Petroleum Investment Policies In Developing Countries:

Petroleum Investment Policies in Developing Countries Nicky Beredjick, Thomas W. Wälde, Ian Townsend Gault, 1988 Twelve chapters cover a wide variety of topics including finance contracts political risk insurance legal issues economics and technical cooperation All treatment of these subjects focuses on conditions expected to exist in the mid 1990s No subject index or bibliography Annotation copyright The Development of Iran's Upstream Oil and Gas Industry Mahmoud Fard Kardel, 2019-09-12 This book critically examines different forms of petroleum contracts the historical perspective of the oil and gas industry and the political economy of the petroleum development in Iran In doing this the author provides analysis of the concept of concession in oil and gas development This is discussed through the main forms of concession contracts namely the classic concession contract CCC and the new concession contract NCC The book ties together much of the existing work on the history of oil and gas regulation in Iran and builds on that foundation to propose a coherent and balanced approach within the framework of the NCC To consider the role of the NCC in developing national upstream oil and gas industry comparative examples are drawn from countries currently using or having previously used NCC oil and gas contracts The selected developed and developing countries are Brazil Thailand the United Kingdom Australia and Norway The analysis considers the extent to which the NCC has served to advance the objectives and national interests of the national governments in this industry The book involves a comparative exploration of the utilisation of NCCs in other jurisdictions and synthesises a framework through which Iran may develop its underutilised oil and gas resources Of interest to academics students and practitioners throughout the world this book focuses on the relevant aspects of Iran s Constitution and natural resource laws and makes recommendations for law reform to Iran s legal frameworks

Petroleum Company Operations and Agreements in the Developing Countries Raymond F. Mikesell, 2016-02-12 Originally published in 1984 this study focuses on petroleum agreements between non OPEC LDCs with oil importing LDCs and how issues such as high oil prices affect each country The information presented in this study was drawn from interviews with petroleum officials in petroleum companies petroleum ministries and unpublished documents such as contracts and focussing on case studies of countries such as Peru Guatemala and Malaysia This title will be of interest to students of environmental studies and economics Energy Policy and Regulation in the People's Republic of China C. P. Andrews-Speed, 2004-01-01 China is the world s second largest consumer of commercial energy and is therefore a significant contributor to atmospheric pollution It is becoming a major player in global and regional markets for energy products services and investment This book provides an overview of the formulation and implementation of energy policy in China Part One provides background information on China s energy sector Part Two examines the nature of China s energy policy and of the policy making process with examples drawn from the coal and natural gas sectors as well as from the government s drive to promote energy conservation and energy efficiency Part Three focuses on recent efforts to reform the energy sector in China and to regulate it more effectively paying particular attention to the electrical power sector and to small scale coal mines Part Four evaluates from the perspective of the citizen policy relating to the electrical power sector and to the closure of small scale coal mines Part Five addresses the international dimensions of China's energy policy with accounts of both inward and outward investment and of the international political implications About the author Dr Philip Andrews-Speed is Director of the Centre for Energy Petroleum and Mineral Law and Policy at the University of Dundee Scotland He spent fourteen years as a geologist in the international mining and petroleum industries before coming to the Centre in 1994 gaining an LLM in Energy Law and Policy and joining the academic staff

The Institutions Curse

Victor Menaldo, 2016-08-16 The resource curse is the view that countries with extensive natural resources tend to suffer from a host of undesirable outcomes including the weakening of state capacity authoritarianism fewer public goods war and economic stagnation This book debunks this view arguing that there is an institutions curse rather than a resource curse Legacies endemic to the developing world have impelled many countries to develop natural resources as a default sector in lieu of cultivating modern and diversified economies and bad institutions have also condemned nations to suffer from ills unduly attributed to minerals and oil Victor Menaldo also argues that natural resources can actually play an integral role in stimulating state capacity capitalism industrialization and democracy even if resources are themselves often a symptom of underdevelopment Despite being cursed by their institutions weak states are blessed by their resources greater oil means more development both historically and across countries today

Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1987-07

The Caspian Sea William Ascher, Natalia Mirovitskaya, 2012-12-06 This volume is based on the presentations and deliberations of an Advanced Research Workshop ARW Caspian Sea A Quest for Environmental Security that was held on March 15-19 1999 in Venice Italy The Workshop was sponsored by the NATO's Division for Scientific and Environmental Affairs with additional support provided by the Trust for Mutual Understanding USA It was organized by Duke University's Center for International Development Research with the guidance of the International Committee of scientists from Russia United States Georgia and Italy and organizational assistance rendered by Venice International University The Caspian Sea region is of profound importance from the perspective of global and regional environmental security New geopolitical and economic circumstances have created a mixture of competition reluctant collaboration and legal political economic and ideological wrangling There is an intense debate over how the Caspian and its resources should be divided among littoral states and how these resources are to be developed While most littoral states and the international companies strive to develop the area's immense hydrocarbon potential it is clear that the Caspian's unique and fragile ecosystem is at risk

The Promoting and

Licensing of Petroleum Prospective Acreage Michael Bunter, 2002-01-17 This detailed work is based on more than ten years experience in conducting tenders for the licensing of petroleum prospective acreage on behalf of a number of sovereign governments in Europe Africa and the former Soviet Union It explains the processes of licensing from the points of view of the two main protagonists the government bodies and the international oil companies The book also gives due prominence to the interests of the host communities and to the environment as well as to the neighbouring states and the other participants who may be affected by the licensing process In the modern world petroleum licensing takes place in the full glare of attention from the press and from public opinion This work breaks new ground in recommending ways in which government and the oil companies may devise best practice in licensing to serve the interest of all parties and also an ethical business environment

Petroleum Economics Jean Masseron,1990

The Law and Governance of Mining and Minerals Ana Elizabeth Bastida,2020-12-10 This book explores a disciplinary matrix for the study of the law and governance concerning mining and minerals from a global perspective The book considers the key challenges of achieving the goals of Agenda 2030 and the transition to low carbon circular economies The perspective encompasses the multi faceted and highly complex interaction of multiple fields of international law and policy soft law and standards domestic laws and regulations as well as local levels of ordering of social relations What emerges is a largely neglected unsystematised and under theorised field of study which lies at the intersection of the global economy environmental sustainability human rights and social equity But it also underlies the many loopholes to address at all levels most notably at the local level land and land holders artisanal miners ecosystems local economies local linkages and development The book calls for a truly cosmopolitan academic discipline to be built and identifies challenges to do so It also sets a research agenda for further studies in this fast changing field

Petroleum Investment in Developing Countries Rector Press, Limited,1995-01-01

Environmental Regulation of Oil and Gas Zhiguo Gao,Chih-Kuo Kao,1998-09-10 This book contains in depth articles written by scholars international lawyers and practitioners from around the world It deals with the environmental aspect of the hydrocarbon cycle in general and oil and gas exploration and production in particular Its main thrust is management of environmental legal risks and issues in upstream operations

Joint Development of Hydrocarbon Deposits in the Law of the Sea Vasco Becker-Weinberg,2014-08-05 This book examines the concept and purpose of joint development agreements of offshore hydrocarbon deposits from the perspective of public international law and the law of the sea taking into consideration and extensively reviewing State practice concerning seabed activities in disputed maritime areas and when hydrocarbon deposits extend across maritime boundaries It distinguishes between agreements signed before and after the delimitation of maritime boundaries and analyzes the relevance of natural resources or unitization clauses included in maritime delimitation agreements It also takes into consideration the relation between these resources and maritime delimitation and analyzes all the relevant international jurisprudence Another innovative aspect of this book is that it examines the possibility of joint development of resources that lay between the continental shelf and the Area considering both theoretical and practical problems As such the book is a useful tool for scholars and experts on public international law and the law of the sea but also for national authorities and practitioners of international disputes resolution as well as public and private entities working in
