organisms in their multiplicity. Touching on topics ranging from seed banks to science fiction to bird watching Callaway argues that there is no set generally accepted way to measure biodiversity. Westerners tend to conceptualize it according to one or more of an array of tropes rooted in colonial history such as the Lost Eden Noah's Ark and Tree of Life imagery. These conceptualizations affect what kinds of biodiversities are prioritized for protection. While using biodiversity as a way to talk about the world aims to highlight what is most valued in nature it can produce narratives that reinforce certain power differentials with real life consequences for conservation projects. Thus the choices made when portraying biodiversity impact what is visible what is visceral and what is unquestioned common sense about the patterns of life on Earth. Park Science, 2009 Making Sense of Nature Noel Castree, 2013-08-15

to a cacophony of voices instructing us how to think and feel about nature including our own bodies The news media wildlife documentaries science magazines and environmental NGOs are among those clamouring for our attention But are we empowered by all this knowledge or is our dependence on various communities allowing our thoughts sentiments and activities to be unduly governed by others Making Sense of Nature shows that what we call nature is made sense of for us in ways that make it central to social order social change and social dissent By utilising insights and extended examples from anthropology cultural studies human geography philosophy politics sociology science studies this interdisciplinary text asks whether we can better make sense of nature for ourselves and thus participate more meaningfully in momentous decisions about the future of life human and non human on the planet This book shows how nature can be made sense of without presuming its naturalness The challenge is not so much to rid ourselves of the idea of nature and its collateral concepts such as genes but instead we need to be more alert to how why and with what effects ideas about nature get fashioned and deployed in specific situations Among other things the book deals with science and scientists the mass media and journalists ecotourism literature and cinema environmentalists advertising and big business This innovative text contains numerous case studies and examples from daily life to put theory and subject matter into context as well as study tasks a glossary and suggested further reading The case studies cover a range of topics range from forestry in Canada and Guinea to bestiality in Washington State to how human genetics is reported in Western newspapers to participatory science experiments in the UK Making Sense of Nature will empower readers from a wide range of fields across the social sciences humanities and physical sciences

Cultural Contestation Jeroen Rodenberg, Pieter Wagenaar, 2018-07-04 Heritage practices often lead to social exclusion as such practices can favor certain values over others In some cases exclusion from a society's symbolic landscape can spark controversy or rouse emotion so much so that they result in cultural contestation Examples of this abound but few studies explicitly analyze the role of government in these instances In this volume scholars from a variety of academic backgrounds examine the various and often conflicting roles governments play in these processes and governments do play a role They act as authors and authorizers of the symbolic landscape from which societal groups may feel excluded Yet they also often attempt to bring parties together and play a mitigating role

The Middle Ear Sunil Puria, Richard R. Fay, Arthur N. Popper, 2013-03-19 The middle ear plays a vital role in the sense and sensitivity of hearing Of the various characteristics that distinguish mammals from other vertebrates several pertain specifically to the middle ear system such as the presence of three middle ear bones and the four layer composite structure of the tympanic membrane The Middle Ear attempts to elucidate the role this system plays in sound transmission as viewed from both scientific and clinical perspectives
