Automated Fare Collection System & Urban Public Transportation Clifford N. Opurum, 2012-03-06 With its unique features presented in nine chapters grouped into five major parts Automated Fare Collection System And Urban Public Transit An Economic Management Approach To Urban Transit Systems provides a wealth of resourceful information to everyone with interest in mass transit Part I Public Transportation Urban Economy And Automation in Fare Collection Part II Models of Transportation Pricing Part III Transportation Research Methods And Models Part IV Approaches And Trends in Urban Transit Ridership Part V Epilogue In these parts of the book Clifford N Opurum reveals the impact of the automated fare collection system on mass transit and particularly on the New York City rail rapid transit system Various effective urban public transportation pricing techniques are presented Transportation research methods and models including the ALOGIT model and different approaches to transportation research analysis are featured Alternative scenarios of cost benefit analysis CBA are used extensively along with other feasibility studies strategies to determine the economic and social benefits of the automated fare collection system The author concludes that as in the case of other industrial sectors the financial health of the transit industry is very much dependent upon the level of transit patronage and that automation in fare collection has further encouraged the later Furthermore he added that automated fare collection AFC is preferred over the mechanical system of fare collection and will make positive impact on both transit ridership and revenue if efficiently operated Finally he stressed that society would be better off financially if the benefits of automation in transit fare collection are fully utilized and that automation in fare collection has indeed influenced the travel pattern of most mass transit patrons

Housing and Planning References, 1972 Federally Coordinated Program of Research and Development in Highway Transportation, 1980 Development In Modern Africa Martin S. Shanguhyia, Toyin Falola, 2019-10-08

Development in Modern Africa Past and Present Perspectives contributes to our understanding of Africa's experiences with the development process. It does so by adopting a historical and contemporary analysis of this experience. The book is set within the context of critiques on development in Africa that have yielded two general categories of analysis: skepticism and pessimism. While not overlooking the shortcomings of development, the themes in the book express an optimistic view of Africa's development experiences, highlighting elements that can be tapped into to enhance the condition of African populations and their states. By using case studies from precolonial, colonial, and postcolonial Africa, contributors to the volume demonstrate that human instincts to improve material, social, and spiritual worlds are universal. They are not limited to the Western world, which the term and process of development are typically associated with. Before and after contact with the West, Africans have actively created institutions and values that they have actively employed to improve individual and community lives. This innovative spirit has motivated Africans to integrate or experiment with new values and structures, challenges, and solutions to human welfare that resulted from contact with colonialism and the postcolonial global community. The book will be of interest to academics in the fields of history, African studies, and regional studies.

Summary of Awards: FY 1978 Program of University Research Karen L. Borlaug, 1978 Urban Transportation Planning in the United States Edward Weiner, 2012-11-13

The development of U.S. urban transportation policy over the past half century illustrates the changing relationships among federal, state, and local governments. This comprehensive text examines the evolution of urban transportation planning from early developments in highway planning in the 1930s to today's concerns over sustainable development, security, and pollution control. Highlighting major national events, the book examines the influence of legislation, regulations, conferences, federal programs, and advances in planning procedures and technology. The volume provides in-depth coverage of the most significant event in transportation planning: the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1962, which created a federal mandate for a comprehensive urban transportation planning process carried out cooperatively by states and local governments with federal funding. Claiming that urban transportation planning is more sophisticated, costly, and complex than its highway and transit planning predecessors, the book demonstrates how urban transportation planning evolved in response to changes in such factors as the environment, energy, development patterns, intergovernmental coordination, and federal transit programs. This updated, revised, and expanded edition features two new chapters on global climate change and managing under conditions of constrained resources and covers the impact of the most recent legislation 50 years after the Highway Act of 1962, emphasizing such timely issues as security, oil dependence, performance measurement, and public-private sector collaboration.

ECMT Round Tables: Transfers Through the Transport Sector Evaluation of Re-Distribution

Effects: Report of the Forty-Eighth Round Table on Transport Economics Held in Paris on 29-30 November 1979 European Conference of Ministers of Transport, 1980-12-01 This Round Table presents a survey of the problems pertaining to the distributional impact of investments in transportation facilities in particular the impact on land values Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1979 February issue includes Appendix entitled Directory of United States Government periodicals and subscription publications September issue includes List of depository libraries June and December issues include semiannual index Public Transit Economics and Deregulation Policy J. Berechman, 2013-10-22 Drawing on transit experience from various countries and markets this book examines the economic environment of transit operations the cost and production properties of transit service supply and the policies and prospects of transit regulatory reform The principal objectives of the book are first to conduct theoretical and empirical analyses of the major factors which jointly determine the economic structure and conditions of the transit sector and second to explore and suggest policies which could resolve the sector's present crisis and make it economically viable The first objective is explored in Part One where major structural demand factors and regulatory and subsidy conditions are identified and examined Analytical and empirical measurement of technical production characteristics of transit services supply is carried out in Part Two Part Three focuses on transit regulatory reform policy issues The book is aimed primarily at an audience of transportation professionals including economists and planners as well as public policy analysts It requires in general a sound background in economics mainly microeconomics Thus graduate students in economics geography urban planning and public policy and advanced undergraduates with good training in economics can best benefit from this book

Urban Transportation Abstracts ,1990 The Role of Sharing Mobility in Contemporary Cities Guido

Smorto, Ignazio Vinci, 2020-11-02 The emergence of sharing mobility is having a profound impact on urban landscapes In fact it is deeply affecting the traditional organization of local services by calling into question how urban transportation is planned and by redesigning city spaces Further by connecting people to shared assets services or both sharing mobility is poised to facilitate the more efficient use of underutilized resources becoming a powerful tool for economic growth and social inclusion while also contributing to sustainability That being said the economic social and spatial impacts of sharing mobility have not been sufficiently investigated and so far the evidence is mixed From a normative standpoint while it is relevant to better understand the relations between sharing mobility the city and the environment it is also of crucial importance to define new policies and sound rules for sharing mobility in urban areas Against this backdrop this book adopts a multidisciplinary perspective to explore the role that sharing mobility can play in the creation of more just and sustainable cities The built environment and public health: New insights Linchuan Yang, Ruoyu Wang, Bao-Jie He, Yu Ye, Yibin Ao, 2023-02-06 Urban Redevelopment and Traffic Congestion Management Strategies Yanli Wang, Bing Wu, Linbo Li, 2022-05-31 This book focuses on the relationship between urban land redevelopment and traffic systems and discusses the related research Consisting of three main parts the first analyzes the interaction between land redevelopment and traffic congestion as well as the mechanisms and causes of traffic congestion The second part presents strategies for the prevention and control of traffic congestion under urban land redevelopment proposing a two stage evaluation system of traffic congestion pre inspection and traffic impact analysis in the planning and implementation stages of land redevelopment Lastly the third section includes an application case analysis of the proposed traffic congestion management strategy Federally Coordinated Program of Research and Development in Highway Transportation: Reduce congestion and improve energy efficiency ,1980 Smart Technologies in Urban Engineering Olga Arsenyeva,Tatiana Romanova,Maria Sukhonos,Yevgen Tsegelnyk,2022-11-29 This book offers a comprehensive review of smart technologies and perspectives on their application in urban engineering It covers a wide range of applications from transport and energy management to digital manufacturing smart city environment and sustainable development providing readers with new ideas for future research and collaborations This book presents select papers from the International Conference on Smart Technologies in Urban Engineering STUE 2022 held to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the O M Beketov National University of Urban Economy in Kharkiv Ukraine on June 9 11 2022 All the contributions offer plenty of valuable information and would be of great benefit to the experience exchange among scientists in urban engineering
