Funding Religious Heritage Anne Fornerod, 2016-03-09 This collection brings together a group of highly respected law and religion scholars to explore the funding of religious heritage in the context of state support for religions The importance of this state support is that on the one hand it illustrates the potential tensions between secular and religious values whilst on the other it constitutes a relevant tool for investigating the question of the legitimacy of such financial support The funding logically varies according to the national system of state religion relationships and this is reflected in the range of countries studied including Belgium Bulgaria Denmark France Italy The Netherlands Spain Turkey and the United Kingdom The book provides clarity in the assignment of funds to religious heritage as well as seeking to define the limit of what relates to the exercise of worship and what belongs to cultural policy It is clear that the main challenge for the future lies not only in managing the dual purpose of religious monuments but also in re using these buildings which have lost their original purpose This collection will appeal to those interested in cultural heritage management as well as law and religion scholars The views expressed during the execution of the RELIGARE project in whatever form and or by whatever medium are the sole responsibility of the authors The European Union is not liable for any use that may be made of the information contained therein

Public Funding of Religions in Europe Francis Messner,2016-04-15 This collection brings together legal scholars canonists and political scientists to focus on the issue of public funding in support of religious activities and institutions in Europe The study begins by revolving around the various mechanisms put in place by the domestic legal systems as well as those resulting from the European law of human rights and the law of the European Union It then goes on to look at state support and particular religious groups The presentation of European and national law is supplemented by theoretical and interdisciplinary contributions with the main focus being to bring into discussion and map the relationship between the funding of religions and the economy and to infer from it an attempt at a systematic examination or theorization of such funding This collection is essential reading for those studying Law and Religion with particular focus on the countries of the UK France Belgium Germany Italy The Netherlands Spain and Turkey The views expressed during the execution of the RELIGARE project in whatever form and or by whatever medium are the sole responsibility of the authors The European Union is not liable for any use that may be made of the information contained therein

Philanthropy and the Funding of the Church of England, 1856-1914 Sarah Flew,2015-10-06 The changing relationship between the church and its supporters is key to understanding changing religious and social attitudes in Victorian Britain Using the records of the Anglican Church's home missionary organizations Flew charts the decline in Christian philanthropy and its connection to the growing secularization of society

A Unity of Purpose Tony Wolfe,W. Madison Grace II,2025-05-27 The nations were calling A theology of cooperation was formalizing Best business practices of the day were refining A denominational conscience was solidifying Baptists acknowledged God's call to a great work that would require a great sacrifice and proposed a new funding model for the new day Over the next one hundred years Southern Baptists would give over 20 billion through their Cooperative Program to fund local national and international missions educate their pastors and church leaders present a unified voice in the public square and more The Cooperative Program became the largest voluntary Great Commission funding mechanism the world has ever known But is the Cooperative Program merely Southern Baptist history Does that heroic spirit of strategic sacrificial cooperation still burn within the Baptist body Will the challenges and opportunities of the coming decades be best met by the same financial program or is something else on the horizon On the centennial anniversary of the Cooperative Program A Unity of Purpose collects the voices of leading Southern Baptists to offer a theological historical and missional celebration of the program's past successes and future opportunities Contributors include Bart Barber Paul Chitwood Melanie Clinton James K Dew Jr Daniel Dickard Jason G Duesing Mike Ebert Leo Endel Kevin Ezell RaShan Frost Taffey Hall Adam Harwood Richard Land Brent Leatherwood Scott McConnell Julie Nall McGowan Pete Ramirez and Chris Schaffer

Leading Financial Sustainability in Theological Institutions Emmanuel Okantah Bellon, 2017-04-24 The role of theological institutions in Christian mission is likened to the crucible that shapes the hearts and minds of those leading the charge to reconcile the world to God Nevertheless it is also the weakest link in the chain of Christian ministry and efforts to sustain the unique contribution of institutions have been enigmatic So why should we be concerned about theological institutions What if there were no theologians missiologists trained pastors or missionaries in Christian ministry What if there were no theological institutions What if the existing theological institutions collapsed shut down for lack of resources How effective would the witness of the Christian church be without theological institutions in a world in need of God Over the centuries various models for supporting theological training have been tried in institutions but very few of these have been successful Time cost and quality of education among others have been the driving forces behind the changing models and yet financial sustainability has been elusive Only informed leadership that draws insights from historical biblical and practical wisdom is necessary in achieving this goal This book is your faithful companion in the quest to achieve financial sustainability in theological institutions
