Louis Farrakhan Made In America:

Louis Farrakhan A. Marshall, 1996 This biography unfolds Louis Farrakhan's odyssey from the streets of Roxbury to becoming America's most outspoken black leader. It traces his controversial relationship with Malcolm X and examines how Farrakhan rebuilt the Nation of Islam and established himself as the spokesperson for millions of disgruntled African Americans. It details Malcolm X's daughter's alleged plot to have Farrakhan assassinated and the unique way it united opposing factions in the black community. This biography describes Farrakhan's often volatile relationship with black leaders including Jesse Jackson, Khalid Muhammad, and Ben Chavis. It culminates with the historic Million Man March and Farrakhan's subsequent World Friendship Tour. From Amazon.com The debate on black civil rights in America Kevern

Verney, 2024-01-16 This book examines the historiography of the African American freedom struggle from the 1890s to the present. It considers how and why the study of African American history developed from being a marginalized subject in American universities and colleges at the start of the twentieth century to become one of the most extensively researched fields in American history today. There is analysis of the changing scholarly interpretations of African American leaders from Booker T. Washington through to Barack Obama. The impact and significance of the leading civil rights organizations are assessed, as well as the white segregationists who opposed them and the civil rights policies of presidential administrations from Woodrow Wilson to Donald Trump. The civil rights struggle is also discussed in the context of wider political, social, and economic changes in the United States and developments in popular culture. Islam in the African-American Experience, Second Edition Richard Brent Turner, 2003-11-20 Sure to become a classic in the field. Highly recommended. Library Journal full of surprises and intrigues and written in a beautiful style, a breath of fresh air on the African Islamic American connection. Journal of the American Academy of Religion. The involvement of black Americans with Islam reaches back to the earliest days of the African presence in North America. Part I of the book explores these roots in the Middle East, West Africa, and antebellum America. Part II tells the story of the Prophets of the City, the leaders of the new urban-based African American Muslim movements in the 20th century. Turner places the study of Islam in the context of the racial, ethical, and political relations that influenced the reception of successive presentations of Islam, including the West African Islam of slaves, the Ahmadiyya Movement from India, the orthodox Sunni practice of later immigrants, and the Nation of Islam. This second edition features a new introduction which discusses developments since the earlier edition, including Islam in a post 9/11 America. A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women Bayyinah S. Jeffries, 2014-04-04 A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women African American Muslim women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950-1975, challenges traditional notions and interpretations of African American, particularly women who joined the Original Nation of Islam during the Civil Rights/Black Power era. This book is the first major investigation of the subject that engages a wide scope of women from The Nation and utilizes a wealth of primary documents and personal interviews to reveal the importance of women in this community Jeffries reveals that women were respected in the movement and maintained a very clear and often sought after voice in the advancement of the Original Nation of Islam A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women replaces the typical portrait of the subservient and irrelevant African American Muslim woman with a far more accurate picture of their integral leadership and substantial contributions to the rise of Islam and black consciousness in the self determination movement in the United States and beyond during the Civil Rights Black Power era Enemies Within Robert Alan
