During the 19th century the U S and Britain came to share an economic profile unparalleled in their respective histories This book suggests that this early high capitalism came to serve as the ground for a new kind of cosmopolitanism in the age of literary realism and argues for the necessity of a transnational analysis based upon economic relationships of which people on both sides of the Atlantic were increasingly conscious The nexus of this exploration of economics aesthetics and moral philosophy is philanthropy Pushing beyond reductive debates over the benevolent or mercenary qualities of industrial era philanthropy the following questions are addressed what form and function does philanthropy assume in British and American fiction respectively What are the rhetorical components of a discourse of philanthropy and in which cultural domains did it operate How was philanthropy practiced and represented in a period marked by self interest and rational calculation The author explores the relationship between philanthropy and literary realism in novels by Charles Dickens

Nathaniel Hawthorne George Eliot and William Dean Howells and examines how each used the figure of philanthropy both to redefine the sentiments that informed social identity and to refashion their own aesthetic practices The heart of this study consists of two comparative sections the first contains chapters on contemporaries Hawthorne and Dickens the second contains chapters on second generation realists Eliot and Howells in order to examine the altruistic imagination at a culminating point in the history of literary realism A History of English Philanthropy Benjamin Kirkman Gray,1905

Gregory,2017-07-05 Robert G Gregory challenges the apparent assumption that non Western peoples lack a significant indigenous philanthropic culture Focusing on the large South Asian community in East Africa he relates how over a century they built a philanthropic culture of great magnitude and how it finally collapsed under the ascendancy of increasing state regulation and policies directed against non African communities Compelled by poverty to seek better opportunities overseas most Asians arrived in East Africa as peasant farmers Denied access to productive land and sensing economic opportunity they turned to business Despite severe forms of racial discrimination in the colonial society they suffered few restrictions on their business enterprises and some became very wealthy Gregory s historical analysis shows philanthropy as an important contribution one that stemmed from deep roots in Hindu Muslim and Buddhist culture The sense of nonracial social responsibility cultivated social medical and educational facilities designed for all This age of philanthropy terminated with the Asian exodus The socialist and racial policies adopted by East African governments over the past few decades have virtually destroyed the foundation necessary for philanthropy as well as the distinct Asian cultural identity Gregory s account of the East Asian s role in philanthropy deserves great attention and sober reflection Report of the Board of Charities of the District of Columbia Board of Charities of the District of Columbia,1906 Charities ,1904
