New Models For Communication Research:

New Models for Communication Research Peter Clarke, 1974-03-01 New Models for Communication Research Peter Clarke, 1973 Communication Models for the Study of Mass Communications Denis McQuail, Sven Windahl, 2015-12-22 Presents the main existing models of the mass communications process which have been developed during the last thirty years providing brief descriptions of the most significant concepts and ideas in the study of mass communication using graphic and verbal models New Models for communication research, 1973 Action Theory and Communication Research Karsten Renckstorf, Denis McQuail, Judith E. Rosenbaum, Gabi Schaap, 2008-08-22 The action theoretical approach has already proved its value as a framework for communication research most especially in the study of media audiences and media use It has deep roots in Weberian sociology symbolic interactionism and phenomenology and it has been a robust survivor of the various storms that have beset the practice of the social sciences since the collapse of structuralist and social system paradigms The social action approach privileges the perspective of the acting individual but offers guidelines for connecting the subjective orientation with networks of social interaction and for treating behaviour as a social process Research within this framework takes account of the wider social context and calls for a careful combination of empirical observation and interpretation with a corresponding diversity of methodologies The appeal of the approach stems also from its flexibility wide range of applications and sensitivity to cultural and social meanings The contributions assembled in this book despite their diversity can all be placed within the framework of social action theory Some are reports of empirical inquiries others reflections on theory but each one sheds some light on the significance of media use in everyday experience and contributes to an understanding of communication in society Theories and Models of Communication Paul Copley, Peter J. Schulz, 2013-01-30 This unique volume offers an overview of the diversity in research on communication including perspectives from biology sociality economics norms and human development It includes general social science and humanities approaches to communication from systems theory to cultural theory as well as perspectives more specifically related to communication acts such as linguistics and cognition The volume also features chapters on the participants and various elements in communication processes on possible effects and on wider consequences of mediation with technical media The scope of the contributions is global and the volume is relevant to both the empirical and the philosophical traditions in human sciences Designed as a stand alone collection to engage undergraduates as well as postgraduates and academics this is also the first book in and an introduction to the De Gruyter Mouton multi volume Handbooks of Communication Science Handbook of Communication Models, Perspectives, Strategies Uma Narula, 2014-12 New Ideas New Models Of Communications And Newer Perspectives Through Which Communication Has Been Studied Applied Or Practiced Have Evolved And Changed Overtime But They All Exist In Juxtaposition So As To Present An Integrated Scenario Of Communications Per Se In 2000 Decades In The Book Seven Salient Perspectives Are Presented All Intertwined

