

New Protectionism II

- Global protectionism rarely based simply on objective economic calculation
- Rationale underpinning it is predominantly political and strategic
- Seeks to allow countries to benefit from globalization while minimizing exposure to its challenges
  - Retain control over critical resources
  - Ensure national security
  - Manage economic prosperity in an increasingly competitive environment
  - Maintain national identity seen under threat from globalization
  - Such aims are encouraging economic nationalism – the use of economic policy instruments to increase national power and unity
  - Governments are increasingly developing new policy interventions to protect what they define as their national interests.

New Protectionism:

The Economic and Political Roots of the New Protectionism Sima Lieberman, 1988 In this volume the author presents the hypothesis that during the 19th and 20th centuries political and industrial leaders of Western industrialized economies supported free trade policies only as long as their production and sales were not threatened by significant foreign competition When their economic hegemony was challenged the same nations enacted protectionist measures By integrating the historic and political factors that affected Western commercial policy in the course of two centuries the author gives a broad perspective to the study of international trade in the 19th and 20th centuries and demonstrates the relevance of noneconomic variables in the economic history of this period

The New Protectionism Melvyn B. Krauss, International Center for Economic Policy Studies, 1978

Taking the New Protectionism Seriously Brian Hindley, Eri Nicolaides, 1983

The New Protectionism Fred Lazar, 1981-01-01 Written in the early 1980s against a backdrop of strengthening calls for a North American free trade agreement this study examines the protectionist impulses masquerading as efforts to eliminate tariff barriers In the wake of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade the GATT the popular assumption hailed it as a victory for freer trade Lazar demonstrates that the trend was in fact towards a new protectionism based on the erection of non tariff barriers specifically designed to subvert the GATT In response he called for a Canadian industrial strategy that promoted Canadian companies and encouraged exports The New Protectionism is a subtle analysis of the rhetoric and reality of free trade as practised in the early 1980s

The New Protectionism Tim Lang, Colin Hines, 1993 This monograph questions the benefits of free trade arguing that far from promoting prosperity for all those involved free trade only serves a narrow range of interests primarily for the large corporations who conduct it The authors claim that the consequences of present arrangements and those promised under the new GATT agreement will increase the difference between the world's rich and poor and accelerate the destruction of the global environment The authors suggest instead that trading arrangements should emphasize regional self sufficiency and the overall amount of trade should be reduced

International Trade Policy David Greenaway, 1983

Export Restraint and the New Protectionism Kent Albert Jones, 1994 A study of an important recent device used to restrict international trade

Freedom to Trade Edward L. Hudgins, 1997

The New Protectionism in Industrial Countries Mr. Douglas A. Irwin, 1994-02-01 This paper presents a broad overview of trade protection in industrial countries from the 1970s to the present The emphasis of such measures has shifted from the protection of agriculture and basic manufacturing industries where many industrial countries had lost or never had comparative advantage in the 1970s and 1980s toward the protection and promotion of high technology sectors in recent years The new forms of protection particularly subsidies and antidumping rules have not necessarily contravened GATT rules and the Uruguay Round fell short of reigning in such interventions While these more recent trade interventions might in principle have an economic justification under certain conditions theoretical empirical and practical considerations call for great skepticism about the desirability and efficacy of such policies The next challenge for world trade negotiators is to contain the pressures for intervention in these areas This is a Paper on Policy Analysis and Assessment and the author s would welcome any comments on the present text Citations should refer to a Paper on Policy Analysis and Assessment of the International Monetary Fund mentioning the author s and the date of issuance The views expressed are those of the author s and do not necessarily represent those of the Fund

The New Protectionism John Atkinson Hobson,2023-07-18 First published in 1910 this seminal work by J A Hobson explores the economic policies and practices of the early 20th century with a focus on the rise of protectionist trade policies Hobson argues that such policies are harmful to both countries involved and advocates for free trade and international cooperation This book remains relevant today as debates over trade continue to shape global politics and economics This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant

International Regulation of World Trade in Textiles Niels M. Blokker,2023-09-20 Thinkers of the Twenty Years' Crisis : Inter-War Idealism Reassessed David Long,Peter Wilson,1995-12-14 This book reassesses the contribution to international thought of some of the most important thinkers of the inter war period It takes as its starting point E H Carr s famous critique which more than any other work established the reputation of the period as the utopian or idealist phase of international relations theorizing This characterization of inter war thought is scrutinized through ten detailed studies of such writers as Norman Angell J A Hobson J M Keynes David Mitrany and Alfred Zimmern The studies demonstrate the diversity of perspectives within idealism and call into question the descriptive and analytical value of the entire notion It is concluded that idealism is an overly general term useful for scoring debating points rather than providing a helpful category for analysis
