New Realities Of Teachers Work Lives:

New Realities of Secondary Teachers' Work Lives Pam Poppleton, John Williamson, 2004-05-10 There are many books on educational change its origins processes and consequences The unique contribution of this volume lies in its careful documenting and reporting of the reactions of teachers themselves interviewed in 9 countries about the changes they have experienced and in the comparative nature of the study which employs both qualitative and quantitative methods in a complementary way In Part One the educational background to the study in each country is described and teachers responses to a common research semi structured interview schedule are reported In Part Two the same database is subjected to a statistical analysis for comparative purposes in order to reveal similarities and differences between countries The project set out to obtain an international picture of the changes in education which have had the greatest impact on the lives of teachers to explore how actual and perceived changes have influenced teachers experience and practice and to identify critical factors in the implementation of change The result is a book that will enable students to familiarise themselves with practices in other countries and policy makers to evaluate the implications of changes in different social economic and cultural environments Resources in Education ,1998 Teaching: Professionalisation, Development and Leadership

David Johnson, Rupert Maclean, 2008-06-04 Harry Judge It is doubly fortunate that a foreword is not an introduction Since it is mercifully brief it should not be expected to mention respectfully each of the distinguished contributions which constitute the word before which it modestly stands as herald For the same reason it cannot be expected to constrain within one overarching framework contributions which are essentially varied in subject matter and method The brief of a foreword writer might indeed be compared to that of a musician commissioned to write an overture to an opera which he had not written To write such a piece for a volume devoted to Eric Hoyle is nevertheless a privilege as well as a pleasure Partly of course because this volume celebrates a long and distinguished career devoted to the application of intelligence and less assertively theory to the improvement of practice And partly because this abbreviated overture is privileged by being placed before a set of virtuoso performances throughout which consistent and coherent themes do insistently resonate Those themes are the very same that distinguish Eric Hoyle's own work The Future of Educational Research Noleine

Fitzallen, Robyn Reaburn, Si Fan, 2014-04-03 The Future of Educational Research Perspectives from Beginning Researchers provides a snapshot of research across a diversity of fields in education conducted by beginning researchers The five main sections of the book cover research into policy and curriculum teachers experiences educational technologies the teaching and learning of mathematics and literacy development The chapters make valuable contributions to knowledge of contemporary issues in education They illustrate research topics and methodologies that will underpin and provoke future research and demonstrate the potential of these beginning researchers to become leaders in their chosen fields of educational research The chapters also demonstrate the breadth of research topics being undertaken in educational research

today For supervisors and research higher degree students the book provides samples of research higher degree student writing that not only exemplify approaches to presenting research but also support the value of publication at all stages of study

Narrative Inquiry in Music Education Margaret S. Barrett, Sandra L. Stauffer, 2009-03-17 Margaret S Barrett and Sandra L Stauffer We live in a congenial moment for stories Pinnegar it is more than elaboration on a position the adding of extra notes to make a melody more beautiful or interesting

Teacher Retention in an Age of Performative Accountability Jane Perryman, 2022-03-30 In this insightful and timely volume Jane Perryman provides a definitive analysis of the crisis in teacher recruitment and retention through a critique of the culture of performative accountability in education bringing together theory literature and empirical data Drawing on data across several long term research projects and through a Foucauldian theoretical framework Perryman argues that teachers working lives both in the UK and internationally are being increasingly affected by the rise in the neoliberal performativity and accountability culture in schools Teachers work is increasingly directed towards assessment exams progress measures and preparation for review and inspection and drawn away from the more individualistic and creative aspects of the job This culture of hyper accountability and super performativity Perryman argues has created a discourse of disappointment where the hopes and aspirations of teachers are crushed beneath the performative pressures under which they work Teacher Retention in an Age of Performative Accountability offers a convincing compellingly written critical analysis of how the values purposes and practices embedded in education affect the working experience of teachers over time Perryman makes a significant contribution to our understanding of the effects of accountability and performativity mechanisms in schools and offers insight into why so many teachers leave the profession This analysis is important to scholars educators and policymakers alike

