Return To Aesthetics:

A Return to Aesthetics Jonathan Loesberg, 2005 A Return to Aesthetics confronts postmodernism's rejection of aesthetics by showing that this critique rests on central concepts of classical aesthetic theory namely autonomous form disinterest and symbolic discourse The author argues for the value of these concepts by recovering them through a historical reinterpretation of their meaning prior to their distortion by twentieth century formalism Loesberg then applies these concepts to a discussion of two of the most significant critics of the ideology of Enlightenment Foucault and Bourdieu He argues that understanding the role of aesthetics in the postmodern critique of Enlightenment will get us out of the intellectual impasse wherein numbingly repeated attacks upon postmodernism as self contradictory match numbingly repeated defenses Construing postmodern critiques as examples of aesthetic reseeing gives us a new understanding of the postmodern critique of the Enlightenment

Beyond Return Lucas Hollister, 2019 In Beyond Return Lucas Hollister examines the political orientations of fictions which return to forms that have often been considered sub literary regressive outdated or decadent and suggests new ways of reading contemporary adventure novels radical noir novels postmodernist mysteries war novels and dystopian fictions Shakespeare Studies Today E.

Pechter, 2011-06-06 The Romantics invented Shakespeare studies and in losing contact with our origins we have not been able to develop an adequate alternative foundation on which to build our work This book asserts that among Shakespeareans at present the level of conviction required to sustain a healthy critical practice is problematically if not dangerously low and the qualities which the Romantics valued in an engagement with Shakespeare are either ignored these days or fundamentally misunderstood

Marginal Modernity: The Aesthetics of Dependency from Kierkegaard to Joyce Leonard Lisi, 2013 Marginal Modernity traces the emergence and dissemination of a new aesthetic paradigm from the periphery to the core of European culture This aesthetics of dependency is distinct from the aesthetics of autonomy and fragmentation usually relied on and provides a different structure philosophical foundation and historical condition for modernist works Art History Versus Aesthetics James Elkins, 2012-11-12 In this unprecedented collection over twenty of the world's most prominent thinkers on the subject including Arthur Danto Stephen Melville Wendy Steiner Alexander Nehamas and Jay Bernstein ponder the disconnect between these two disciplines The volume has a radically innovative structure it begins with introductions and centres on an animated conversation among ten historians and aestheticians That conversation was then sent to twenty scholars for commentary and their responses are very diverse some are informal letters and others full essays with footnotes Some think they have the answer in hand and others raise yet more questions The volume ends with two synoptic essays one by a prominent aesthetician and the other by a literary critic This stimulating inaugural volume in the Routledge The Art Seminar series presents not one but many answers to the question Does philosophy have anything to say to art history

The Philistine Controversy Dave Beech, John Roberts, 2002-06-17 Dave Beech and John Roberts develop what they call a counter intuitive notion of the philistine with insights on cultural division and exclusion The Fleeting Promise of Art Peter Uwe Hohendahl, 2013-11-15 A discussion of Theodor Adorno's Aesthetic Theory is bound to look significantly different today than it would have looked when the book was first published in 1970 or when it first appeared in English translation in the 1980s In The Fleeting Promise of Art Peter Uwe Hohendahl reexamines Aesthetic Theory along with Adorno's other writings on aesthetics in light of the unexpected return of the aesthetic to today's cultural debates Is Adorno's aesthetic theory still relevant today Hohendahl answers this question with an emphatic yes As he shows a careful reading of the work exposes different questions and arguments today than it did in the past Over the years Adorno's concern over the fate of art in a late capitalist society has met with everything from suspicion to indifference In part this could be explained by relative unfamiliarity with the German dialectical tradition in North America Today's debate is better informed more multifaceted and further removed from the immediate aftermath of the Cold War and of the shadow of postmodernism Adorno's insistence on the radical autonomy of the artwork has much to offer contemporary discussions of art and the aesthetic in search of new responses to the pervasive effects of a neoliberal art market and culture industry Focusing specifically on Adorno's engagement with literary works Hohendahl shows how radically transformative Adorno's ideas have been and how thoroughly they have shaped current discussions in aesthetics Among the topics he considers are the role of art in modernism and postmodernism the truth claims of artworks the function of the ugly in modern artworks the precarious value of the literary tradition and the surprising significance of realism for Adorno Aesthetic Afterlives Andrew Eastham, 2011-10-06 An original theoretical reading of the emergence of British literary modernity beginning with Victorian Aestheticism and tracing its afterlives into the 21st Century Feminist Aesthetics and the Politics of Modernism Ewa Płonowska Ziarek, 2012 Ewa Ziarek fully articulates a feminist aesthetics focusing on the struggle for freedom in women's literary and political modernism and the devastating impact of racist violence and sexism She examines the contradiction between women's transformative literary and political practices and the oppressive realities of racist violence and sexism and she situates these tensions within the entrenched opposition between revolt and melancholia in studies of modernity and within the friction between material injuries and experimental aesthetic forms Ziarek's political and aesthetic investigations concern the exclusion and destruction of women in politics and literary production and the transformation of this oppression into the inaugural possibilities of writing and action Her study is one of the first to combine an in depth engagement with philosophical aesthetics especially the work of Theodor W Adorno with women's literary modernism particularly the writing of Virginia Woolf and Nella Larsen along with feminist theories on the politics of race and gender By bringing seemingly apolitical gender neutral debates about modernism's experimental forms together with an analysis of violence and destroyed materialities Ziarek challenges both the anti aesthetic subordination of modern literature to its political uses and the appreciation of art's emancipatory potential at the expense of feminist and anti racist political struggles
