of dis alienating or as it were de Othering oneself and one s community The contributors to this book explore the different ways from the most institutional to the most intimate in which people articulate the politics of memory and the creation of national narratives or communal and personal identities Mythologies of Migration, Vocabularies of Indenture Mariam Pirbhai, 2009-01-01 Pirbhai uses the critical paradigm of indenture history to examine the local literary and cultural histories that have influenced and shaped the development of novel length fiction by writers of the South Asian diaspora in national contexts as diverse as Mauritius South Africa Guyana and Fiji Indo-Caribbean Feminist Thought Gabrielle Jamela Hosein, Lisa Outar, 2016-11-25 Bringing together three generations of scholars thinkers and activists this book is the first to trace a genealogy of the specific contributions Indo Caribbean women have made to Caribbean feminist epistemology and knowledge production Challenging the centrality of India in considerations of the forms that Indo Caribbean feminist thought and praxis have taken the authors turn instead to the terrain of gender negotiations among Caribbean men and women within and across racial class religious and political affiliations Addressing the specific conditions which emerged within the region and highlighting the cross racial solidarities and the challenges to narratives of purity that have been constitutive of Indo Caribbean feminist thought this collection connects to the broader indentureship diaspora and what can be considered post indentureship feminist thought Through examinations of literature activism art biography scholarship and public sphere practices the collection highlights the complexity and richness of Indo Caribbean engagements with feminism Brixton Rock Alex Wheatle, 2014-11-30 Pacey witty his characters are real and recognisable LINTON and social justice KWESI JOHNSON Alex Wheatle writes from a place of honesty and passion with the full knowledge and understanding that change can only happen through words and actions STEVE McQUEEN director of Small Axe South London in the 1980s Brenton Brown is a 16 year old mixed heritage boy who has lived in a children's home all his life He has never met his mother and is haunted by her loss The best thing happens Brenton is reunited with his mother Cynthia And then the worst he falls in love with his beautiful half sister Juliet At the same time Brenton meets his nemesis in the shape of Terry Flynn a killer who scars him for life Brenton must seek revenge All this leads to an explosive climax as Brenton struggles to hold on to his sanity Brixton Rock is the powerfully explosive debut of one of the UK s finest writers with pitch perfect descriptions of South Asian Canadian Writing Beyond Autoethnography Christl Verduyn, 2008-08-14 Asian Canadian Writing London street life Beyond Autoethnography explores some of the latest developments in the literary and cultural practices of Canadians of Asian heritage While earlier work by ethnic multicultural or minority writers in Canada was often concerned with immigration the moment of arrival issues of assimilation and conflicts between generations literary and cultural production in the new millennium no longer focuses solely on the conflict between the Old World and the New or the clashes between culture of origin and adopted culture No longer are minority authors identifying simply with their ethnic or racial cultural background in opposition to dominant culture The essays in this collection explore ways in which Asian Canadian authors

such as Larissa Lai Shani Mootoo Fred Wah Hiromi Goto Suniti Namjoshi and Ying Chen and artists such as Ken Lum Paul Wong and Laiwan have gone beyond what Fran oise Lionnet calls autoethnography or ethnographic autobiography They demonstrate the ways representations of race and ethnicity particularly in works by Asian Canadians in the last decade have changed have become more playful untraditional aesthetically and ideologically transgressive and exciting History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-10-03 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume s 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others Postcolonial Studies Pramod K.
