The Contemporary Relevance of History Salo Wittmayer Baron, 1986 This book explores the puzzling phenomenon of new veiling practices among lower middle class women in Cairo Egypt Although these women are part of a modernizing middle class they also voluntarily adopt a traditional symbol of female subordination How can this paradox be explained An explanation emerges which reconceptualizes what appears to be reactionary behavior as a new style of political struggle as accommodating protest These women most of them clerical workers in the large government bureaucracy are ambivalent about working outside the home considering it a change which brings new burdens as well as some important benefits At the same time they realize that leaving home and family is creating an intolerable situation of the erosion of their social status and the loss of their traditional identity The new veiling expresses women s protest against this MacLeod argues that the symbolism of the new veiling emerges from this tense subcultural dilemma involving elements of both resistance and acquiescence

On the Form of the American Mind Eric Voegelin,1995 In 1924 not quite two years after receiving his doctorate from the University of Vienna Eric Voegelin was named a Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Fellow and thus given the opportunity to pursue postdoctoral studies in the United States For the next twenty four months Voegelin worked with some of the most creative scholars in America and at several of the country s great universities an experience that undoubtedly influenced his scholarly and personal perspectives throughout his life A more immediate result was the publication in 1928 of On the Form of the American Mind the young philosopher s first major work in which his acute perceptions and analyses combine with a conceptual vocabulary struggling to find its own coherence and form Voegelin begins his inquiry into the form of the American mind with a complex discussion of the concepts of time and existence in European and American philosophy and continues with an extended interpretation of George Santayana a study of the Puritan mystic Jonathan Edwards a presentation on Anglo American jurisprudence and a consideration of the historian economist and political scientist John R Commons Voegelin was particularly interested in Commons views on the mental political social and economic aspects of democracy in modern urban and industrial America Although admitting that this diversity of themes seems only loosely connected Voegelin demonstrates the actual overall unity of these various subjects each concerns linguistic expressions of a theoretical nature Analysis of On the Form of the American Mind indicates that Voegelin integrated the approaches of Lebensphilosophie into what Georg Misch called the philosophical combination of anthropology and history which characterized contemporary trends within the discourse of the Geisteswissenschaften and finally resulted in a theoretical paradigm of philosophical anthropology J rgen Gebhardt and Barry Cooper provide access to this brilliant study with their two part introduction The first part considers On the Form of the American Mind in the context of methodological debates ongoing in Germany at the time Voegelin was writing the book the second describes Voegelin s American experience and compares his work with similar studies written during the post World War I period The History of Mankind Friedrich Ratzel,1896

WHEN I GROW UP, I WANT TO BE A CHILD Mani Shankar,2019-11-20 We are all born into this world with total innocence As children we have been spontaneous in our nature either in expressing joy or sorrow Children do not give opinions on what they see around or with whom they grow up Over the years we seem to lose grip of this trait and form our own tendencies towards living The habits that we form takes control of interactions with the world Our natural state of Love that we are gets hidden Man becomes clueless and gets hit by the vicissitudes of social structure We need to rediscover ourselves of our real nature to revel in the child like spontaneity We can do this through awareness of understanding life This book talks about the journey of life that we should consider undertaking It is an adventure to think and act out of the routine The Politics of Historical Memory and Commemoration in Africa Cassandra Mark-Thiesen, Moritz Mihatsch, Michelle Sikes, 2021-12-06 Essays in Memory of Jan Georg Deutsch The volume observes some of the principles that drove Prof Jan Georg Deutsch's research highlighting present day politics for the way they shape historical remembrance learning from people on the ground through fieldwork and oral history and bringing various parts of the African continent into discussion with one another From Cape Town to Charlottesville many societies are grappling with historical consciousness and the production of public memory In particular how and why societies remember and forget what should serve as symbols of collective memory and whether there exists space for multiple memory cultures are questions being vigorously debated once again These discussions present particular challenges not only to official memory bound to ideological constructions of nationhood but also to the teaching of history and its links to social justice movements The volume re-centres Africa and African history in memory studies with each chapter drawing parallels to comparable cases in Africa and the world An underlying assumption is that what can be learned from the politics of historical memory in Africa will have relevance for contemporary politics globally and for understanding how memories can be mobilised for political ends History of Humanity UNESCO, 2008-12-31 This is the seventh and final volume in this comprehensive guide to the history of world cultures throughout historical times Science, Politics, and Friendship in the Works of Thomas Lovell Beddoes Ute Berns, 2012 This study reevaluates the work of the scientist and radical poet and dramatist and English exile in Germany Thomas Lovell Beddoes 1803-1849 While his writing has elicited high praise from poets ranging from Robert Browning through Ezra Pound to John Ashbery scholars have frequently neglected it on grounds of its purportedly morbid and opaque eccentricity Countering this scholarly perception this book deftly relocates Beddoes's poetry drama and prose at the centre of Anglo-German debates on aesthetics and life science politics and theatre in an early nineteenth century European context Aided by his letters from Germany the book re-creates the intercultural discursive universe in which Beddoes easily moves from Shakespeare's plays or the aesthetic experiments of Shelley and his circle to Goethe and to topics debated among Heinrich Heine and the Jungdeutschen from the most advanced contemporary scientific research to the post-Napoleonic politics of the German radical students' organisations and from Byron Baillie and London's illegitimate theatre to Schiller's and Tieck's highly charged reflections on male-male friendship The study combines historicist strategies with theories of performance performativity and visibility as it focuses in particular on Beddoes's major and defining work Death's Jest Book first completed in 1829 and published posthumously after much revision in 1850 This study shows how Death's Jest Book as both drama and poetry devises complex perspectives on scientifically inspired notions of life and history how it forges a radical vision for post-Napoleonic Europe and how it links this vision to a daring conception of desiring gendered selves The book pays close attention to the dialogue Beddoes's writing maintains with Early Modern literature and it highlights the proto modernist features that link his work to that of Brecht and a European theatre avant garde This innovative study of Beddoes's work cutting across current investigations into politics gender and science in intercultural Romantic Studies should be of interest to scholars and students of British Romantic and Victorian studies as well as of German Vormärz studies and to students and scholars of drama and theatre as well as Queer studies
