development and why it is that regions vary so much in their economic structure and performance and how these aspects of a region can change dramatically over time Regional scientists in particular have developed a comprehensive tool kit of methodologies to measure and monitor regional economic characteristics such as industry sectors employment income value of production investment and the like using both quantitative and qualitative methods of analysis and focusing on both static and dynamic analysis The father of regional science Walter Isard was the first to put together a comprehensive volume on techniques of regional analysis Isard 1960 and since then a huge literature has emerged including the many titles in the series published by Springer in which this book is published      Environmental Guidelines for Settlements Planning and Management United Nations Centre for Human Settlements,1987      Community Planning Stephanie B.
