The Nursing Process as a Strategy for a (De-)Professionalization in Nursing Jette Lange,2024-05-06

The nursing process generally is understood as key element of professional nursing care in Germany This study follows this argument back to the introduction of the nursing process in the 1970s and 1980s At that time the German healthcare system underwent dramatic changes and economic reorganization which can be understood as the emergence of the neoliberal rationale in Germany The argument of cost explosion was used to restructure hospitals into enterprises that were to operate based on the logic of the market Its cybernetic logic made the nursing process an ideal instrument to restructure nursing care Perspectives of governmentality and critical accounting reveal the nursing process as an accounting tool which has made nursing calculable And while German nurses valued its potential for professionalization the findings suggest that a newly constituted accountable nursing vocation can instead be considered as de professionalizing

Actions for Gender

Balance in Informatics Across Europe Birgit Penzenstadler,Karima Boudaoud,Antinisca Di Marco,Sonay Caner-Yıldırım,2025-08-08 This book is a open access The primary purpose of this book is to serve as a comprehensive guide translating research into best practices to promote gender inclusivity in informatics The handbook seeks to empower its readers providing them with actionable recommendations to bridge the gender gap in informatics This initiative aims to have an immediate impact on the informatics community raising awareness and interest through its practical resources and on the society bringing more women into computer science and technological studies and following career steps This book provides you with five years of research on gender equity and improving the gender balance in Informatics across Europe It translates current research on gender inclusivity into practical strategies and intervention methods It offers recommendations for the recruitment retention and promotion of female computer scientists at different academic and industrial levels and insights into fostering mutually beneficial cooperation between universities and industries We have collected data from different target audiences and different education and career levels to provide insights into why we have low girl and women participation rates in sciences why we have a leaky pipeline in academia and why women leave the industry We have analyzed this data and identified four target audiences for activities and policy influence We provide sets of recommendations for each of these target groups on how to become active in advocacy as well as specific actions in their daily environments to improve learning and work environments as well as retention of women students and personnel We provide ample scenarios of how to apply our findings in practice and share materials both in the book as well as in free public access online documentation to further disseminate and make use of this knowledge The book serves as joint European voice of Informatics to increase the equity for women in the field Process-Based CBT Steven C. Hayes, Stefan G. Hofmann, 2018-01-02 Edited by Steven C Hayes and Stefan G Hofmann and based on the new training standards developed by The Inter Organizational Task Force on Cognitive and Behavioral Psychology Doctoral Education this groundbreaking resource is the first to present the core competencies of cognitive behavioral therapy CBT in a way that honors the behavioral cognitive and acceptance and mindfulness wings of that tradition and includes contributions from some of the luminaries in behavioral science today

Dual-process Theories in Social Psychology Shelly Chaiken, Yaacov Trope, 1999-02-19 This informative volume presents the first comprehensive review of research and theory on dual process models of social information processing These models distinguish between qualitatively different modes of information processing in making decisions and solving problems e g associative versus rule based controlled versus uncontrolled and affective versus cognitive modes Leading contributors review the basic assumptions of these approaches and review the ways they have been applied and tested in such areas as attitudes stereotyping person perception memory and judgment Also examined are the relationships between different sets of processing modes the factors that determine their utilization and how they work in combination to affect responses to social information A Contemporary Nursing Process Rozzano C. Locsin, Marguerite Purnell, Marguerite J. Purnell, 2009-04-10

This book speaks against thinking that we can only understand nursing from a traditional logical empirical approach suggesting we need a contemporary process for exploring nursing I can't agree more Journal of Christian Nursing Nurse scholars from across the globe contribute essays to this unique philosophical exploration of today's nursing This book presents an emerging view that requires nursing to look at its work through a broader and less structured lens Challenging the structure of the traditional nursing process the book considers nursing as reflective and thoughtful Doody's A Contemporary Nursing Process re envisions the practice of nursing by configuring caring in terms of the person the nurse cares for Locsin and Purnell stress the importance of knowing the patient and differentiating the person from the disease This text addresses this highly relevant issue and provides a wealth of insight on how to care for the patient on a personal level while still professionally administering clinical treatment Chapters discuss How to appreciate persons as participants in their care rather than as objects of care The ideal of care versus the practical demands of care Technological advancements shaping human life and nursing The consequences of not knowing the patient on a personal level Input, Process and
