

Fabric As...

As a material, fabric is a complex and versatile medium. It can be used to create a wide range of textures, colors, and patterns, and it can be manipulated in a variety of ways. In this exhibition, we explore the many possibilities of fabric as a medium for artistic expression.

The first section of the exhibition focuses on the use of fabric in traditional textile arts. We feature a collection of hand-woven textiles from various cultures, including a vibrant piece from the Andes and a delicate lace from the Philippines. These works demonstrate the skill and creativity involved in traditional textile production.

The second section of the exhibition explores the use of fabric in contemporary art. We feature a collection of works by contemporary artists who have used fabric in a variety of ways, including as a medium for sculpture, installation, and performance. These works challenge our understanding of what fabric is and what it can do.

The final section of the exhibition focuses on the use of fabric in fashion. We feature a collection of garments from contemporary designers who have used fabric in a variety of ways, including as a medium for sculpture, installation, and performance. These works challenge our understanding of what fashion is and what it can do.
