Europe's scholarship well into the twentieth century Universities became centers of both state and nation building as well as of confessional resistance placing scholars if not in conflict then certainly at odds with the neutral international orientation of academe By going beyond national narratives Surman reveals the Empire as a state with institutions divided by language but united by legislation practices and other influences Such an approach allows readers a better view to how scholars turned gradually away from state centric discourse to form distinct language communities after 1867 these influences affected scholarship and by examining the scholarly record Surman tracks the turn Drawing on archives in Austria the Czech Republic Poland and Ukraine Surman analyzes the careers of several thousand scholars from the faculties of philosophy and medicine of a number of Habsburg universities thus covering various moments in the history of the Empire for the widest view Universities in Imperial Austria 1848 1918 focuses on the tension between the political and linguistic spaces scholars occupied and shows that this tension did not lead to a gradual dissolution of the monarchy's academia but rather to an ongoing development of new strategies to cope with the cultural and linguistic multitude
