Manuscript Illumination in Lyons, 1473-1530 Elizabeth Burin, 2001 In the late fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries Lyons grew into one of Europe's great commercial centres and even served as an unofficial second capital of the French kingdom While scholars have long recognized the city's prominent role in the history of printing this is the first book to survey the art of manuscript illumination after the introduction of printing to Lyons in 1473 Using the manuscripts themselves as its main source this study identifies and assesses the art of Lyons's busiest illuminators workshops It then reviews the nature of patronage and the activity of the illuminators during the close of the Middle Ages and the dawn of the Renaissance The picture that emerges is one of a tightly knit community of artists adapting their production of fine religious and secular manuscripts to the changing demand of the clergy the merchant class the nobility writers and members of the court A descriptive catalogue provides complementary information on 136 illuminated manuscripts books and leaves many of them never published at length The work is illustrated by a broad selection of colour and black and white reproductions

Sacred Fictions of Medieval France Maureen Barry McCann Boulton, 2015 A study of the immensely popular lives of Christ and the Virgin in medieval France Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages Lucy Donkin, 2022-02-15 Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages illuminates how the floor surface shaped the ways in which people in medieval western Europe and beyond experienced sacred spaces The ground beneath our feet plays a crucial yet often overlooked role in our relationship with the environments we inhabit and the spaces with which we interact By focusing on this surface as a point of encounter Lucy Donkin positions it within a series of vertically stacked layers the earth itself permanent and temporary floor coverings and the bodies of the living above ground and the dead beneath providing new perspectives on how sacred space was defined and decorated including the veneration of holy footprints consecration ceremonies and the demarcation of certain places for particular activities Using a wide array of visual and textual sources Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages also details ways in which interaction with this surface shaped people's identities whether as individuals office holders or members of religious communities Gestures such as trampling and prostration the repeated employment of specific locations and burial beneath particular people or actions used the surface to express likeness and difference From pilgrimage sites in the Holy Land to cathedrals abbeys and local parish churches across the Latin West Donkin frames the ground as a shared surface both a feature of diverse distant places and subject to a variety of uses over time while also offering a model for understanding spatial relationships in other periods regions and contexts *Hans Holbein und der Wandel in der Kunst des frühen 16.
