Genocide, Ethnonationalism, and the United Nations Hannibal Travis, 2013 Genocide Ethnonationalism and the United Nations examines a series of related crises in human civilization growing out of conflicts between powerful states or empires and indigenous or stateless peoples This is the first book to attempt to explore the causes of genocide and other mass killing by a detailed exploration of UN archives covering the period spanning from 1945 through 2011 Hannibal Travis argues that large states and empires disproportionately committed or facilitated genocide and other mass killings between 1945 and 2011 His research incorporates data concerning factors linked to the scale of mass killing and recent findings in human rights political science and legal theory Turning to potential solutions he argues that the concept of genocide imagines a future system of global governance under which the nation state itself is made subject to law The United Nations however has deflected the possibility of such a cosmopolitical law It selectively condemns genocide and has established an institutional structure that denies most peoples subjected to genocide of a realistic possibility of global justice lacks a robust international criminal tribunal or UN army and even encourages security cooperation among states that have proven to be destructive of peoples in the past Questions raised include What have been the causes of mass killing during the period since the United Nations Charter entered into force in 1945 How does mass killing spread across international borders and what is the role of resource wealth the arms trade and external interference in this process Have the United Nations or the International Criminal Court faced up to the problem of genocide and other forms of mass killing as is their mandate

A Cloud Forest Food Chain Donald Wojahn, Rebecca Hogue Wojahn, 2009-08-01 Welcome to an African cloud forest As you set off down the mountain path all you see ahead is a thick tangle of vines and bamboo trees But the cloud forest is full of life from a collared sunbird hovering over some flowers to a leopard stalking a giant forest hog Day and night in the cloud forest the hunt is on to find food and to avoid becoming someone else s next meal All living things are connected to one another in a food chain from animal to animal animal to plant plant to insect and insect to animal What path will you take to follow the food chain through the cloud forest Will you Watch a fierce honey badger battle a dangerous snake Slink along with an African golden cat as it tails its prey Munch on some leaves with a family of mountain gorillas Follow all three chains and many more on this who eats what adventure
