"A" Force Whitney Bendeck, 2013-10-15 June 1940 The Italians declared war on the British Completely unprepared for war the British had only 35 000 troops to defend Egypt Opposing them the Italian army in Libya numbered at least 215 000 in East Africa the Italians could muster another 200 000 men against a meager 19 000 British and commonwealth troops positioned in the Sudan and East Africa Out numbered and unlikely to receive sizable reinforcements of men or desperately needed supplies it is surprising that the British survived But they did How They got creative Under the leadership of General Archibald P Wavell the commander in chief of the Middle East the British set out to greatly exaggerate the size of their forces supply levels and state of battle readiness When their deceitful charades proved successful Wavell turned trickery into a profession and created an entirely new agency dedicated to carrying out deception A Force The Origins of British Military Deception during the Second World War looks at how and why the British first employed deception in WWII More specifically it traces the development of the A Force organization the first British organization to practice both tactical and strategic deception in the field Formed in Cairo in 1941 A Force was headed by an unconventional colonel named Dudley Wrangel Clarke Because there was no precedent for Clarke's A Force it truly functioned on a trial and error basis The learning curve was steep but Clarke was up for the challenge By the Battle of El Alamein British deception had reach maturity Moreover it was there that the deceptionists established the deception blueprint later used by the London planners used to plan and execute Operation Bodyguard the campaign to conceal Allied intentions regarding the well known D day landing at Normandy In contrast to earlier deception histories that have tended to focus on Britain's later deception coups Bodyguard thus giving the impression that London masterminded Britain's deception efforts this work clearly shows that British deception was forged much earlier in the deserts of Africa under the leadership of Dudley Clarke not London Moreover it was born not out of opportunity but out of sheer desperation A Force explores an area of deception history that has often been neglected While older studies and documentaries focused on the D day deception campaign and Britain's infamous double agents this work explores the origins of Britain's deception activities to reveal how the British became such masterful deceivers

Mystery of Substance to share the writer's authentic experience of the divine substantia the living reality of Christ in the world Beckh's Alchymy set an entirely new standard and went on to become his most popular publication This is the first time that it has been translated into English along with updated footnotes making his ideas and insights accessible to a wide readership In addition this edition features translations of Beckh's The New Jerusalem where theology could best be expressed in verse his exemplary essay on Snow white observations on Allerleirauh and a substantial excerpt from Gundhild Kaer Bock's biography of Beckh