Doing Democracy Darren E. Lund, Paul R. Carr, 2008 In this provocative collection of essays with a distinctly critical and nuanced approach to how democracy is taught learned understood and lived authors from four continents share their visions on how democracy needs to be cultivated critiqued demonstrated and manifested throughout the educational experience The collective concern is how we actually do democracy in education The essays argue that democracy must be infused in everything that happens at school curriculum extra curricular activities interaction with parents and communities and through formal organization and structures One of the book's central questions is Are educators merely teaching students skills and knowledge to prepare them for the world of work or is education more about encouraging students to thrive within a pluralistic society This book reveals that democracy is an ethos an ideology a set of values a philosophy and a complex and dynamic terrain that is a contested forum for debate From seasoned veterans to emerging scholars these writers challenge the idea that there is only one type of democracy or that democracy is defined by elections Using a range of theoretical conceptual and methodological approaches each essay makes a compelling case for how education can advance a more critical engagement in democracy that promotes social justice and political literacy for all Diverse examples illustrate the theme of doing democracy With its numerous models for teaching and learning to encourage critical thinking and engagement this book is certain to be an invaluable resource to educators researchers students and anyone with a passion for democratic ideals

Do Teachers Wish to Be Agents of Change? Allen Menlo, LeVerne Collet, 2015-04-27 This study surveyed principals and teachers in ten countries to compare principal and teacher attitudes toward the involvement of teachers in several change and development responsibilities The participating countries were Australia Canada China Hungary Israel Japan Netherlands Singapore South Africa and United States Each country administered mirror versions of a questionnaire to samples of at least 50 principals and at least 100 teachers The questionnaires listed twenty items describing change responsibilities in which teachers might become involved For each item both principals and teachers assigned two teacher involvement ratings their personal preference and their estimate of the preference of their role counterpart These involvement ratings produced four dependent variables Principal Preferences Principal Estimates Teacher Preferences and Teacher Estimates For each variable item responses were clustered to form index sub scores that measured attitudes toward five education domains Administration and Coordination Human Relations Teacher Support Classroom Learning and Evaluation Systematic planned comparisons were conducted to determine the most important principal teacher issues within and between countries and how issues change across index domains Typical results indicate low awareness of each other s aspirations and expectations The first and last chapters of this book discuss the potential of teacher leaders to become agents of change within their own schools Several social psychological competencies are then described for these teachers in their work

Teacher Reforms Around the World Motoko Akiba, 2013-04-04 This book introduces how large scale teacher reforms are implemented and impacting teachers around the world Previous books on teacher policy or reforms have tended to focus on the background development and descriptions of teacher reforms

Teaching and Time Poverty Greg Thompson, Anna Hogan, 2024-12-04 As teacher shortages reach a global crisis point this book explores how time poverty has become a critical factor in the working lives of teachers and school leaders Arguing that we need to move away from framing the problem of teachers work as simply workload this book suggests that understanding time poverty is the first step in moving toward more manageable working lives The book brings together international perspectives on teacher time poverty drawing on theoretical and empirical work to underscore the growing complexity of teachers work and how this impacts job satisfaction stress and feeling that there is never enough time to accomplish all that needs to be done Many policy solutions misdiagnose the problems of teachers work simply suggesting it is an issue of workload The chapters investigate issues of work intensification finding that teachers are not only working longer but also working harder as they manage more complex classrooms and policy mandates This book is essential reading for those interested in understanding how current education policy both produces time poverty and could better identify and respond to the complexities of teachers work

International Handbook of Teacher Quality and Policy Motoko Akiba, Gerald K. LeTendre, 2017-09-01 The International Handbook of Teacher Quality and Policy is a comprehensive resource that examines how teacher quality is conceptualized negotiated and contested and teacher policies are developed and implemented by global national and local policy actors Edited by two of the leading comparative authorities in the field it draws on the research and contributions of scholars from across the globe to explore five central questions How has teacher quality been conceptualized from various disciplinary and theoretical perspectives How are global and transnational policy actors and networks influencing teacher policies and practices What are the perspectives and experiences of teachers in local policy contexts What do comparative research studies tell us about teachers and how their work and policy contexts influence their teaching How have various countries implemented policies aimed at improving teacher quality and how have these policies influenced teachers and students The international contributors represent a wide variety of scholars who identify global dynamics influencing policy discourses on teacher quality and examine national and local teaching and policy environments influencing teacher policy development and implementation in various countries Divided into five sections the book brings together the latest conceptual and empirical studies on teacher quality and teacher policies to inform future policy directions for recruiting educating and supporting the teaching profession

Educator Workload in South Africa

Linda Chisholm, 2005 Teachers spend slightly less time on their activities overall but much less time on teaching than policy requires There is a serious erosion of instructional time in the majority of schools but it is worst in rural and semi rural