Mass Communications

Research Methods H.J. Hsia, 2015-10-23 Originally published in 1988 Step by step this book leads students from problem identification through the mazes of surveys experimentation historical qualitative studies statistical analysis and computer data processing to the final submission and publication in scientific or popular publications Public Relations Research Annual James E. Grunig, Larissa A. Grunig, 2016-12-14 The first volume of this series features reviews of research programs original research reports and social scientific historical critical and humanistic methodologies McQuail's Mass Communication Theory Denis McQuail, 2005-05-20 This fully revised and updated edition provides a comprehensive non technical introduction to the range of approaches to understanding mass communication Psychological Processes and Advertising Effects Linda F. Alwitt, Andrew A. Mitchell, 2022-02-16 In the 1980s our understanding of how advertising affects consumer behavior was undergoing a dramatic transformation Recent theoretical and methodological advances in cognitive psychology social cognition and artificial intelligence were largely responsible for this transformation These advances provided a better understanding of the information acquisition process and how information is stored in memory Consequently we have been able to incorporate memory the processing of visual information and affect into our models of advertising effects However there were still many unanswered questions Among these are 1 Exactly what is the relationship between the different mediators of persuasion 2 How is memory for advertising related to persuasion 3 What are the theoretical underpinnings of attitude toward the advertisement 4 What determines the effect of persuasion over time 5 What factors affect attention to advertising 6 What psychological processes occur during the watching of a television commercial and 7 What factors affect individual differences in the processing of advertising messages Originally published in 1985 the chapters in this volume provide insights into these questions They are organized in terms of four psychological processes which contribute to our understanding of how advertising works These are affective reactions to advertisements persuasion psychological processes during television viewing and involvement Television and Social Behavior Stephen B. Withey, Ronald P. Abeles, 2013-07-24 This book published originally in 1980 addressed the needs for a profile of televised violence which considered the advantages and disadvantages of various measures and for a furthering of research directions beyond the then popular emphasis on children The Committee on Television and Social Behavior was formed in 1972 and stimulated new research in order to provide a multidimensional profile of the social effects of television programming Chapters here look at the effect of television on adults as well as children particularly special audiences such as the elderly and minority groups An excellent summary of the various conceptual substantive and methodological issues around television's influence Public Relations Theory Carl H. Botan, 2017-10-03 Beginning with the basic premise that public relations can best be understood as a specialized type of communication the contributors to this volume establish public relations as a vital and viable realm for communication research and theory development Through the application of communication theories they attempt to explain and predict public relations practices and then use these practices to develop communication theories Their discussions fall into three distinct categories metatheory theory and examples of applications of theories An ideal volume for professionals and students in communication journalism and related fields Psychology of Entertainment Jennings Bryant, Peter Vorderer, 2013-10-31 As entertainment becomes a trillion dollar a year industry worldwide as our modern era increasingly lives up to its label of the entertainment age and as economists begin to recognize that entertainment has become the driving force of the new world economy it is safe to say that scholars are beginning to take entertainment seriously The scholarly spin on entertainment has been manifested in traditional ways as well as innovative ones Representing the current state of theory and research Psychology of Entertainment promises to be the most comprehensive and up to date volume on entertainment It serves to define the new area of study and provides a theoretical spin for future work in the area Divided into three basic parts this book addresses the fundamental mechanisms and processes involved in orienting to and selecting entertainment fare as well as receiving and processing it explores the mechanisms and processes by which we are entertained by the media messages we select and receive and provides an opportunity for the application of well established as well as emerging psychological and psychobiological theories to be applied to the study of entertainment in ways that seldom have been utilized previously Psychology of Entertainment will appeal to scholars researchers and graduate students in media studies and mass communication psychology marketing and other areas contributing to the entertainment studies area Diffusion of Innovations in Health Service Organisations Sir Trisha Greenhalgh, Sir Glenn Robert, Sir Paul Bate, Sir Fraser Macfarlane, Sir Olivia Kyriakidou, 2008-04-15 This is a systematic review on how innovations in health service practice and organisation can be disseminated and implemented This is an academic text originally commissioned by the Department of Health from University College London and University of Surrey using a variety of research methods The results of the review are discussed in detail in separate chapters covering particular innovations and the relevant contexts The book is intended as a resource for health care researchers and academics Advances in Culture, Tourism and Hospitality Research Arch G. Woodside, 2008-07-25 Presents answers to the following questions how do tourists go about seeking high novelty and yet return to the same destination How do some firms in the same industry end up embracing industrial tourism while other firms reject such business models How do executive leadership styles affect employee satisfaction in international tourist hotels Narrative Impact Melanie C. Green, Jeffrey J. Strange, Timothy C. Brock, 2003-01-30 The impact of public narratives has been so broad including effects on beliefs and behavior but extending beyond to emotion and personality that the stakeholders in the process have been located across disciplines institutions governments and indeed across epochs Narrative Impact draws upon scholars in diverse branches of psychology and media research to explore the subjective experience of public narratives the affordances of the narrative environment and the roles played by narratives in both personal and collective spheres The book brings together current theory and research presented primarily from an empirical psychological and communications perspective as well as contributions from literary theory sociology and censorship studies To be commensurate with the broad scope of influence of public narratives the book includes the narrative mobilization of major social movements the formation of self concepts in young people banning of texts in schools the constraining impact of narratives on jurors in the court room and the wide use of education entertainment to affect social changes Taken together the interdisciplinary nature of the book and its stellar list of contributors set it apart from many edited volumes Narrative Impact will draw readership from various fields including sociology literary studies and curriculum policy Providing new explanatory concepts this book is the first account on the psychology of narrative persuasion and brings together the relevant conceptualizations from within various sectors of psychology together with the major issues that concern cognate disciplines outside of psychology focuses on understanding the mechanisms that underlie the power of public narratives to achieve broad historical and social changes offers breakthroughs to the future the role of presence in virtual reality narratives the role of zines in females fashioning of their selves and the central role of imagery in transportation into narrative worlds explains varying roles of emotion in narrative immersion and addresses the growing blurring of fact and fiction mechanisms and implications for beliefs and behavior

Selected Aspects of Consumer Behavior, 1977 Making Innovation Last: Volume 2 Hubert GATIGNON, David Gotteland, Christophe Haon, 2015-11-02 Making Innovation Last considers the long term success of a firm Authored by a trio of top international scholars who present pioneering new work on what it takes to create long term growth the book examines the internal conditions that are likely to encourage sustainable innovation as well as what a culture of innovation should look like
