Engaged Romanticism Mark Lussier, Bruce Matsunaga, 2009-05-27 In November 2006 the International Conference on Romanticism convened for its annual conference on the campus of Arizona State University and explored a wide range of work identified as engaged romantic as a mode and a practice rather than simply as a literary historical period defined by a specific temporal spectrum c 1750 1850 As the introduction to the volume suggests most writers during the period were actively engaged in the cultural articulation of the aesthetics criticism ethics poetics and politics of the age and a large number of writers deployed their talents to help transform the public sphere whether shaping responses to the practices of slavery or resisting the emergence of a crystallized form of Newtonianism at the foundation of Enlightenment epistemology The intellectual and disciplinary range of the essays included in this volume pay tribute to this often neglected aspect of the revolutionary dictates of what has come to be called Romanticism and the following critical essays offered by both thoroughly established and relatively new voices within Romantic Studies examine virtually every aspect of this approach to Romantic thought and writing Whether focused on the formal and intellectual practices at the foundation of the novel the philosophical resonance of William Wordsworth within emergent forms of eco criticism the play of the transatlantic Romantic imagination the aesthetic commitments of Romantic art and music or the current process of pedagogical engagements the essays sound the depths of what engaged practice can accomplish both in the age of Romanticism itself as well as our own moment

Music, Madness, and the Unworking of Language John T Hamilton, 2013-05-14 John T Hamilton investigates how literary philosophical and psychological treatments of music and madness challenge the limits of representation thereby creating a crisis of language He particularly focuses on the decidedly autobiographical impulse of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries where musical experience and mental disturbance disrupt the expression of referential thought illuminating the irreducible aspects of the self before language can work them back into a discursive system The study begins in the 1750s with Diderot's Neveu de Rameau and situates that text in relation to Rousseau's reflections on the voice and the burgeoning discipline of musical aesthetics Hamilton then traces the linkage of music and madness that courses through the work of Herder Hegel Wackenroder and Kleist before turning his attention to E T A Hoffmann whose writings of the first decades of the nineteenth century accumulate and qualify preceding traditions Throughout his analysis Hamilton considers the particular representations that link music and madness exploring underlying motives preconceptions and ideological premises that facilitate the association of these two experiences

Afterlives of Romantic Intermediality Leena Eilittä, Catherine Riccio-Berry, 2015-12-24 Afterlives of Romantic

Intermediality addresses the manifold even global artistic developments that were initiated by European Romantics In the first section the contributors show how the rising perspective of intermediality was discussed in philosophical terms and adapted itself to Romantic literature and music In the second section the contributors show how post Romantic writers visual artists and composers have engaged with Romantic heritage By exploring primary works that range from European arts to Latin American literature these essays focus on the interdisciplinary developments that have emerged in literature music painting film architecture and video art Overall the contributions in this volume demonstrate that intermedial connections or sometimes the conscious lack of such connections embody intriguing aspects of modernity and postmodernity The

Melody of Time Benedict Taylor,2016 Music has been seen since the Romantic era as the quintessentially temporal art possessing a unique capacity to invoke the human experience of time The Melody of Time explores the multiple ways in which music may provide insight into the problematics of time spanning the dynamic century between Beethoven and Elgar

Universal Catalogue of Books on Art: L to Z National Art Library (Great Britain),1870 Absolute Music and the Construction of Meaning Daniel Chua,1999-11-25 This book is born out of two contradictions first it explores the making of meaning in a musical form that was made to lose its meaning at the turn of the nineteenth century secondly it is a history of a music that claims to have no history absolute music The book therefore writes against that notion of absolute music which tends to be the paradigm for most musicological and analytical studies It is concerned not so much with what music is but with why and how meaning is constructed in instrumental music and what structures of knowledge need to be in place for such meaning to exist From the thought of Vincenzo Galilei to that of Theodore Adorno Daniel Chua suggests that instrumental music has always been a critical and negative force in modernity even with its nineteenth century apotheosis as absolute music Notes and Queries ,1870 Pure and Programme Music in the Romanticism Magda Polo

Pujandas,2016-05-31 One of the most difficult challenges a music theoretician faces be it historically philosophically or in other aspects is that of correctly and precisely framing the meaning that music has in a specific moment deducing the why and revealing the secret hidden within The book Pure and Programme Music in the Romanticism a rigorous and indispensable study to understand music in the period in which music as an expression of feelings begins to reach the threshold of the sublime primarily focusing attention on what pure and programme music represent Both types of music are instrumental but the difference between them is that the first one pure music exists on its own and for its own sake establishing an iron clad alliance with the form Programme music is inspired by other forms of artistic expression especially literature and is indelibly linked with the content However halfway between these two types of music a new one is born absolute music This music is the result from the dialectic established between the pure and programme exactly in the middle of two opposing philosophies that of Idealism and that of Materialism All of this context described in this book is what defines the essence of Romantic music but also what allows us to understand the music of the twentieth century and that of today because the controversy between pure music and programme music has represented in the history of western musical thought the turning point that led to the creation of the Gesamtkunstwerk Total Work of Art and the relationship between music and film for example as well as other artistic expressions