African schools Fabricating Quality in Education Jenny Ozga, Peter Dahler-Larsen, Christina Segerholm, Hannu Simola, 2011-12-22 How is European Education Governed Data is now the lifeblood of education governance At the international level organisations like the OECD steer education systems through their programmes of assessment and the European Commission's project of creating the most successful knowledge economy in the world is driven by data collection analysis and comparison At the national level policy makers increasingly depend on data to show them where they are positioned in relation to their competitors and draw on data to justify policy directions Within systems schools and teachers have become proficient in data use and interpret their priorities with reference to data This book draws on a three year comparative study of the influence of data on education systems in Europe looking at the contrasting policy contexts of Denmark England Finland Scotland and Sweden and examining the use of data in these systems in relation to steering by Europe as well as policy mediation and translation of data within systems The authors draw on interviews with key policy actors in the European Commission and with national policy makers in all five systems as well as on local case studies and a major comparative survey of the effects of data production and use on the work of teachers and headteachers The research brought together international researchers from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds including educationalists political scientists and specialists in research and evaluation The book offers new arguments relating to the use of Quality Assurance and Evaluation as a means of standardising and harmonising education policy and practice while also drawing attention to significant variation in policy and practice across these systems It should be of interest to researchers post graduate students and advanced undergraduate students in policy studies in education and more generally

Jesus Christ for Contemporary Life Don Schweitzer, 2012-02-13 Jesus Christ for Contemporary Life is an understanding of Jesus as the Word of God grounded in what can be known historically of Jesus and informed by subsequent reflection upon him which hopes to help shape a Christian identity characterized by bounded openness Don Schweitzer moves from the historical Jesus to the present in three parts In the first part Schweitzer develops an understanding of Jesus as the Word of God who became incarnate to give the goodness and beauty of God further expression in time and space Second he explores how various atonement theories articulate ways in which Jesus empowers people to further express this beauty and goodness in their own lives And finally Schweitzer explores how Jesus relates to people in the church to the events and movements in history to other religions and to Christians in their dialogue with God in prayer

Mental Health and Higher Education in Australia Abraham P. Francis, Margaret Anne Carter, 2022-03-12 This book addresses a broad range of issues related to mental health in higher education in Australia with specific reference to student and staff well being It examines the challenges of creating and sustaining more resilient cultures within higher education and the community Showcasing some of Australia's unique experiences the authors present a multidisciplinary perspective of mental health supports and services relevant to the higher education landscape This book examines the different ways Australian higher education institutions responded are responding to the COVID 19 pandemic with reference to domestic and international students Through the exploration of practice and research the authors add to the rich discourses on well being in the higher education

An Introduction to Education Studies Sue Warren, 2009-03-08 An Introduction to Education Studies presents a concise overview for students who are new to this area of academic study Part 1 introduces the reader to the main themes they will encounter in their study of education such as the sociology of education the philosophy of education comparative education and ethics for educators Part 2 explores the contexts within which education takes place in order to stimulate further thinking about education in action Issues such as disaffection pupil voice and breaking barriers to learning are introduced to give the reader a feel for such issues and how they might approach them Through discussions of relevant literature and research and the use of case studies and exploratory activities students are encouraged to actively engage with their learning about theories and disciplines within the study of education and the contexts in which learners live and work Each chapter is written in an accessible style and provides the reader with start points for further study This book serves as a true course companion to meet the needs of students and lecturers working on Education Studies programmes Prospective teachers may also find the book of interest as the subject matter is discussed in terms of theory and practical applications in a range of educational contexts

Service Integration in Schools, 2008-01-01 This is an important and timely collection in which recent research and interpretations are reported and debated The papers provide a scholarly analysis of a range of significant issues complexities and recurring themes They provide theoretical empirical and practical perspectives on what is involved in co

working and explore the ambiguities contradictions and fragmentations in a new policy area that cuts across the remits previously held by a number of government departments Overall the papers provide a considered and wide ranging critique of the key research and policy discourses that seek to influence the reformation of services and to remodel interprofessional and interagency working practices In particular the collection examines the ways in which the integration of services is operating in practice in the discrete policy contexts of the UK countries the leadership and management of collaborative working and workforce remodelling and whether in addressing the hard questions of the form s that future school services should take there are any global solutions from new research or from other places that might fruitfully be applied In addressing these policy developments the collection has multiple readerships in mind and seeks to be both academic and policy relevant
