Rainer Maria Rilke's The Book of Hours Rainer Maria Rilke, 2008 The Book of Hours, written in three bursts between 1899-1903, is Rilke's most formative work, covering a crucial period in his rapid ascent from fin de siècle epigone to distinctive modern voice. The poems are crucial documents of Rilke's development from his tour around Russia with Lou Andreas Salome through his hasty marriage to Clara Westhoff in the artists' community of Worpswede to his turn toward the urban modernity of Paris. Rilke assumes the persona of an artist-monk undertaking the Romantics' journey into the self, speaking to God as part-transcendent deity, part-needy neighbor. Echoes of his juvenile style persist yet, by the end of the book, the influence of the sculptor Rodin is discernible in the distinctive idiom of urbanity in the terminology of things and in Rilke's turn to the everyday world around him. Letters of Rainer Maria Rilke, 1892-1910 Rainer Maria Rilke, 1969-02-17 This representative selection from Rilke's large and extraordinary correspondence provides a kind of spiritual autobiography of the poet. The period here covered reflects all the great experiences of Rilke's early adult life: his difficult beginnings, his relationships with Lou Andreas Salome and with his wife Clara, his two journeys to Russia, his contact with the Worpswede artists, the influence of Paris, the revelation of Cézanne. Many of the letters are psychologically revealing, many touch upon characteristic themes or freshly transcribe experience that sooner or later passes into the poetry.

The Poet's Guide to Life Rainer Maria Rilke, 2005 Presents a selection of observations and reflections on the topics of illness and death, dreams and religion, language and art, love and happiness, work and ambition, and childhood and old age.

cooperates in the achievement of its material aims but Art alone gives to the age its spiritual physiognomy its ultimate and lasting expression The process of Art is on the one hand sensuous the conception having for its basis the fineness of organization of the senses and on the other hand it is severely scientific the value of the creation being dependent upon the craftsmanship the mastery over the tool the technique Art like Nature its great and only reservoir for all time past and all time to come ever strives for elimination and selection It is severe and aristocratic in the application of its laws and impervious to appeal to serve other than its own aims Its purpose is the symbolization of Life In its sanctum there reigns the silence of vast accomplishment the serene final and imperturbable solitude which is the ultimate criterion of all great things created To speak of Poetry is to speak of the most subtle the most delicate and the most accurate instrument by which to measure Life

Wartime Letters of Rainer Maria Rilke Rainer Maria Rilke, 1964-05-17 The letters Rilke wrote during the war and postwar years are of particular interest not only for whatever they may contain of the wisdom of the poet the artist and the humanitarian but for their analysis of the intellectual and spiritual currents of the time These letters give the account of Rilke's own state of mind and of his final approach to the threshold of his great works They show the rapid change he underwent after his reaction to the first excitement of the war how his dismay at the cruelty and confusion of war helped to render the poet in him speechless for many years how he nevertheless characteristically held to his own fundamental views throughout war and revolution and in spite of everything retained his belief in the capacity of humanity to create for itself a better future
